We have this year, in addition to our regular expenses to meet nearly $300 on the 1st of April, and we trust there fore that our patrons who have heretofore so liberally respended to this annual call, will do so again. The past few years, with their high prices, have been trying ones to us, for while everything else has gone up our terms for the could purchase flour at $4.50 and $5.00 per barrel, butter at 121/2 cents per pound, and many other things in proportion; vet with all this, such notices as "We want money," MUST have money," &c., are never found in the columns of the Gazette unless it be at this season. 'Phis is not because we do not need it, (for to tell the truth we have been a borrower in 1856,) but because these constant "duns" are coldly looked upon by the public, and seldom produce any good.

There is one class to whom we have a special word to say. They are few in number, but totally regardless whether they pay or not. The day has arrived when we MUST dispense with such "patronage," and we here give them notice that we shall take an early occasion to strike their names off the books.

A large number of subscriptions in the Western States. &c. will expire during the months of February, March and April, and as these are discontinued at the expiration of the time paid for, (except in a few special cases,) those wishing the paper continued will please result a gold dol lar, wapped in a piece of paper and enclosed in a letter.—

The epidemic at Washington, or, the mysterious sickness which attacked everybody who put up at the National hotel, just previous to the inauguration, and the cause of which has been traced to the water taken from the cistern of the house, into which a number of rats, who had partaken of arsenic had plunged, is of a more serious character than is generally supposed. Mr. Lenox, of ed: Ohio, died last week from its effect, and we see by the New York papers that the wife of Mr. Jay L. For the Lewistown Gazette. HINTS TO THE WOULD-BE-"SHARP-

Mr. Editor :- Some time since, the village of Milroy was startled by the appearance of a scurrilous sheet called "The Milroy Observer," published by the would-be-"Sharpers," in which many of the most respectable citizens of the place were ridiculed and slandered, most of whom, they well knew, would not deign to answer their blackguardism; and, er, A. D. Hawn, will be held at McVeytown after having foully slandered those who would take no notice of them, they, in order that they might the better guard themselves from retaliation, stooped to wreak out their spite on unsuspecting children, and sated their depraved natures by attacking those who have no other means of defence except their tender age, which has always been deemed a sufficient protection by even the meanest wretch under human form. Now, sir, we have always claimed that it is a right due to all authors to reap the honors merited by their productions however discreditable, and this is one motive which has induced us to review the aforementioned sheet. Many might suppose we have taken this way to avenge ourselves of some insult aimed at us through its filthy columns; but such is not the case, except that we may feel ourselves ashamed as members of a community in which such moral incubi are suffered to remain at large, especially since our county has been at considerable expense to furnish such characters with a suitable abode. But we also "are determined to spare none but to do justice to all." And we are sorry indeed that our duty to others will not permit us to allow the would-be-"sharpers" to enjoy the paltry honors of their miserable and abortive attempt at publishing. But luckily happening to see the original, we are forced to tear om their brows the usurped laurels with which they have so gloriously decked themselves, and to assign them their merited place in the scale of literary and moral attainments. At a College not a thousand miles distant, there was printed not many years ago a little sheet called "The Grape Shot," playing off some squibs and sly jokes upon the students, but intended merely for a local circulation, where the jokes were understood and would apply, and where by general consent it was nly considered a pastime; as its editorial, which in part appears in "The Observer" plainly shows, saying that its foolish articles were merely intended for jokes. Now, in the circumstances under which the original appeared, this excuse might have been considered valid; but it cannot apply to the would-be-"Sharpers." And in their wholenot allow them to see this-for it is a mean, contemptible wholesale plagiarism from "The Grape Shot," except the low vulgarities which the original authors would have blushed to have seen in their paper, and a few perverted notices to correspondents from the New York Ledger; and such was their unparalleled stupidity and greenness that they had not even the intelligence and good sense to alter or leave out some college phrases and words of only local application, which cannot possibly apply under the altered circumstances. True, they did indeed alter and curtail a few paragraphs which, for some reason or other, did not appear to suit; for instance: -Mr. The Haydn of America. He has rendered himself famous by a recent musical produc-tion in the Pioneer," which in the original has this addition: - "which we, without exaggeration, think is fully equal to that melodious piece-'The Miller's Big Dog.'

They claim to be "sharpers." Sharpers indeed! when their ignorance is so glaring! when they lack even the common sense to write scarcely a single original line! "with just enough of learning to misquote." they are the scholar; Heaven forbid! But any person reading their sheet cannot but be To Caltivators:-The best crop of wheat Latin and to use epithets, the meaning of

WHOLESALE FRAUDS. A Fugitive from Justice .- An extensive and most audacious scheme for counterfeiting two opular medicinal preparations has recently een brought to light in this city. A few of the leading facts have appeared in reports of the legal proceedings growing out of the affair, but its comprehensive character has been but imperfectly developed in these brief statements. It would seem that the principal person implicated in this transaction is a drug broker named WILLIAM LEITH, lately doing business at 8 Gold street and 5 William street, in this city, and residing at 4 Union street, Brooklyn. He had conceived the idea of establishing a factory for the purpose of counterfeiting, on a wholesale the most popular and widely advertised medicines in the civilized world, viz: Hollo-WAY'S PILLS and HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. This audacious project he intended to carry out in the city of New York, almost within hail, as it were, of the great central office for the sale of Holloway's medicines in this country! He had it appears, ordered no less than 500,000 copies of the pamphlet or book of directions, around each box, and the printer to whom the order was given, supposing it to emanate from Pro-fessor Holloway, had no hesitation in executing the work. An accident led to the detection of the fraud. Leith failed to meet an obligation printer went to Professor Holloway's establishment, 80 Maiden Lane, to inquire the cause .-Then, of course, the fraud was disclosed, and it was found, on comparing the counterfeit wrappers with the original, that the former were perfect fac similes of the latter, with the exception of the water-mark. This water-mark consists of the words "Holloway, New York and London," and is visible upon every leaf of the authentic pamphlet when held against the light. In all other respects there was a perfect identity between the false document and the true. William Leith, the author of this atrotrue. cious forgery, was subsequently arrested, and fully charged, on examination before the committing magistrate, with procuring the printing and uttering of the above counterfeits, but through an indiscretion on the part of the magistrate, he managed to escape from the custoly of the officers, and is now a fugitive from istice. Professor Holloway's agents are on the qui vire to discover his whereabouts, but so he has eluded their vigilance. He is Scotchman by birth, and still preserves a little of the accent; his voice is deep, his articulation emphatic, and in speaking he gesticulates a good deal, and interlards his sentences with frequent oaths. His height is about 5 feet 85 inches, his person rather stout, complexion florid, light hair and thin whiskers, and his age be well for druggists in the interior to eware of purchasing articles purporting to be settling Holloway's remedies from irresponsible parties. There is one test of genuineness which however be relied upon, viz: the via the leaves of the book accompanying and enveloping each boy of the Pills and pot of the the tree, when the leaf is held between the eye and the light, the words "Holloway, New York and London," are discernible in semi-transparent letters, in the substance of the paper, then the pamphlets and the medicines they envelope are genuine; if not they are pernicious counterfeits. Let this test be universally adopted .- New York National Police Ga-

A Dry Swamp.—Interesting intelligence has just been received from the State survey of the Okefenokee Swamp, which covers nearly a fourth of the map of Georgia. The great swamp does not appear to be a swamp after all. So far from being impeded by water, the expedition suffered severely from want of it, and were compelled to sink three wells for drinking and cooking purposes.— The underwood, also was found of almost fabulous thickness, through which they were compelled to cut their way with knives, whereby they were so much delayed as to be in danger of starvation, their supplies being exhausted. The most erroneous opinions have been entertained of the extent and nature of the whole region. No published map gives any idea of its geography. The survey will prove a fortunate venture. The submerged portion is found to be easily drained, whereby thousands of acres of the most valuable cotton lands in the South will be re-
