FROM CHINA.

Macao, January 29, 1857 .- All foreign usines is not only suspended, but entirely t an end, both here, at Hong Kong and at anton. Since my last letter, the greater part of the Western suburbs of the latter ity, in which were situated nearly all the varehouses, shops, &c., concerned in the foreign trade, have been consumed. Of he total destruction of the foreign factories you will have heard by my last letter. The Chinese compute their losses in housmerchandise, and the value of the above property, they state their losses at 10,000,-000 of dollars, which is not probably far rom the truth.

anton, since the bombardment commened, 28th October last; but as the latter ligion, ad been kept up with more or less pertiacity, to within a few days ago, when he English admiral retired with his fores from before the city, it is fair to supose that the Chinese do not over estimate 00, of all ages and sexes. Everything avors this calculation, as it is well known hat the streets are exceeding narrow, the population of great density, the means or he power to move, within the reach of comparatively few; while the custom of he populace. To say nothing of other distresses which have been riveted upon them and which re inseparable from such a condition of hings, the total destruction of the trade of ke place, the interruption to all the avocaions of the people, &c., are very oppresive in their effects. Still, up to the present moment, the Chinese do not make the slightest concession. The Viceroy, Yeh. in all his official documents, is as firm at das moment, as he was when the "Arrow" orcha was seized by his officers on the 8th more bitter and exasperated against the English, and perhaps all foreigners-and ion or terms of any kind, is greater than

Letter from Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, April 13. Joy and sorrow sometimes shift places when we least expect them, with appalling suddenness. While we yet gaze into the eyes f youth, they fix with a stony glare, and the flush of love is still warm upon the cheek be-neath which the pulse of life has ceased to beat. The festal laugh dies away into the sob and wail of desolation—the bridal chamber is hung with sables, and where the vernal dawn of hope was, the gloomy night of death is. The daughter of one of our most respectable residents was to have been married on the 8th inst. Her bridal attire was prepared, and preparations made for the joyful event; but the week before she suddenly fell ill, died on Sunday, and was buried on the day which should have witnessed the solemnization of her nuptials. By her request, her marriage garment formed her shroud.

Stealing the livery of Heaven to serve the devil in, will hardly adequately describe such sacrilegious villainy as is now committed among us. At the Central Methodist Episcoes, godowns, shops, &c., at over 4,000 buildings—up to the present time; and in perchandise and the present time; and in pal Church there is at present a great "revipenitents throng the "altar." This state of things, instead of inspiring respect, appears to excite the cupidity of thieves. A number of ladies who, while engaging in these exercises, were unsuspecting of harm, have lost considerable sums of money through the officiousrately the damage sustained by the city of named Sarah Hale, who came forward the lands are microus-' was arrested on the charge of having picked the pocket of a lady who sat next to her on the occasion. The filched porte monnaie contained $20 and a finger ring. A part of the money, tegether with the ring, was re-

A woman named Susan Olwell, residing at No. 2 Laurel street, was accidentally shot on the night of the 9th inst, by the discharge of a pistol which fell from a mantel piece in one of the rooms. She was almost instantly killed. A sad commentary this upon the carelessness of those who leave firearms in exposed situations. The funeral of Charles B. Penrose, late Senator of the Senate of Pennsylvania, took October last. The people too are even enth street and Washington Square. Previous to the starting of the funeral cortege, a large number of the friends of the deceased notwithstanding their distresses and their visited the house and took a last look at the sufferings, their opposition to everything features of the deceased. It is now said that a large number of "Americans" voted for Pratte, beeving him the only candidate able to beat proceedings which occurred, and justifying his entire conduct. The plaintiff replied de i ijucia to these pleas, that the defendant had committed the acts of his will, and without cause. The Judge's counsel demurred spe cially to the replication on three pleas, and joined issue in two of them. The argument on demurrer was held to December.
