The trees upon its summit are just beginning to bud, and the whole face of the mountains is carpeted with wild flowers, rich in fragrance and gorgeous in colors. While we were upon the summit, and looking out westward with a glass at Abingdon and the farms many miles beyond, a cloud came rolling up to the mountain, which soon swept across the top, careering like a snow storm. the wind whistling mournfully and winter like through the naked limbs, and the vapor hiding our company from each other. Congregation Prostrated .-- On Sunday, shaded it have withered, and a cloud, deep the 28th of June, according to a letter in the Cleveland Herald, from the rector of St. Philip's Church, of Strongville, Ohio, the church building in that place was struck by lightning. The southwest pinnacle of the tower was broken into pieces and one part, about eight feet long, driven through the roof. The fluid then passed down to the body of the church by a stove pipe, which, with the stove, were broken to pieces and thrown among the congregation. The boards of the floor were also torn up and the church filled with smoke. No one of the persons present was hurt, but they must have been for a moment in a state of unconsciousness, for none heard the noise of the falling pipe or the shattering of the windows. One woman had a hole burned in her dress, and another found that her head was bleeding. After recovering from their alarm the congregation retired to an adjoining house and returned thanks for their wonderful preservation.
