STRUPS.

Although these preparations are so little known, they are easy to prepare, and are very agreeable to the palate, also economical, as they supersede the use of ardent spirits and wine. On the continent it is a common practice to drink a simple syrup, (which is called essence), but which we term capillaire, diluted with water to the taste of the drinker.

Capillaire is made thus: Dissolve about two pounds of the best refined sugar in one pint of water; boil the mixture for five or ten minutes, then strain it through lawn, or a hair sieve; when cold it is fit for use.

Syrup of Cloves—Proceed in the same way as for making capillaire, but with the sugar add thirty or forty cloves that have been broken or ground.

All the syrups of spices, as cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger, &c., can be made in the same way.

Syrup of fruit—These are prepared in a similar manner to the capillaire, substituting the juices of the fruit in place of water, in this way it is very easy to make syrup of oranges. Before the oranges are squeezed, to express their juice, each orange should be well rubbed or grated with the lump sugar; by so doing the fine flavor of the rind is preserved. All these syrups are drunk by diluting them with water.—About a wineglassful of syrup to a tumbler of water will be found to make a pleasant draught.

Syrup of Tea—One pint of water, two pounds of sugar, an ounce of black tea; boil together for five minutes, or rather less, and then strain. A wineglassful to a half pint of cold water makes very good cold tea.

GAS-TAR PAINT.

From Gallenani's Messenger, as quoted in the Franklin Institute, we learn that a discovery, which is likely to be of great advantage to agriculture, has been reported to the Agricultural Society at Claremont, France. A gardener whose frames and hot house required painting, decided to make them black, as likely to attract the heat better, and from a principle of economy he made use of gas tar, instead of black paint. The work was performed during the winter, and on the approach of spring, the gardener was surprised to find that all the spiders and insects which usually infested the place had disappeared, and also that a vine, which for the last two years had so fallen off that he had intended to replace it with another, had acquired fresh force and vigor, and gave every sign of producing a large crop of grapes. He afterwards used the same substance to the posts and trellis work which supported the tiers in the open air, and met with the same results. All the caterpillars and other insects disappeared. It is said that similar experiments have been made in some of the vineyards in the Gironde, with similar results. We commend these facts to the American horticulturalists, as equally applicable to other growths than that of the vine. Gas-tar may be obtained of any gas factory in all the towns, at a moderate price, and is well worth the cost.

THE ARMY WORM.

A friend who has made etymology a study, furnishes us with some of the results of his investigations into the character, habits and history of the army worm, of which so many complaints have arisen in various parts of the country. The oat patch west of the Smithsonian grounds supplied him with specimens and an opportunity to observe much concerning these devouring pests. His friend's first impression and which he indeed retains, was that the worm in question was identical with the grass worm of the South. Present appearances all attest this identity, but it will require the complete round of transformation to be gone through with before it can be considered certain.

This worm destroys corn, clover, grain, and every kind of grass, and in the South is found very abundant on the grass and weeds between the rows of cotton. It is a caterpillar, just before changing into the chrysalis, hides under stones, and where the ground is broken under clods of dirt. Their enemies are formidable, the largest being the toad, which stuffs itself nearly to bursting. The stomach of a toad taken in the oat patch above referred to, having been cut open, was filled with these worms, mixed with a few wings of beetles. The army worm has another enemy in the black larva of what seems to be a neophorus, which preys upon the caterpillar.

Besides these there is a small ichneumon, or at all events, a parasitical fly, which deposits its eggs all over the back of the caterpillar, and they, when matured, spin cocoons, which send forth a cloud of other flies to repeat the process.

Specimens of the army worm sent hither from Maryland, were entirely destroyed by a fly much like the common house fly; but with a lighter colored series of rings around the abdomen, which is hirsute and tipped with brown, belonging to the family of muscidae. It is a merciful provision of nature that, as these worms increase, so do the parasitical foes which feed upon and destroy them. But for this the consequences would be terrible indeed to all the hopes of the agriculturist.—Nat. Intel.

HOVER'S LIQUID HAIR DYE.

THIS HAIR DYE needs only a trial to satisfy all of its perfection as a Dye, and the following testimonial from that eminent Analytical Chemist, Professor Booth, of the U. S. Mint, will only confirm what thousands have previously borne testimony to.

LABORATORY FOR PRACTICAL CHEMISTRY, St. Stephen's Place, Philadelphia, February 17th, 1857. "Being well acquainted with the substances composing Hover's Liquid Hair Dye, I am satisfied that by following the simple directions given for its use, it will not injure Hair or Skin, but will give a natural and durable color to the Hair."

Orders, addressed to the manufacturer, No. 416 Race street above Fourth, (old No. 144,) Philadelphia, will receive prompt attention by JOSEPH E. HOVER, Manufacturer.

BOOTS AND SHOES AT REDUCED PRICES!

THE subscribers, finding that they cannot do business on the present credit system, would inform their friends and the public that they are determined to REDUCE their prices, and sell for CASH alone, without exception. The entire stock of Eastern work now on hand will be sold at COST, and home-made work of all descriptions will be sold at nearly the OLD RATES, as by selling for cash, only the per centage for interest and loss will be thrown off and prices made nearly as low as when stock was cheap.

Our friends will please bear the above in mind, and not put us to the disagreeable necessity of refusing them credit. All persons indebted to us will please pay up immediately, and those having claims present them for settlement.

JOHN CLARK & CLARKE. July 16, 1857.
