Where parties are unknown to us, our rule for advertising is to require payment in advance, or a guarantee from known persons. It is therefore useless for all such to send us advertisements offering to pay at the end of three or six months. Where advertisements are accompanied with the money, whether one, five or ten dollars, we will give the advertiser the full benefit of cash rates.

COUNTY MEETING.

The Citizens of Mifflin County are invited to attend a public meeting, to be held at Lewistown on FRIDAY AFTERNOON, September 25, 1857, when the Hon. DAVID WILMOT will address them on the various subjects pertaining to National and State affairs.

Notices of New Advertisements.

A. Rothrock offers at private sale a valuable farm in Granville township, containing nearly 100 acres. Persons having claims on the estate of Nancy Dougherty, late of McVeytown, are referred to advertisement. Francis's advertisements of a new stock appear to-day.

THE MEETING ON THE 25TH.

Our readers we hope throughout the county will bear in mind that Judge Wilmot will be here on Friday afternoon of next week, 25th instant, when all who desire to hear an exposition of his views, made in plain and simple language, can do so. As the American Republican nominee, and as the representative of a great principle coeval with our independence, he is the only candidate that can succeed in defeating the so-called democratic nominee—a truth so transparent that he who runs may read. It is in this light we support him—a support we would cheerfully accord to Isaac Hazlehurst, were he the representative of the 160,000 Union voters of last year, and Wilmot the representative of 26,000 only. No truer remark was ever made than that uttered by the Buckeye Blacksmith on Friday evening, when he stated that the Packer men were holding but few or no meetings, because they knew there was no need for such things as long as they could encourage the Hazlehurst men to hold distinct meetings and refuse to fraternize with Wilmot, and because this dissension was precisely what the democracy built its hopes of success upon.—This no sensible man can doubt, and ought to be sufficient to open the eyes of the most blinded vision as to the true policy to be pursued.

As we did not expect to meet with anything like fairness at the hands of the Philadelphia Daily News, we are not at all surprised that it should state in its Saturday issue that we started out first for Fremont, then for Fremont, and "finally" for fusion last year—thus implying that our advocating fusion was subsequent to the visit of Ford to this quarter. If John P. Sanderson knew anything at all about our words, he knew when he penned those words that he was lying as a political brawler only will lie. All parties here, as well as our files, will tell him that two months before Ford was in the county, and within two weeks of the nomination of Fremont and Dayton, we advocated a fusion electoral ticket, and that so far as we are concerned there could have been no "sudden change." But bring out your list, and rest assured if we are on it for a single dollar, there will be justice meted out to the swindler who put it there, whether his name be Ford, Swoope, or Sanderson.

The Democrat is just now engaged in overhauling detached portions of Mr. Purcell's votes last winter in the Legislature, and lays great stress on his voting against certain attempts to defeat the bill for the sale of the main line by mutilating some of its provisions. We suspect, if the truth were known, Mr. P. committed a far greater sin in the eyes of the Democrat, than any of those enumerated, by voting against giving the Sunbury and Erie Railroad $3,000,000.

Col. Davis, Pierce's Secretary of War, is now engaged in deprecating Gen. Wool's services in Mexico.

THE DEMOCRAT AND ITS TICKET.

The Democrat continues to manifest much zeal for the weak points of its ticket, being evidently afraid that the people will not be willing to ratify the nominations at the ballot-box. It has cause for this anxiety, and as here and there honest democrats declare their inability to vote for some of the nominees, this anxiety increases, so that by election time our neighbor will probably roast and stew like a beefsteak on a gridiron, though almost everybody else seems to be calm as a summer's morning. Dr. Bower too we learn is in hot water.—He is astonished, surprised, astounded, bewildered, and we don't know what not, at the bare supposition of being capable of voting for an appropriation to the Sunbury and Erie Railroad, and yet he was regarded by all as the nominee of the men who are known to be favorable to such an appropriation. He protests too that it is not a question at issue, as the amendments to the constitution will cut off such an appropriation. This at the best is a shallow artifice. How does the Dr. or anybody else know that that amendment will be adopted? It may be voted down, and where will he stand then? The friends of such an endorsement or appropriation have refused in a public meeting to call on him to pledge himself, and he has also refused to do so. If elected, he will probably REMOVE TO HARRISBURG, cease to be a citizen of Mifflin county, and as its representative vote on the tonnage tax, an appropriation to the S. & E. Railroad, &c. without much regard to promises made in a political campaign, which, like pie-crust, are generally made to be broken.—The tonnage tax we regard as a small matter—the other as a great one, an entering wedge to increasing the State debt. Were we in the Legislature we would not now hesitate to vote for a repeal of the former, because the consideration for which it was given has passed away, and more especially because we regard it as a tax on trade which the counties bordering on the railroad and main line pay in addition to the three mill State tax.

The best thing the people of this county can do, so far as the Legislature is concerned, is to re-elect Mr. Purcell. Above suspicion in all that relates to anything wrong—identified as a business man with the interests of the people—he is one of those whom it would be bad policy to exchange for a politician who has for years been seeking a seat in the Legislature, the very class of men who ought never to be sent there.

The following questions, proposed last week to be answered by A. A. Banks, Esq., either in the Democrat or Gazette, still remain unanswered!

1st. Were not sundry queries relative to an appropriation to the Sunbury and Erie Railroad—to the tonnage tax, &c., backed by a number of democrats, propounded verbally or in writing to Dr. Bower, and if so, what was Dr. Bower's answer?

2d. Was not such a letter drawn up and signed. If so, what has become of it?

3d. Did not Dr. Bower refuse to pledge himself to any course of action in the Legislature?

The Democrat is also "mum" on the subject.

The Lost Daughter, and other True Stories of the Heart, by Mrs. CAROLINE LEE HENTZ, author of "Linda," "Rena," &c. &c. One large volume—cloth, $1.25; paper, $1. The editor of the Dollar Newspaper, in speaking of Mrs. Hentz's works, says: "She combined power of delineation and grace of style in a remarkable degree, and was a close observer of human nature, so that all her characters seem as natural as life, while she always had a moral aim in her writings, which commends them to the fireside of every family in the land as profitable and pleasant reading. We must commend to her many former admirers this posthumous edition of her last novellette, and we are sure it will be eagerly inquired for by all whenever the work is announced for sale."

Mrs. Hale's Receipts for the Million, containing Four Thousand Five Hundred Receipts, Facts, Directions, Knowledge, &c. in Useful, Ornamental and Domestic Arts. By Mrs. SARAH JOSEPH HALE. Cloth, $1.25. This book is intended as a complete family directory and household guide for the million. Every receipt which it contains is practical, and has been tested, tried and proved worthy of credit. The experienced housekeeper, whose pride it is to add to the comforts of her home, may here find many invaluable directions, and increase her store of useful receipts.

The above works will be sent to any part of the United States, free of postage, on any one remitting the price to the publisher, T. B. Peterson, 306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. Mr. Peterson has also published a duodecimo illustrated edition of the complete works of Charles Dickens, beautifully engraved with over 500 steel and wood engravings, from designs by Cruikshank, Philz, Leech, Maclise, &c., making it the most beautiful and perfect edition in the world. Reprinted from the original London editions, and complete in twenty-five beautiful volumes. Price of a set, bound in black cloth, gilt back, $31.25; scarlet, full gilt, $50; half calf, antique or gilt, $62.50. Also, the People's Edition of thirteen volumes, at $1.50 each, or $19.50 for the complete set. The cheap edition, paper cover, at 50 cents per volume, or a set of thirteen volumes for $5. Library edition, in six very large octavo volumes, in various styles of binding, at from $9 to $18 per set. Illustrated edition, in thirteen volumes, bound in various styles, at from $19.50 to $39. All of the above sent free of postage.

For the Gazette.

Mr. Editor—The True Democrat of last week, in a defence of its candidate for County Commissioner, says, although he is a plain, hard fisted, honest and intelligent farmer, he is just such a man as will take a pride in bringing about a reduction of the onerous taxes which for a year or two past have been a burden upon our citizens. I suppose it has reference to the $20,000 for the new jail—a building which is an ornament to our county and to the borough in which it is located; an honor to the Commissioners under whose supervision it was built; and an honor to our taxpayers, is PAID FOR. Now, look back for a moment. Fifteen years ago, (when the shillalah editor of the Democrat was a broth of a boy) what was done under a Democratic administration in our county? A court house was to be built under that all-wise financiering party, who are opposed to bleeding the taxpayers, opposed to the banking system, opposed to the shillalah system, and who are opposed to all other systems obnoxious to the dear people—what did they do? The cost was $13,000. The first step was to issue scrip notes to pay for the building of the court house. Mark the consequence. These shillalahs were put in circulation broadcast throughout the county, the treasury was said to be bankrupt, and they were paid out to poor laborers who eventually had to lose the one fourth of their hard earnings, on account of the shillalah court house rats and other shavers; and in about five years the court house was paid for by this process of financiering at the expense of the unfortunate holders of these Mifflin county shillalahs. Now, taxpayers, judge for yourselves which was managed for the good of the bleeding taxpayers. Should this hard fisted and intelligent farmer be so fortunate as to be elected, it is hoped that he will not keep away from any meeting of the Board of Commissioners when there is important business to be transacted, but let him stand up like a man and vindicate the rights incumbent on him as a public officer. As to Mr. Creighton we all know him to be an industrious, competent man, in whatever position he may be placed, and the Democrat's disparagement of him amounts to no more than the barking of a squirrel.

Derry township, Sept. 14, 1857.

LOGAN.

For the Gazette.

SCHOOLS AND THEIR OFFICERS. It is a time of great enthusiasm. The cause of Popular Education, the teacher's noble work, the love he owes to his profession, are the great ideas of the time and town.—Institutes, Normal Classes and Associations have been held. Addresses, having for their object the intellectual elevation of teachers, have risen in dignity, and are of frequent occurrence.

The avowed object of this great movement is to improve the character of the American people. It is proposed to do this by working on the minds of the present juvenile generation through the minds of their teachers. It is thought that the moral and mental tone of this important class will be somewhat affected by the minds of those with whom they are in contact during their impressive days. That the superior mind will strongly affect the weaker.

It is therefore thought desirable that the teacher, in his intercourse with his pupils, should keep as free from little meannesses as possible; that he should aim at the "meekness of Moses and the patience of Job;" that he should be above the gratification of revenge; that he should never give way to private pique; that if any "smart" boy writes a satirical composition shewing up the weak points of the establishment, he should laugh with the rest; and that he should teach by his example the noble forbearance which he is to inculcate by precept.

The teachers are told that if they can reach this high standard, the citizens of the American Republic in 1900 will be better than their fathers are. But may not this desirable state of things be counteracted? The powerful mind affects the weaker. There is a power above the teachers, higher than they, which bears somewhat the same relation to them that they bear to the pupils. If what the "fountain sends forth returns again to the fountain," will not the acts of this higher power be re-produced in infinite succession? If this illustrious body pass by in dignified silence the harmless pleasantry to which the great are often subjected, and secure in the excellence of their intentions and actions remain unmoved, will it not have a good effect upon the mind of that teacher who has been told some five-year-old boy has made faces at him? Is it always best to ferret out the little offender, to turn him out of school, to remorselessly punish all who saw him make the face, and chastise rigorously all who did not tell that he made faces, whether they saw him or not? But if the little boy had not made a face, nor know who did, what would be thought of that teacher who would still wreak his vengeance upon him because a face had been made by somebody.

These acute and large souled gentlemen who have shown an aptness in taking an application, may complete the parallel. Is it the best way to fulfil a public trust by using it for the gratification of a small revenge? Is it a disinterested regard for the public good which throws aside fitness, and decides from personal motives? It is related of Washington that he once appointed a bitter opponent a situation of trust, assigning as a reason his peculiar fitness for the post. The people of the next generation may be more disinterested than their fathers are—they may easily respect an improvement upon the past.

OBSEVER. [We had not read the whole of the above article until it was put in type, and as the closing paragraph evidently has reference to some recent appointments by the school board, we deem it necessary to say that we neither approve its tone or sentiments. Observer probably ascribes "motives" without being conversant with all the facts which may have governed the board, and may for aught we know thus be doing quite as much wrong to them as is charged to their account. We have had some experience in such matters, and must say that next to Chief Burgess, the School Director is the best abused officer we know of, whether he does right or wrong.—Ed. GAZETTE.]

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

John W. Bear, the Buckeye Blacksmith, paid our town a visit on Friday evening last, and made an effective speech to a large audience in front of the Court House. The Buckeye is an American Republican, and goes it strong for Wilmot, whom he considers quite as good an American as Hazlehurst or any other man, because the former advocates reforms that may be carried out, while the extreme views of the latter never can be. We are sorry, for the credit of our town, to say that Mr. Bear was most shamefully interrupted during his speech by two or three persons, who may have a perfect right of disgracing themselves as much as they please, but have no right to disgrace a community by such conduct, and this they will learn to their cost if it is again attempted.

FIRE.—A one story log dwelling in Bixler's Gap, for some years occupied by Henry Palmer, caught fire on Thursday morning last, about 5 o'clock, and burnt so rapidly that the occupants lost the greater portion of their furniture and goods, including three beds. The fire is supposed to have originated from the chimney, as it commenced burning at the roof. While to many such a loss would be unimportant, to Mr. and Mrs. P., with a family of five or six small children, it is a severe blow, and affords a fitting opportunity to the well-disposed to do unto others as they would like to be done by. Mrs. P. is well known in town as an industrious and hard working woman, and deserves all the kindness that may be bestowed upon her. They have removed to the house at Reed's saw mill on Jack's creek, where articles of clothing, bedding, &c. will no doubt be gratefully received, or if left at this office we will send them delivered.

PETTY THEIVING.—There is more of this degenerating practice—the prelude to greater thefts—going on at this time in this town and neighborhood than we have ever known, no regard whatever being had to persons or their station in life. Among the most flagrant cases that have recently come to our knowledge are a wholesale robbery of the peach orchard of George Aurand on the ridge, in which an entire row or two of trees were entirely stripped by some eight or ten persons in one night, and the robbery of the contents of Judge Moore's spring house on his farm across the ridge, where almost every portable article was carried off. The thefts of corn from the fields, men, women and children carrying it away by the basket and bag full—of peaches, plums, pears, &c. from gardens—of wood, coal, and in truth almost any and everything that hands can be laid on, whether on the streets, in dwellings, cellars and outhouses, are without a parallel, and betray a recklessness of moral conduct that speaks badly for the future. If parents will steal themselves, and teach their children to steal either by encouragement or example in preference to engaging in labor, what hope can they have of their ever becoming honest or useful citizens. Nay, the lesson may even react on themselves by raising up a band of seaperges who will neither honor father nor mother, and perhaps bring down their gray hairs with sorrow to the grave. Think of these things, ye night prowlers, before it is too late.

ROBBERY.—On Monday, a man named Joseph Gates was brought before C. Hoover, Esq., by Constable Wasson, charged with the larceny of the key of an iron safe and some books belonging to Judge Ritz. On a hearing, he was committed to jail for further examination. There was also found upon his person a pair of new shoes, which have since been identified by C. C. Stambarger as purloined from his store. The defendant appears to be insane, and rumor says that he escaped lately from the Insane Asylum at Harrisburg, where he had been sent by the authorities of Blair county. If such be the case, the County Commissioners of that county should attend to having him returned.

TEACHERS OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The Board of School Directors on Saturday last appointed the following teachers to take charge of the public schools in the Lewistown district: [Schools open 1st Oct.]

Male Teachers.
Geo. W. Frescoln, John M. Stoner,
Geo. W. Sault, Jesse Sibbs, (col'd.)

Female Teachers.
Jane A. Kerr, Fannie E. McEwen,
Sarah A. Donahoe, Caroline Sigler,
Josephine Carothers, Mary Shaw,
Mary Stewart, Cartus Kreider.

The salaries of the white male teachers range from $33 to $38, and the female teachers from $20 to $25 per month. The colored teacher will receive $30 per month.

Several hogs of late have died on our streets, in most cases attributed to "buttons," but quite as likely to be the "hog cholera."

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.—Agreeably to a former notice many of the Teachers of Mifflin county met at the Town Hall on Monday morning. They were called to order by A. D. Hawn, County Superintendent, who briefly stated the object of the meeting to be the forming of an Institute for mutual improvement, and announced the order of exercises. Mr. S. Z. Sharpe of Menno township was appointed Secretary. In the afternoon Prof. F. A. Allen was introduced as the leader of the Institute. He made some appropriate remarks, and then commenced the work of instruction in a pleasant and happy style. In the evening Dr. Woods opened the exercises with prayer, when the roll was called and responded to by appropriate sentiments from the Teachers present; after which an instructive lecture was delivered by Prof. Allen. On Tuesday many more teachers arrived, and a much greater interest was manifested. In the evening the exercises were begun by some excellent music from the Normal Singers. Prayer by Rev. Bowers, and an interesting lecture to the class by Prof. Allen. On Wednesday morning the Institute was opened by music, and prayer by Rev. Ross. Sixty names have been entered and a lively interest is prevailing, which it is hoped will exert its influence on the schools of our county. The exercises will continue during the week, and being free to the public, ladies and gentlemen can spend a pleasant evening by attending at the Town Hall.

Mr. Hickok, State Superintendent, will lecture this (Thursday) evening.

Robert Campbell and Adam Harshbarger attended as delegates from the Mifflin county Agricultural Society at the election of Trustees of the Farmer's High School. Frederick Watts of Cumberland, James Miles of Erie, and Joshua P. Eyre of Delaware, were unanimously elected Trustees. Judge Watts was then elected President of the board and Gen. James Irwin Secretary. After the transaction of some other business the Board with about two hundred visitors and friends sat down to an excellent dinner prepared by the ladies of the neighborhood, and laid out on a table eighty-six feet long, arched over with foliage, tastefully decorated with flowers, fruits and garlands, and laden with the best of the lady friends of the Institution could possibly spread before their guests. Judge Hale then made an interesting address on the benefits to be derived from the institution. He was followed by Judge Watts, who proposed to be one of ten, to give $1000 each, to raise additional funds. Gen. James Irwin said he would give $1000. Several counties were then pledged in succession for the same amount. Mr. Harshbarger said the delegates from Mifflin were not in a position to pledge that county to any set amount, but would do the best they could. The meeting appeared to have passed off pleasantly, and all were no doubt gratified with their visit.

At a meeting of the pupils of the Normal Class on Friday afternoon last, the following preamble and resolutions were reported and adopted:

WHEREAS, Feeling it but just to tender an expression of the sentiments and feelings of the Normal Class toward their teacher, Prof. A. D. Hawn, for his disinterested labors in their behalf—toward those who favored them with their interesting and instructive lectures, and toward the Board of Directors of the Borough of Lewistown for encouraging the cause of education by kindly permitting them to occupy the Logan School House; therefore, Resolved, That we, as members of the Mifflin County Normal Class, hereby tender our thanks to Supt. A. D. Hawn for the efficient manner in which he has conducted our recitations. Resolved, That we congratulate him for introducing the first successful Normal Class into Mifflin county. Resolved, That we tender our thanks to Professors Barritz, Warner, and Kerr, and Supt. Burefield, for their very able, interesting and instructive lectures. Resolved, That we cherish those sentiments of regard to which our association has given rise. Resolved, That our thanks are hereby tendered to the School Directors of the Borough of Lewistown for the use of Logan School House. Resolved, That these resolutions be presented to the editors of the county papers for publication.

The barkeeper at the Lewistown Hotel met with a pretty severe accident to his hand last week in attempting to put down a window, by which he lost one finger and severely hurt his hand otherwise. It appears that some obstruction had gotten into the frame work, and this suddenly giving way, the window came down with great force, striking his hand with one of the lights, which resulted as above.

COUNTY FAIR.—The committee on holding the county fair having reconsidered the proposals, determined to invite new ones from Reedsville and Milroy, and will decide the matter this afternoon at 4 o'clock.
