

When the rate charge, successful, would have army. But Bragg galloped his battery were brought to bear on him. A added—the enemy panting of his heard—and then a thundred of those question to us in an hundred iron is. "Shall we be able to or even a part of it, this principal and interest agale—the 5, and being the last we must ride. We had lived in hopes that the amid during would release us from this iacubus, but thus far the prospect is poor. However our patrons some years ago once took a whim to furnish us with the amount needed in a little over a month, and we don't know but they may do so again.—Certain it is, if every one will but get the idea in his or her head that what he or she owes will make it up, and pay over accordingly, the thing's done. We shall therefore, like Patience on a monument, wait for the wagon, and if it comes, we'll pay up—if it don't, we rather think we won't, because we can't.

Wright lost a gentleman's traveling show last Sunday night, between Milroy and Freedom Forge—John Stone & Sons, Philadelphia, invite the attention of merchants and others to their spring importation of Silk and Millinery Goods, &c.—Attention is invited to the card of Charles H. Proceedings of Congress. In the Senate, on the 13th, Mr. Wade (Ohio) spoke on the Kansas bill, defending the North from the charges of aggressions upon the South, and contending that the aggression is all the other way. In this connection he charged that the seizure of Texas and her admission into the Union was in flagrant violation of the Constitution of the United States, as an enormous aggression upon the rights of the North. She was admitted for the purpose of making five slave States, with ten additional Senators, to vote upon the rights of the North. The Fugitive Slave Bill was another monstrous aggression upon the rights, honor and pride of the North.

During his speech, Mr. Wade alluded to the statement made by Mr. Bigler in his reply to the speech of Mr. Douglas on the 9th of December last, to the effect that at a private meeting, held at Mr. Douglas' house, before Mr. Toombs' bill was introduced, it was determined that in view of all the difficulties surrounding the question that no provision to submit the Constitution to the people should be inserted in the bill.

The allusion thus made created much excitement, and a somewhat excited debate ensued, in which Mr. Bigler and Broderick were the principal participants. Mr. Bigler reiterated the statement he made in the speech alluded to, as well as his uncertainty whether Mr. Douglas participated in the debate, when the bill of Mr. Toombs was discussed at his house.

Mr. Broderick said he thought, from the tremor the Senator (Mr. Bigler) exhibited when he rose, that he was about to take back all that he had previously said concerning this matter. But he owes it to the Senate and to the Senator from Illinois, to state that some days since, when it was understood that Mr. Wade intended to allude to this matter, Mr. Douglas intimated that he would denounce the statement on this floor as a falsehood, if Mr. Bigler did not qualify it.

Mr. Bigler denounced the statement of Mr. Broderick as a falsehood. The Senator from Illinois never said any such thing. Mr. Broderick—So this is a question of veracity?

The Vice President reminded the Senators to keep within the legitimate limits of debate.

Mr. Broderick—The Senator from Illinois is sick abed. But if ever he takes his seat again, this shall be replied to.

On Friday a test vote was had in the House on Leocompton, on Mr. Harris' appeal from the decision of the Chair, which question was laid over by mutual consent, but on that day came up again. The House sustained Col. Harris by a vote of 111 to 100—the honors of the day being again carried off by the anti-Leocompton forces. Notwithstanding this vote we still fear that Kansas will be admitted by the interference of the President.

The Senate was in session all night on Monday in consequence of Mr. Green's determination to press a vote on the Kansas bill. During a discussion a scene occurred between one of our Senators and a Leocomptonite which is thus reported:

Mr. Cameron was disgusted with these fruitless attempts. Who is the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Green)? he asked. He is but our peer. Is he the Commander of the Senate majority that adjourned over from Monday to Tuesday to attend a political pageant at Richmond? Mr. Green—That is not true. Mr. Cameron—Did I understand the gentleman to say that I state what is not true?

Mr. Green—I said so. The Vice President called both Senators to order. Mr. Cameron—The Senator has applied to me harsh language. I will also use harsh terms, and say it is an untruth.

Mr. Green—You're a liar! The Vice President called both of the gentlemen to order.

Mr. Cameron asked pardon of the Senate for having done what the Senate says is not right, though he still thought he was not wrong. For any thing I have said to that gentleman, I am responsible. Mr. Green denied that he arrogated to himself to dictate to members. The Senator does me injustice. He knows he does me injustice. He (Mr. Green) was man enough for him or any other. The slander of the Senator will reverberate on his own head.

The Vice President emphatically called the gentleman to order. Mr. Green said he had said enough to the Senator in this chamber; out of the chamber he would use a more appropriate epithet—the epithet which belongs to the West. He would not infringe upon the propriety of the Senate. If there is any animosity to be settled it must be done outside. He did not go to that side of the chamber to dictate, but to ask whether it would be agreeable to them to vote. He did not go individually, but as an agent of the Committee. He would settle the matter with the Senator in five minutes.—[Snapping his fingers as he spoke.] Mr. Cameron said the Senator's remarks had no effect on him. He was able to take care of himself. He repeated that all this discussion had been protracted by them.

Pennsylvania Legislature. Mr. Bower presented a petition from citizens of Newton Hamilton, Mifflin county, relative to the election of councils in said borough. Also, a memorial from citizens of Mifflin county, for the repeal of the tonnage tax. In the house on the 12th, Mr. Hodgson, from the committee on Banks, with amendments and a negative recommendation, the act to incorporate the Mifflin County Bank. In the Senate on the 12th, Mr. Fetter called up Senate bill No. 357, relative to the bail of Daniel Zeigler, late treasurer of Mifflin county.

Discussed at length by Messrs. Buckalew, Gazzam, Schell, Turney, Cresswell, Finney, Miller and Shaeffer. In the Senate on the 13th, Mr. Schell offered a resolution requesting the Auditor General to communicate to the Senate the facts in relation to the accounts of Daniel Zeigler, late treasurer of Mifflin county. Discussed by Messrs. Cresswell, Schell, Randall, Gregg, and Wilkins, and passed finally.

An Act to confer and enjoin upon the County Commissioners of Mifflin county the duties of Poor Directors. Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, that from and after the passage of this act the power and duties heretofore conferred and enjoined upon the Directors of the Poor for the county of Mifflin, by the act of assembly for that purpose made and provided, be hereby conferred and enjoined upon the County Commissioners of said county, and that all laws at variance with this act, establishing Directors of the Poor for said county, or conferring powers and duties upon the same, are hereby repealed.

LOCAL AFFAIRS. DISCOVERY OF IRON ORE.—We learn that Gen. W. H. Irwin, who has been tracing the bed of iron ore from the Banks' vein in a western direction, has finally succeeded in discovering a large body which, from its favorable location, will prove of great advantage to a furnace here or for transportation. The Ore is found on the land of Jacob Kline on the second ridge north of Lewistown, in the second bench or terrace, about 60 feet from the crest of the hill. It is a brown per oxide of iron at its outcrop, but belongs to a stratified deposit of the carbonate of iron altered by contact with the air and water. Remote from the outcrop it will lie in heavy blueish grey bands. In character it is precisely identical with the carbonates of the coal measures, with the Ralston ore, and will yield a No. 1 foundry metal, and if combined with the bog oxide, or the hematite of the limestone, will give an excellent forge metal. The seam of ore was struck about 13 feet from the surface with a steep dip E. S. East; the shaft was very near to its upper outcrop. It must be worked by a drift for which the formation of the ground is very favorable. It is impossible to tell to what depth the seam may descend, but enough is now seen to assure, in the opinion of good judges, a heavy and continuous body of rich and easily mined ore. Some fine specimens of ore from the above seam can be seen at this office.

FIRE.—The house and wagonmaker shop of Mr. Isaac Armstrong, in Belleville, were consumed by fire on Wednesday morning, 10th inst. Everything in the shop was burnt, as well as a few articles in the house. The fire originated from a stove pipe which extended through the roof of the shop.—Great fears were entertained that the adjoining buildings would also fall a prey to the flames, but the wind fortunately changed its direction somewhat, and by the unremitting labor of the citizens they were preserved. The dwelling of Mrs. Bell, in Ferguson's Valley, was also consumed by fire on the same morning, together with most of its contents. The fire originated from the chimney.

EXHIBITIONS.—An exhibition was given by the scholars attending the school-house near the residence of Jacob Ort in Granville township, on Thursday evening last, which was highly creditable to all concerned. The recitations and dialogues were delivered in good taste, and in most cases far exceeded the expectations of the parents and others present: The school has been under the care of Mr. William Lyttle, a well known and experienced teacher, to whose judicious care and management the scholars no doubt owe their improvement. The teachers and scholars of A. M. E. Sunday School gave several exhibitions last week in the Town Hall with a view to replenish their library.

The scholars in some of our leading public schools we learn intend giving an exhibition at the close of this month in the Town Hall. The event is looked forward to with much interest by those concerned, and from appearances will prove an interesting affair. The Lewistown Philharmonic Society will give a Concert at the Town Hall, this, Thursday, evening. This association promises a fine musical treat to all who encourage their enterprise. Tickets can be purchased at the National, Lewistown, and Black Bear Hotels, and at the Book Stores of Miss E. Cogley and H. W. Junkin.—Go and hear them.

CITIZENS' MEETING.—In consequence of the dissatisfaction existing among all classes at the ticket nominated by the patentees, a call was issued yesterday for a citizens' meeting at the Town Hall last evening, which resulted in placing in nomination the following: Chief Burgess—John Davis. Town Council—R. H. McClintock, Dr. T. A. Worrall. School Directors—Samuel Barr, Dr. Samuel Belford, Thomas Mayes, C. S. McCoy. Assessor—William Shimp. Assistant Assessors—James Irwin and R. H. Junkin. Collector—George Miller. Auditor—Robert W. Patton.

In the East Ward George W. Stewart and George W. Thomas are candidates for Justice of the Peace, and in the West Ward C. Hoover, Esq.

Some boys got into a row the other day, in imitation of their elders, and were committed to jail for their pains by Justice Hoover.

The Circus Company whose horses have been wintered in this neighborhood, are getting their wagons repaired and painted, and will soon be ready for the field. They purpose we believe to give their opening exhibition here.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.—Hubbub.—A democratic meeting was held at the Red Lion Hotel on Monday evening last, called for the purpose of nominating a borough ticket, which resulted in a sort of Kansas affair, and came near breaking up in a muss. A committee it seems was appointed to select candidates, who accordingly performed that duty, but on reporting to the meeting a proposition was made to refer the subject to a ballot, during a discussion of which some sharp words passed a la Kansans. This motion finally carried by a majority of one, and produced a wonderful canvassing during the evening and next day, as much so as if the country had to be saved over again after the election of Buchanan. Leocompton and anti-Leocompton seemed to be the watchwords, the latter having apparently more strength than most folks seemed to think. On Tuesday afternoon an election was held at the Town Hall as to who should be the candidates with the following result: Votes polled about 90.

Chief Burgess—A. A. Banks. Town Council—Zacharias Orner and George Fetter. School Directors—Wm. H. Weber, N. J. Still, A. G. Harvey and John R. Weekes. Assessor—Wm. Shimp. Assistant Assessors—Abraham Blymyer and William Clark. Collector—Geo. Miller. Auditor—Peter Spangler. High Constable—D. Wasson. Constable—Robert Mathews, sr. Judge, E. W.—John Swan. Inspector, E. W.—B. F. Heisler. Judge, W. W.—W. S. Custer. Inspector, W. W.—Jacob Bearley.

The thing being thus settled, our duty impels us to say "Voters to the polls on Friday next" "The Union is in danger" "Democrats be on your guard—vote early—take your neighbor with you, or send him there on a wheelbarrow—see that your ticket has Gen. Jackson on it—go the whole hog, tail and all," or abolitionism will triumph, and our glorious institutions, like the State ditch, will fall into the hands of that "monster" the Pennsylvania railroad.

ROBBERIES.—Quite a number of petty robberies have been committed lately—among them the shoemaker shop of Samuel West, near the Episcopal Church, of several pairs of boots and shoes; the smoke house of Samuel Comfort of a number of hams, &c., and in other cases, clothing and whatever could be laid hands on. Mr. Comfort yesterday morning had some parties arrested and we believe recovered part of the meat stolen.

THE WEATHER.—The first ten days of March were cold and wintry in appearance, though we had but little snow. Since then the weather gradually moderated, and this week (including St. Patrick's day) has been of the most delightful kind, culminated too by the pleasant carols of the robin, blue bird, lark, blackbird, &c. The ice disappeared on the river on Monday.

HOMEWARD BOUND. The following lines were published in the Lutheran Sabbath School Journal of Lewistown, for March, 1858. Homeward bound is the mariner's song, As he cheerily floats along; And the weary sailors seek to hail With joy the silent of the homeward sail. Homeward bound is the laborer's song, As wearily he trudges along, Thinking, perhaps, of the cheerful hearth, The smiling group, and their joyous mirth. Homeward bound is the traveler's song, As with joy he greets the motley throng; Visions of beauty rise to his sight, For loved ones will welcome him to night. Homeward bound is the Christian's shout, While soaring along the distant coast; He eagerly longs to gain a sight Of all that heaven has so lovingly light. Homeward bound, when the Christian sings, Seem to soar us up on angels' wings— As we, in fancy, the strains hear, Hark! a spirit whispers, home is here.

Hollopaj's Pills and Ointment—Beware of Imposture.—THE GENUINENESS of these invaluable remedies is easily known. Look to the Water mark! If the words, "Holloway, New York and London," are not to be seen in semi-transparent letters in the paper of the book of directions, when held to the light, the same is spurious. The family provided with these medicines is fortified against the dangerous effects of dyspepsia, liver complaint, nervous disease, disorders of the bowels, eruptions, ulcers, sores, and exterior inflammation generally. All these yield to Holloway's unapproachable remedies. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. The following is from the principal of the Fredonia (N. Y.) Seminary: FREDONIA, July 17. Dr. Seth W. Fowle.—Dear Sir:—From my youth I have been subject to lung complaints. In February last I caught cold, a cough set in; I expectorated freely, but the mucous raised from the lungs indicated a disease deeply seated. Two or three physicians kindly sent me their medicines, which have been very efficient in curing coughs, but they failed to reach my case. In the latter part of April I left home, intending to travel a while, and if possible escape by that means from present danger. When I reached Buffalo my cough was considerably aggravated. A friend there advised me to try the Balsam of Wild Cherry, but I told him I had swallowed enough medicine. The next day my friend again urged me to try 'Dr. Wistar,' and at 3 p. m. I was willing to try anything, for I coughed constantly. I procured a bottle, drank of it, continued taking it from that bottle one week, and when the Balsam was gone my cough and pains were gone, and I have not coughed since. Respectfully yours, F. A.
