LOCAL AFFAIRS.

THE STORM OF LAST WEDNESDAYpeath by Drowning .- We briefly mentioned last week that on Wednesday night the min came down in torrents and that a roung man named Adam McCurdy, son of the widow McCurdy, deceased, who formerly resided at the first gate on the Kishacoquillas turnpike, had lost his life on a fish basket below Jacob's mill by the rapid rise of that creek. The circumstances attending his death were of the most harrowing kind, he having held on to the basket for two long hours, which must have been years to him on the brink of eternity, during all which time the turbid waters were gradually rising higher and higher, until at last. conscious that his mortal career on earth was closing, he said, "Good by-I can hold on no longer," and was swept into eternity. The young man who had been with him succeeded in reaching the shore when the water first rose and gave the alarm. Several neighbors were soon gathered on the shore and various ineffectual efforts made to rescue him-among them an attempt to swim a horse, throwing ropes, &c., but the only method that could have saved him was unhappily not thought of, namely, carrying a rope across the bridge, and with persons on each side of the stream moving upwards until it would have come in contact with his body. The creek and dams were searched in all directions for his body during Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, but with the exception of his overcoat, which was hooked up on Sunday, no trace of him was discovered until Tuesday morning, when Jonathan Barroll, a colored man residing at the head of the Narrows, saw a body floating in the river below the mouth of Jack's creek, which proved to be that of young McCurdy. It was brought to town and interred by his friends. He was about 18 years of age, and esteemed as a quiet, kindly-disposed boy.

The culvert erected last year from Third street to the Huntingdon road bridge, was | nal gain. considerably injured by the great body of water which came down the run and over the streets, and numerous fields sown in grain were badly washed, wagon loads of soil having been swept off in some cases. The old stone mill also came in for a share of the flood, a portion of the southern side theran Sabbath School Journal and our town having fallen. Several bridges on Jack's papers. creek and other streams were also injured. The river rose but a few feet, showing that the heavy outpouring was confined to a narrow space.

livered an address to the teachers on the importance of improving their time, and urging the necessity of promptness and regularity on their part, to insure good results from the Institute. S. Z. Sharp afterwards gave an interesting lecture on the principles of penmanship. Prof. F. A. Allen was then introduced, and entertained the members of the Institute with a few interesting remarks on the pleasure of meeting his fellow-teachers on the present occasion, after which the meeting adjourned to meet at 7½ o'clock, in the Presbyterian church, where they were again entertained by the same gentleman with a lecture on the early and present conditions of our public schools. Tuesday forenoon was occupied with practical illustrations of grammar and arithmetic. The afternoon session was spent in instructions on geography, composition and reading, and a lecture on school government by Prof. Allen. About seventy teachers are in attendance, and a lively interest is taken In all the exercises by both teachers and citizens. In the evening the audience was favored with an appropriate address by Geo. W. Elder, Esq., of Lewistown. At each calling of the roll, the teachers responded with appropriate sentiments, which greatly enlivened the exercises.

At a Teachers' and Scholars' Prayer Meeting of the Lutheran Sabbath School, on Sept. 20th, 1858, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, In the Providence of God it has been the lot of ADAM G. MCCURDY, one of our most faithful Sabbath School Scholars, to meet with an untimely end by drowning, on Wednesday night, 15th inst., therefore— Resolved, That in his death, our Sabbath School has lost a Scholar who was always at his place in his class at the time appointed, ever attentive to the lessons and instructions of his teachers, and who took a deep and abiding interest in all the operations of the school. He had gained the love and esteem of both teachers and scholars, and gave cheering hopes, by his general good conduct, of a bright and useful future. But as it has pleased God in his all-wise providence to remove him from this world of sorrow at an early age, we must submit with humbleness to his inscrutable will, hoping our loss is his eter-

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN

COOKING STOVES! Consumption of Smoke & Gas & Saving of Fuel!

THE subscriber takes pleasure in offering to his customers a new Patented Gas-burning ooking Stove, undoubtedly the best stove made. It is well known that all inflammable matter requires a certain amount of air to support com-bustion, and if the supply is insufficient it is impossible to produce a flame. The heat of the fire, in ordinary cooking stoves, decomposes the fuel, and as all the fresh air is admitted under the grate, its oxygen is exhausted before it has passed through the fire chamber. The close flues at the top of the stove then act as an exinguisher, tending to put out the fire instead of assisting the combustion. A large portion of the fuel, therefore, passes off in the shape of smoke, clogging up the flues of the stove so as to impede the draft and interfere with the baking,-or of invisible gas which combines the lime and so destroys the mortar of the chimneys, loosening the bricks, and exposing the dwellings to the danger of fire.

The introduction of an additional supply of cold air would cool the gas below the igniting temperature, but by the proper application above the fire of air previously heated to a temperature of several hundred degrees (which is one of the prominent features of the patent) the gases are inflamed in numerous jets, and their combustion is sufficient to heat the oven, even if the draft through the fire chamber is entirely closed. In addition to the ordinary direct draft under the grate and through the fire chamber, the gas-burner has an additional draft through the top plates, which is of itself suffi-cient to maintain combustion. The upper draft not only consumes the gases, but it helps to strengthen and preserve the centre pieces which are most exposed to the direct action of the fire, and which are made double instead of the usual single plates. By means of this draft alone, all the operations of cooking can be carried on when the fuel is but partially ignited, and the fuel consequently burns more slowly and more economically. A sufficient evidence of the effect of the gases in heating the oven is found in the fact that the oven will be ready for baking even before the fire is thoroughly kindled, and much sooner than in any other. There is scarcely a doubt that before long the Gas-burning Cooking Stoves will supercede all others. The operation is so perfect and its consumption of fuel so small in comparison with other cooking stoves, and its heat so easily regulated, (burning more or less as desired, that every one who uses one of these stoves will have nothing else. THE RESTORATIVE of Prof. O. J. Wood for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all ou cannot doubt ; read also the following : THE HAIR.-People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy heretofore known has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we ear-nestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is now covered completely with the timest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling now of humerous cases where had was raphary latting nt, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever ad been before. It is also without doubt one of the best rticles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it oft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to. It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance, though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it : but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration .- Woman's Advocate, Cohocton, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856. O. J. Wood & Co—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents, (R. M. Hackinson,) and having expericed the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to the West, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours. Being fully convinced that your restora tive is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.
