or article for roofing, which would resist the GEO. FAIRCH changes of our climate, and would unite the qualities of Imperviousness to Water, Incombustibility, Durability and Cheapness. 1 00 article now in use possesses these qualities. Shingles are not fire proof, and cannot be used 1 50 upon flat roofs. Slate can only be used upon steep roofs. The contraction, expansion and rusting of metallic roofs are so great in this 50 50 changeable climate that they soon become worthless, or the repairs will cost more than a new roof. The various cements and compositions which have been introduced, can be supplied only to very flat roofs, and they are 1 00 all so affected by the action of the weather that they will melt and run in summer and crack in winter, and in a short time become 50 crumbly and worthless. - The inventor of the Galvanic Cement has labored twenty years to 1 00 obviate these difficulties, and it is believed by those who have had opportunities to test the 1 00 50 matter, that he has entirely succeeded. As now applied. 1 00

First-It is completely impervious to water. Water may continually stand upon the roof without affecting it in the least.

Second-It is fire-proof. It is so incombus-50 tible that it will afford ample and perfect protection against fire, sparks and burning shin-1 00 gles from another building immediately ad-501 joining.

1 00 Third-It is durable. It is not injured by atmospheric changes, having been tested for several years by the Patentee, at Syracuse, 1 00 New York.

Fourth-It is cheap. Roofs will be put on for about half the cost of tin, and will last much longer.

Fifth-Repairs are easily and cheaply made. Sixth -- It is sufficiently elastic to entirely resist the expansion and contraction by heat and cold, and will remain perfect and solid in the warmest and coldest weather.

Seventh-It is adapted to all kinds of roofs, either flat or steep. Eighth—It is valuable for repairing old roofs. Old shingle roofs may be covered without removing the shingles. Old metalic roofs can be made perfectly tight and secure. Ninth-It is especially adapted to all kinds of seaming around battlements, sky-lights and chimneys, and for the lining of eave troughs and gutters. Roofs which have given trouble for years, and which have continued to leak in spite of all efforts, can be made perfectly secure by this cement. Tenth-It has been proved to be the best article ever used for covering car tops and steamboat decks.

Eleventh-This cement applied to new tin roofs preserves them from rusting, by furnishing a coat which is at once impervious to water and an almost perfect non-conductor of heat.

Twelfth-It is the only roofing material patented which contains India rubber and
