SAUSAGES.

As cool weather is coming on, and the flies are disappearing, it is time to think about making sausages; hence we present the following methods of making them, from the repertoire of a noted cook:

Pork Sausages.—There are many receipts for the making of pork sausages. Several counties have their own peculiar recipes, the peculiarity in their sausages being the quantity and variety of herbs which they introduce, the prevalence of some particular one giving the flavor, as well as the peculiarity to each. The presence of so many herbs is, however, not always considered an agreeable feature; and many palates are offended at that which forms to others the great merit. The following is a very simple receipt—

Take of the fat of pork one pound, that of the loin of a large, richly fed pig, or the inward fat of a small one, chop it finely with half pound of lean pork, add to it four or five sage leaves finely chopped, some lemon, thyme in a small quantity, and three dessert spoonfuls of bread powdered. Be careful not to put too much of the latter, as it tends to turn the sausage sour if kept. Amalgamate these ingredients well; dust on grated nutmeg, mace, and cloves in powder, and finish with black pepper and salt, being sure to season well; the meat may then be put into the skins, or may be put in jars covered down from the air, to be used for rolls, or stuffing, or any required purpose.

All skin must be pared from the fat before chopping, and every sinew removed from the lean pork, as well as any bone, or any thing which may impair the taste when eaten.

Another Way.—To a couple of pounds lean pork, young, white, and delicate, put three-quarters of a pound of minced beef suet, the pork must first be chopped very fine; add three dessert spoonfuls of bread which has been dipped in Port wine, dried and grated fine; work it together with the yolks of three eggs smoothly beaten; season it with pepper and salt, and dried sage; a very little cayenne may be introduced, and a very small piece of garlic; work the whole well together in a mortar till it forms a paste; it may then be put into wide skins or pressed down into jars for future use; it is cut into square pieces, dredged with flour, fried in fresh butter, and set to the table on a toast as a breakfast dish.

Another Way.—Chop particularly fine about two or three pounds of lean pork, and an equal quantity of fat; have ready some sage either dry or green, either passed through a sieve, or chopped very fine, a small piece of shallot, a few grains of ground cloves; season it with pepper and salt; mix a few fine bread crumbs up with it; have your skins ready cleaned, then fill them; or if preferred, roll into balls, and fry them; you will tie them the length you wish the sausages to be; prick the skins with a fork before you fry them in the oven if it should be hot.

Another Way.—Chop the pork as before only add half the quantity of lean veal, a pound of suet chopped equally fine; have ready a French roll soaked in milk, but no crust; season it well with pepper and salt; mix it all well together.

Another Way.—Chop pork as before, and an equal quantity of fat, and the quantity of lean veal, and the same of suet, and two or three handfuls of the bread-crumbs; have ready a few sage leaves, a few of knotted marjoram, and one shallot; pound all well together; season with white pepper and salt; either put them in skins, or roll them and fry them as above.

A FAMOUS POULTICE.

A correspondent of the Providence Journal says, that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, cranberries applied as a poultice will effectually cure the erysipelas. There is not an instance known where it has failed to effect a cure, when faithfully applied before the sufferer was in a dying state. Two or three applications generally do the work. This remedy is so simple, and so easily obtained, that every one afflicted with the disease should give it a trial.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN COOKING STOVES!

Consumption of Smoke & Gas & Saving of Fuel! THE subscriber takes pleasure in offering to his customers a new Patented Gas-burning Cooking Stove, undoubtedly the best stove made. It is well known that all inflammable matter requires a certain amount of air to support combustion, and if the supply is insufficient it is impossible to produce a flame. The heat of the fire, in ordinary cooking stoves, decomposes the fuel, and as all the fresh air is admitted under the grate, its oxygen is exhausted before it has passed through the fire chamber. The close flues at the top of the stove then act as an extinguisher, tending to put out the fire instead of assisting the combustion. A large portion of the fuel, therefore, passes off in the shape of smoke, clogging up the flues of the stove so as to impede the draft and interfere with the baking,—or of invisible gas which combines with the lime and so destroys the mortar of the chimneys, loosening the bricks, and exposing the dwellings to the danger of fire.

The introduction of an additional supply of cold air would cool the gas below the igniting temperature, but by the proper application above the fire of air previously heated to a temperature of several hundred degrees (which is one of the prominent features of the patent) the gases are inflated in numerous tubes, and their combustion is sufficient to heat the oven, even if the draft through the fire chamber is entirely closed. In addition to the ordinary direct draft under the grate and through the fire chamber, the gas-burner has an additional draft through the top plates, which is of itself sufficient to maintain combustion. The upper draft not only consumes the gases, but it helps to strengthen and preserve the centre pieces which are most exposed to the direct action of the fire, and which are made double instead of the usual single plates. By means of this draft alone, all the operations of cooking can be carried on when the fuel is but partially ignited, and the fuel consequently burns more slowly and more economically. A sufficient evidence of the effect of the gases in heating the oven is found in the fact that the oven will be ready for baking even before the fire is thoroughly kindled, and much sooner than in any other.

There is scarcely a doubt that before long the Gas-burning Cooking Stoves will supersede all others. The operation is so perfect and its consumption of fuel so small in comparison with other cooking stoves, and its heat so easily regulated, (burning more or less as desired,) that every one who uses one of these stoves will have nothing else. For sale by aug12 F. G. FRANCISCUS.

Attachment of Vulcanized India Rubber Spring to the Tubes of Grain Drills.

THE undersigned, having perfected an arrangement for the attachment of a Gum Spring to the Tubes and Drag Bars of Grain Drills, is happy to inform Farmers and all others interested in the growing of Wheat and other grains, that he is prepared to furnish Grain Drills, with the above article attached, at the shortest notice, at the Foundry, in McVeytown, Pa. Should any farmer who is almost indispensable article to the farmer, and he will find that the attachment of the Gum Spring will enhance its value at least one-half. All the detraction and trouble caused by the breaking of wooden pins is entirely done away with by this arrangement, and a man, or boy, can perform nearly double the labor that he could under the old plan, with much greater ease, both to himself and horses. There need be no fear of the Spring breaking, for if there is an article that will neither break, rot, or wear out, the Gum Spring is that article, and it is hazardous in saying that my Grain Drill is the simplest in construction, most economical in performance, and therefore the most durable ever offered to the agricultural public. The feed is so arranged that it will sow 1, 1 1/2, 1 3/4, 1 1/2, and 2 bushels per acre. Persons desiring one for the coming season are requested to send in their orders as early as possible. The Howard Association, in view of the awful destruction of human life caused by sexual diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, a Charles Acton, M.D., of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases, in all their forms, and to give Medical Advice GRATIS, to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in cases of extreme poverty to furnish Medicines Free of Charge. The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves with renewed zeal to this very important but much neglected cause.

WEST'S Patent Galvanic Cement FOR ROOFING.

THE undersigned having purchased the rights for this Cement in Mifflin and Snyder counties, are now prepared to furnish it on roofing wherever desired. It is put out in the direction of governments, architects and builders in various parts of the country, for years have been studying and experimenting to discover some compound or article for roofing, which would resist changes of our climate, and would possess qualities of Impermeability to Water, Durability, and Cheapness. This article now in use possesses these qualities. Shingles are not fire proof, and cannot be used on steep roofs. The contraction, expansion, and rusting of metallic roofs are so great in our changeable climate that they soon become worthless. The repairs will cost more than a new roof. The various cements and putties supplied only to very flat roofs, and they all so affected by the action of the water that they will crack and run in summer, and crumble and worthless in winter. The Galvanic Cement has labored twenty years to obviate these difficulties, and it is believed that those who have had opportunities to see the matter, that he has entirely succeeded. First—It is completely impervious to water. Water may continually stand upon the roof without affecting it in the least.

Second—It is fire proof. It is so impervious that it will afford ample and perfect protection against fire, sparks and burning, and from another building immediately adjoining.

Third—It is durable. It is not injured by atmospheric changes, having been tested several years by the Patentee, at Syracuse, New York.

Fourth—It is cheap. Roofs will be put for about half the cost of tin, and will much longer.

Fifth—Repairs are easily and cheaply made. Sixth—It is sufficiently elastic to resist the expansion and contraction by heat and cold, and will remain perfect and sound the warmest and coldest weather.

Seventh—It is adapted to all kinds of either flat or steep.

Eighth—It is valuable for repairing roofs. Old shingle roofs may be renewed without removing the shingles. Old roofs can be made perfectly tight and secure.

Ninth—It is especially adapted to roofs of seaming around battlements, chimneys, and for the lining of troughs and gutters. Roofs which have leaked for years, and which have cost to look in spite of all efforts, can be perfectly secure by this cement.

Tenth—It has been proved to be the article ever used for covering carpenter's steamboat decks.

Eleventh—This cement applied to roofs preserves them from rusting, by washing a coat which is at once impervious to water and an almost perfect non-conductor of heat.

Twelfth—It is the only roofing material patented which contains India rubber gutta percha.

For particulars of this cement, owners of property will please address ap15 Locke's Mills, Mifflin co., Pa.

DYSPEPSIA.

As shown by the statements of the Board of Health of New York, caused the death of 76 persons out of deaths in one week, and 121 deaths by consumption during by dyspepsia. As it is a well known fact
