Recipes.

Fine Gingerbreads .- Rub one pound of butter well into three pounds of flour; then add one pound of powdered sugar, one pound of molasses, two ounces of ground quarter of a pint of cream, and mix all together. Make it into a stiff paste, and bake it in a slow oven .- Farmer and Gar-

From Mrs. Hale's Receipt Book.

Baked Milk .- Put half a gallon of milk into a jar, and tie it down with writing-paper. Let it stand in a moderately warm oven about eight or ten hours. It will then be of the consistency of cream. It is used by persons who are weak or consumptive.

Essence of Nutmeg-Is made by dissolving 1 oz. of the essential oil in a pint of rectified spirits. It is an expensive but invaluable mode of flavoring, in the arts of cook or confectioner.

To make Essence of Celery .- Soak for a fortnight half an ounce of the secds of celery in one gill of brandy. A few drops will flavor a pint of soup or broth equal to a head of celery.

Tincture of Lemon peel.—Fill a wide-mouthed pint bottle full of brandy; when a lemon is used, pare off the rind very thin and put it into the brandy. In two weeks the spirit will be strongly impregnated with the flavor of the lemon.

Sage Tea .- Night sweats have been cured, when more powerful remedies had failed, by fasting morning and night, and drinking cold sage tea constantly and free-

Infusion for Rheumatism .- One ounce of gum-guaiacum must be bruised and put into a pint of French brandy, in which it must remain for at least thirty hours .-When the gum is dissolved, shake the bottle, and pour a little of this infusion into rather more than a wine-glassful of tepid water; take this at bed-time, for three Mixture for Rheumatism .- One ounce of salad mustard must be simmered in a t of soft water, till the liquor is reduced to half a pint; strain it through muslin, and add a pint of milk, fresh from the cow. Let it boil only two minutes, and take a small tea-cupful, milk-warm, night and morning.

To dry Corn for Winter use.—Sweet eoin is the best. Husk it. Have a pot of boiling water-put in your corn and let it boil three minutes-then cut it from the cobs and put it in pans in a warm oven. It must be stirred frequently; when perfectly dry put it away in bags. When wanted use, soak it all night, next day boil it an hour with a little salt; before it is dished stir in flour, pepper, and butter.

Every Family to make their own Sweet Oil .- With a small hand-mill, every family might make their own sweet oil. This may easily be done, by grinding or beating the seeds of white poppies into a paste, then boil it in water, and skim off the oil as it rises; one bushel of seed weighs fifty pounds, and produces two gallons of oil Of the sweet olive oil sold, one half is oil of poppies. The poppies will grow in any garden; it is the large-head white poppy, sold by apothecaries. Large fields are sown with poppies in France and Flanders, for the purpose of expressing oil from their seed for food. When the seed is taken out, the poppy head when dried is boiled to an extract, which is sold at two shillings per ounce, and it is to be preferred to opium, which now sells very high. Large fortunes may be acquired by the cultivation of the poppies. Women and children could attend to the cultivation of any quantity required for their own use, in making oil, and it would be found a profitable branch of industry, when engaged in on a large scale.

Sketch from the Life of a Villain. The full history of Edwin W. Reed's rascalities has never been written, and we propose here to supply a chapter that will throw more light on the real character of this accomplished seducer and most plausible rogue. We derive the facts from authentic sources.

It is a fact not generally known that his wife, who lives at West Springfield, is not his wife, but a woman with whom Reed many years ago eloped, leaving his wife to die of neglect, and his children to the chances of the world. Reed married when he was very young. His wife was a young lady of Wilbraham, Massachusetts, and by her he had three children; one of them is now a young woman married, and a resiboys, now grown up, and clerks in Springfield. The wife of Reed who lives now in West Springfield, was a pupil of his years ago in one of his music classes—as his late as cheap as common grease by jatim Miss Laura Kendall, of Granby jan5 F. G. FRANCISCUS. was; and as, it is believed, several others have been, at various times.

This young woman, before Reed married her, was, at his solicitation, taken into his family, a 'boarder,' and soon afterward also published at $2 per year.

Reed ran away with her to Canada, abandoning his wife and three young children to their fate. His wife was thrown upon the town, and eventually died in the poor house. Reed and his companion passed four years in Canada and Western New York, when hearing of the death of his wife, he came back to Wilbraham, bringing with him his companion, now his wife. ginger, and one nutmeg grated. Warm a At what time he married her, does not seem quite certain; but she is of very respectable connexions in Wilbraham, and bore to Reed three children.

Reed has occasioned no little scandal in towns where he had classes of music. He has the reputation of being a regular · lady-killer," and a very great hypocrite, using his professions of religion as a mask to favor his vile purposes. His manner was very frank and hearty, and he carried such an air of earnestness, honesty, and good nature, that he deceived men and women alike as to his real character. He would shake hands with all friends in a whole-souled manner, and appear so full of fresh, verbriming 'human' good feeling, as to disarm all suspicion, and win hosts of friends among the most influential classes of socie

When Deacon Kendall's daughter, Miss Laura Kendall, disappeared, suspicion began to fasten upon him; but he put on an air of injured innocence, and contrived to put down suspicions in most cases. All this time Miss Kendall was living at South Boston, where she had a child by Reedthe little girl of four years, whose recognition of her father in jail a fortnight since so affected the bystanders who witnessed that scene. Hearing at length of Deacon Kendall's death, and that he had willed to Laura a handsome share of his property, Reed induced the poor girl, who still loved him with all a woman's affection, to go home to Granby and get her portion of the money. This he subsequently got posses

When Laura's brother, Howard Kendall, of Granby, went to South Boston to get the body of his unfortunate sister, he was directed to premises occupied by another as Toilet Sets, Tea Sets, Dinner Sets, &c. at zerBE'S. victim of Reed's passions—a good looking Irish girl, who was there living with her the evidence of her shame and Reed's guilty arts. Finding how things were, Mr. Kendall told the girl that Reed then had a wife and children living in West Springfield; but the girl stoutly refused to believe a word of this. Mr. Kendall then told her that his own visit to South Boston was to recover all that was mortal of his own sister, at that moment lying a corpse in that neighborhood, and who had been, as she (the Irish girl) was, a victim of Reed's debaucheries. The poor girl was completely overcome by this revelation of her seducer's guilt and her own doom.

The little daughter of Laura Kendall, now about four years old, will probably be adopted into a family living in Tariffville, near Granby, friends of the little girl's dead mother.

Reed's married daughter in New Haven seems still to love her father, and clings to him with all filial affection, in spite of the revelations of his wrong-doing .- Hartford Times, Jan. 5th.

A good Rebuke .- Watty Morrison, a Scotch clergyman, was a man of great wit and humor. On one occasion he entreated the officer at Fort George to pardon a poor fellow that was sent to the halberts. The officer offered to grant his request if he would, in return, grant him the first favor he would ask. Mr. Morrison agreed to this, and the officer immediately demanded that the ceremony of baptism should be performed on a puppy. The clergyman agreed to it, and a party of gentlemen assembled to witness the novel baptism. Mr. Morrison desired the officer to hold up the doz, as was necessary in the baptism of children, and said:

'As I am a minister of the Church of Scotland, I must proceed according to the ceremonies of the Church.' 'Certainly,' said the major, 'I expect all the ceremony.' 'Well then, major, I begin with the usual nestion: Do you acknowledge yourself the father of this puppy?" A roar of laughter burst from the crowd, whilst the officer in great confusion threw

West's Patent GALVADIO CEMENT For Roofing.

THE undersigned having purchased the right for this A Cement in Mifflin and Centre counties, is now prepar-ed to fur tish and put it on roofing wherever desired—the roof being sheeted by the owner. Scientific men under the direction of government, and architects and builders in various parts of the country, for years have been studying and experimenting to discover some composition or article for roofing, which would resist the changes of our climate, and would unite the qualities of impervious-ness to water, incombustibility, durability and cheapness. No article now in use possesses these qualities. Shingles are not fire proof, and cannot be used on flat roofs. State can only be used upon steep roofs The contraction, expansion and rusting of metal ic roofs are so great in this changeable climate that they soon become worthless, or the repairs will cost more than a new roof. The various cements and compositions which have been introduced can be supplied only to very flat roofs, and they are all so affected by the action of the weather that they will melt and run in summer and crack in winter, and in a short me become crumbly and worthless. The inventor of the Galvanic Cement has Libored twenty years to obviate these difficulties, and it is believed by those who have had opportunities to test the matter, that he has entirely acceeded. As now applied,

First-It is completely impervious to water. Water may continually stand upon the roof without affecting i n the least. Second-It is fire proof. It is so incombustible that it will afford ample and perfect protection against fire sparks and burning shingles from another building t diately adjoining.

Third-It is durable. It is not injured by atmospheric changes, having been tested for several years by the patentee, at Syracuse, New York.

Fourth—It is cheap. Roofs will be put on for about half the cost of tin, and will last much longer. Fifth-Repairs are easily and cheaply made.

Six, h-It is sufficiently classic to entirely resist the ex-pansion and contraction by heat and cold, and will re-main perfect and solid in the warn set or coldest weather. Seventh-It is adapted to all kinds of roofs, either flat or steep.
Eighth—It is valuable for repairing old roo's Old shin gle roofs may be covered without removing the shingles Old metallic roofs can be made perfectly tight and secure. Ninth-It is especially adapted to all kinds of seaning fround battlements, sky lights and chimneys, and for the lining of eave troughs and gutters. Roofs which have given trouble for years, and which have continued to leak spite of all efforts, can be made perfectly secure by this cement.

Tenth-It has been proved to be the best article ever used for covering car tops and steamboat decks.

Eleventh—This cement applied to new tin roofs preserves them from rusting, by furnishing a coat which is at once impervious to water and an almost perfect non-

t once impervious to conductor of heat.
Tweithe-It is the only roofing material patented which contains India robber and gutta percha.
