Recipes. From Mrs. Hale's Receipt Book.

Wine Whey.—Wine whey is a cool and safe drink in fevers. Set half a pint of sweet milk at the fire, pour in one glass of wine, and let it remain perfectly still, till it curdles; when the curds settle, strain it and let it cool. It should not get more than blood-warm. A spoonful of rennetwater hastens the operation. Make palatable with loaf sugar and nutmeg, if the patient can bear it.

Lemon Syrup, for a Cough .- To a pint and a half of water, add two large poppy heads, and two large lemons. Boil them till they are soft, press the lemons into the water, strain the liquor, and add half a drachm of saffron, and half a pound of brown sugar-candy, pounded. Boil all together till the sugar-candy is dissolved; stir the whole till you perceive it will jelly; strain it a second time, and take the seeds from the poppies.

Rose Garlic .- Take of red rose buds, dried, half an ounce; boiling water, two pints; diluted vitriolic acid, three drachms; mix these together, macerate for half an hour, and draw off the liquor. Sweeten with an ounce of honey.

Elder-flower Ointment .- Gather the buds or earliest flowers of the elder bush; simmer these in fresh butter, or sweet lard; it makes a healing and cooling ointment for the skin, in cutaneous diseases.

Elder-flower Poultice .- A poultice of elder-flower tea and biscuit, is good as a preventive to mortification.

White-bean Poultice .- Nothing is so good to take down swellings, as a soft poultice of stewed white beans, put on in a thin muslin bag, and renewed every hour or two.

Blackberries .- Blackberries are extremely useful, in cases of dysentery. To eat the berries is very healthy; tea made of the roots and leaves is beneficial; and a syrup made of the berries is still better. Blackberries have sometimes effected a cure when physicians despaired.

Whortleberries .- Whortleberries, commonly called huckleberries, dried, are a useful medicine for children. Made into tea and sweetened with molasses, they are very beneficial, when the system is in a restricted state, and the digestive powers out of order.

The Feet-Should be washed in cold water every morning, and wiped very dry. Stockings, if too small, cripple the feet as surely as small shoes. Always be careful to give the foot room enough, and you will be rarely troubled with corns. When the toe-nails have a tendency to turn in, so as to be painful, the nail should always be kept scraped very thin, and as near the flesh as possible. As soon as the corner of the nail can be raised up out of the flesh, it should be kept from again entering, by putting a tuft of fine lint under it.

For Sore Fect .- The thin white skin which comes from suet, is excellent to bind upon the feet, for chilblains. Rubbing with Castile soap, and afterwards with honey, is likewise highly recommended empire coffee pot. Simple and Economical!

ANY attempts have been made to produce M a Coffee Pot capable of condensing and retaining the aroma and strength of the Coffee ordinarily wasted by evaporation, and yet be simple enough to come within the limits of or-dinary comprehension. Hitherto this desirable end has been very imperfectly attained, and by means difficult to explain and understand.

THE OLD EMPIRE COFFEE POT has none of those faults; on the contrary it is nas none of those lattis; on the contrary it is so arranged as to condense perfectly, and there-by retain all the rich fragrance and strength of the Coffee, giving a most delicious beverage at a quarter less expense, and yet is so perfectly a quarter less expense, and yet is so perfectly simple that it is actually impossible to make any mistake. A child can comprehend the whole thing perfectly. All who have used this Coffee Pot are delighted with its great simplicity and excellence. For sale at the Tin and Stove Store of West's Patent galvande cement For Roofing.

THE undersigned having purchased the right for this Cement in Mifflin and Centre counties, is now prepared to furnish and put it on roofing wherever desired—the roof being sheeted by the owner. Scientific men and the direction of government, and architects and builders in various parts of the country, for years have been studying and experimenting to discover some composition studying and experimenting to discover some composition or article for roofing, which would resist the changes of our climate, and would unite the qualities of imperviousness to water, incombustibility, durability and cheapness. No article now in use possesses these qualities. Shingles are not fire proof, and cannot be used on flat roofs. Since can only be used upon steep roofs. The contraction, x pansion and rusting of metallic roofs are so great in this changeable climate that they soon become worthless, or the repairs will cost more than a new roof. The various cements and compositions which have been introduced can be supplied only to very flat roofs, and they are all so affected by the action of the weather that they will met and run in summer and crack in winter, and in a short time become crumbly and worthless. The inventor of the Galvanic Cement has labored twenty years to obviate these difficulties, and it is believed by those who have these difficulties, and it is believed by those who have had opportunities to test the matter, that he has entirely succeeded. As now applied,

First—It is completely impervious to water. Water may continually stand upon the roof without affecting it in the least.

Second—It is fire proof. It is so incombustible that it will offer a nonleast part profest proceedings.

will afford ample and perfect protection against fire, sparks and burning shingles from another building mimediately adjoining.

Third—It is durable. It is not injured by atmospheric changes, having been tested for several years by the patentee, at Syracuse, New York.

Fourth—It is cheap. Roofs will be put on for about half the cost of tin, and will last much longer. Fifth—Repairs are easily and cheaply made.

Sixth—It is sufficiently elastic to entirely resist the expansion and contraction by heat and cold, and will renain perfect and solid in the warmest or coldest weather Seventh-It is adapted to all kinds of roefs, either flat r steep.

Eighth—It is valuable for repairing old roo's Old shipgle roofs may be covered without removing the shingles.

Old metallic roofs can be made perfectly tight and secure.
Ninth-It is especially adapted to all kinds of reaming around battlements, sky lights and chimneys, and for the lining of eave troughs and gutters. Roofs which have given trouble for years, and which have continued to leak in spite of all efforts, can be made perfectly secure by this cement.

Tenth—It has been proved to be the best article ever used for covering car tops and stramboat decks.

Eleventh—This cement applied to new tin roofs preserves them from rusting, by furnishing a coat which is at once impervious to water and an almost perfect nor onductor of heat.

Twelfth—It is the only roofing material patented which contains India rubber and gutta percha. For parliculars of this cement, owners of property will please address jy14 Lewistown, Pa
