Lincoln and "Sectionalism"
Mr. Benjamin, of Louisiana, in his late speech in the Senate of the United States, said that he thought Lincoln was to be preferred to Douglas for the Presidency.

Dr. E. E., Baltimore, will please forward $5, which will pay for the advertisement spoken of.

At Freeport, Illinois, on the 27th August, 1858, Mr. Lincoln made the following reply to Senator Douglas' bill of indictment against him as an abolitionist; and that being the only allegation made against him at this time—his honesty, purity, and ability, being conceded—we hope that every person who wishes to know Mr. Lincoln as he is, will read it carefully.

am not pledged at all upon any of the points to which I have answered. But I am not disposed to hang upon the exact form of his interrogatory. I am rather disposed to take up at least some of these questions, and state what I really think upon them.

As to the first one in regard to the Fugitive Slave Law, I have never hesitated to say, and I do not now hesitate to say, that I think, under the Constitution of the United States, the people of Southern States are entitled to a Congressional Fugitive Slave Law.

The third interrogatory is answered by the answer to the second, it being, as I conceive, the same as the second.

per one year, at the end of which time you will have a volume which you would not part with for treble its cost. The publishers express their willingness to mail a single copy of the paper to such as may wish to see it without charge.

THE LIFE OF GENERAL SAMUEL HOUSTON, with numerous plates, has just issued from the press of Mr. G. G. Evans, Philadelphia. It has been laid on our table. It seems to have been the desire of the author of this work, to do full justice to American valor and patriotism, and to present truthful pictures of that memorable war, and of the great Chief, who sprung from the people, a frontier warrior, without science, art or experience in military affairs, but enabled by his stout heart, his sagacious intellect, and his ardent patriotism, to repel, punish and nearly destroy a more numerous and more powerful foe than were ever sent forth by any power on the earth.

THE LIFE OF THE EMPRESS JOSEPHINE, with a fine portrait and other plates, written by C. B. Harley, Esq., has also been forwarded to us by the publisher, Mr. G. G. Evans, Philadelphia. The Empress Josephine was one of the most remarkable characters of the extraordinary characters who rose into conspicuous positions in consequence of the French Revolution. Her brilliant talents, her elegant and brilliant manners, and her most noble and disinterested heart, have rendered her name a household word, and her life a subject of interest to all who are fond of history.

SEWING MACHINES.
SLOAT'S
ELIPTIC LOCK STITCH
SEWING MACHINES.

THE subscriber after considerable search for a Sewing Machine for his own use, has one of the above now in operation, which are noted for their simplicity and strength. They Stitch, Hem, Bind, Fell and Gather without lusting, making the stitch alike on both sides of the work. They sew equally well the lightest and heaviest fabric with any spool thread or silk. We feel warranted in recommending them as the very best now in the market for every useful purpose in a family, for a Dressmaker, Tailor, or Shirt Maker.
