

THE HOUSEKEEPER.

From Peterson's Magazine for August.
Wagner Salve—For Tetter, Ringworm, &c.—Take equal quantities of the inside bark of elder, sharp-pointed dock root, and green camomile. Bruise them well in a mortar, and place them in a vessel over a slow fire, with a sufficient quantity of fresh lard, or butter, (free from salt). After the substance is well extracted from the ingredients, put in a small tablespoonful of soot, and stir the whole well together. Then strain the liquor, and stir into it a tablespoonful of tar, and the same quantity of sulphur, stirring it until it grows cold. If the weather be cold, rub the part affected before the heat entirely leaves the salve.

Syrup of R'ubarb—Take a quarter of an ounce of sliced r'ubarb, a quarter of an ounce each of mace and nutmeg, a tablespoonful of anise seed, and a little saffron. Put all the ingredients into a pint of water, and let it stew until the r'ubarb is quite soft; then add a pound of loaf sugar—and let it stew a little longer, and then put in two spoonfuls of spirits. This may be given to children for vomiting, or a bad bowel complaint. The dose is a teaspoonful every half hour, or every hour, according to the symptoms.

Spice Plaster—The ingredients are: Two tablespoonfuls of flour, two tablespoonfuls of powdered ginger, two spoonfuls of ground allspice, and two spoonfuls of cloves. Mix the ingredients thoroughly together, and make the mixture into a poultice by means of some hot spirits; brandy, or whiskey. Apply the plaster to the region of the stomach, as warm as can be borne; it is best to place some gauze over the plaster, in order to prevent the mixture from falling off.

Wine Bitters, No. 1—Take four ounces of gentian root, eight ounces orange, or lemon peel, dried, and half an ounce of coriander seed; pound them well, and put them into a gallon of brandy, adding two drachms of cochineal, rubbed to a powder. Stand it in a warm place, and shake it frequently. It will be fit for use in a few days.

Wine Bitters, No. 2—The ingredients are: Gentian root, one pound, of orange peel, half a pound, coriander seed, two ounces, cardamom seed, two ounces, red sanders, one ounce, whisky, two gallons.

Tar Ointment—Take the suet of one quarter of mutton; roast it before the fire and whilst roasting, baste it with three tablespoonfuls of tar. When the fat is fully extracted, mix it well with the tar, and when nearly cold, stir in one tablespoonful of sulphur. A cure for ringworms, &c.

Cholera Morbus—(Said to be a certain cure.)—The ingredients are: One glassful of molasses, one glassful of spring water, and three tablespoonfuls of ginger. Mix them all together, and take it. It is said to afford immediate relief.

For Piles—Two tablespoonfuls of tar, eight tablespoonfuls of lard, not heaped. First wash the parts affected with castile soap and water, and then apply the ointment. The ointment should be used once or twice each day.

From Godey's Lady's Book for August.
Beef, Mutton, or Lamb Pie—Take three pounds of the veiny piece of beef that has fat and lean, or of the chops from a loin or neck of mutton; wash it, and season it with salt, pepper, mace, and allspice in fine powder, rubbing them well in, adding a very little onion or shallot chopped, and, if approved, a few pickled mushrooms. Set it by the side of a slow fire, in a stewpot that will just hold it; put to it a piece of butter, about two ounces, and cover it quite close; let it just simmer in its own steam till it commences to shrink. When it is cold, add more seasoning, foremost, and boiled eggs, and, if it is in a dish put some gravy to it before baking; but if it is only in crust, do not put the gravy till after it is cold and in jelly. Cover with common short crust or puff paste. For meat may be put both under and over the meat, if preferred to balls.

Beef's oak Pie—Prepare the steaks by cutting into long strips, and, when seasoned as above, and rolled with fat in each, put them in a dish with paste round the edges; put a little water or gravy in the dish, and cover it with a good short crust or puff paste, which must be pressed down upon that part around the edge. A few oysters mixed with the beef are a great improvement, adding their liquor to their water or gravy.

Veal Pie—Take some slices of a knuckle of veal, lay them at the bottom of a pie dish, with alternate layers of ham or bacon; season between each layer with pepper, salt, and portions of hard boiled eggs cut in slices, between the meat; fill up the dish in this way, then pour in some gravy made from the bones, with a little mushroom catsup and a very small quantity of sauce; cover with short crust or good puff paste, and bake.

A Richer Veal Pie—Cut steaks from a knuckle of veal; season them with pepper, salt, nutmeg, and a very little clove in powder; slice two sweatbreads and season them in the same manner; lay a puff paste on the ledge of the dish; then put the meat, yolks of hard eggs, the sweatbreads, and some oysters, up to the top of the dish; lay over the whole some very thin slices of ham, and half fill the dish with stock made from the bones; cover, and when it is taken out of the oven, pour it in at the top through a funnel, a few spoonfuls of good veal gravy and some cream, to fill up; but first boil it with a teaspoonful of flour.

THE reputation of these very celebrated vegetable remedies is now unequalled by any others in this country or in Europe. They are fully established as the most universal family medicine now in use, and they will maintain their pre-eminence known by the intrinsic and comprehensive virtues which acquired it. The usual modes of puffery would be unworthy of them and is unnecessary. Thousands and tens of thousands of persons now living in perfectly restored health can testify, as thousands have testified, to their prompt and decided efficacy not only in all ordinary derangements of health, from Impaired Digestive Functions, Costiveness, Bilious and Liver Complaints, Rheumatic and Inflammatory Colds, Coughs, Nervous Weakness, Loss of Appetite, Failure of Flesh, Headache and Impure State of the Blood and other fluids, but also in Rheumatism, Fever and Ague, Cholera, Pleurisy, Palpitation of the Heart, Rush of Blood to the Head, Settled Pains in the Joints, Limbs and Organs, Affections of the Bladder and Kidneys, Jaundice, Dropsy, Piles (however inveterate), Habitual Costiveness, Scour and Bilious Looseness, Obstinate Headache and Giddiness, and an immense number of other maladies. They require no dieting nor confinement, are perfectly mild and pleasant in their operation, but will powerfully restore health—the greatest of earthly blessings—to the most exhausted and dilapidated constitutions.
