A Mother's Love.

a single touch that is bestowed upon you by that gentle hand! Make the most of it while yet you have the most precious of all good gifts, a loving mother. Read the unfathomable love of those eyes; the kind anxiety of that tone and look, however slight your pain. In after life you may have friends, fond, dear, kind friends; but never will you have again the inexpressible love and gentleness lavished upon you which none but a mother bestows. do I sigh, in my struggles with the hard, uncaring world, for the sweet, deep security I felt, when of an evening, nestling to her bosom, I listened to some quiet tale suitable to my age, read in her tender and untiring voice. Never can I forget her sweet glances cast upon me when I appeared to sleep; never her kiss of peace at night! Years have passed away since we laid her beside my father in the cold churchyard; yet still her voice whispers from the grave, and her eye watches over me as I visit spots long since hallowed to the memory of my mother.

How to Take Life.

Take it just as though it was-as it isan earnest, vital and important affair .-Take it as though you were born to the task of performing a merry part in it, as though the world had waited for your com-Take it as though it was a grand opportunity to do and to achieve, to carry forward great and good schemes; to help and cheer a suffering, weary it may be, heart-broken brother. The fact is, life is undervalued by a great majority of mankind. It is not made half so much of as should be the case. Where is the man or the woman who accomplishes one tittle of what might be done? Who cannot look as Toilet Sets, Tea Sets, Dinner Sets, &c. at back upon opportunities lost, plans unachieved, thoughts crushed, aspirations unfulfilled, and all caused by the lack of necessary and possible effort! If we knew better how to do and to make the most of it, it would be better than it is. Now and then a man stands aside from the crowd. labors earnestly, steadfastly, confidently, and straightway becomes famous for wisdom, intellect, skill, greatness of some sort. T. M. UTTLEY, Aud. it only illustrates what others may do, if they take hold of life with a purpose. The miracle of power that elevates the few is to be found in their industry, application and perseverance, under the promptings of a brave, determined spirit.

The Strength of Silence.

It is a great art in the Christian life to learn to be silent. Under opposition, rebukes, injuries, still be silent. It is better to say nothing, than to say it in an excited and angry manner, even if the occasion should seem to justify a degree of anger. By remaining silent, the mind is enabled to collect itself, and to call upon God in secret aspirations of prayer. And thus you will speak to the honor of your holy profession, as well as to the good of those who have injured you, when you speak

It is worthy of remark that men who have nothing to do seldom have any leisure, while those earnestly engaged latter have leisure because they attend to their own business and nothing else; the former want leisure because they do not attend to their own business, but to every

As the same sunlight tints the flowers and colors the rocks-and alternately sparkles in the dew-drop and shines in the broad ocean-so the true religious spirit is as much as in the grand songs of Hebrew bards and the profound teachings of St. Paul the Apostle, those ancient headlands for settlement. of Christian thought.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE decision of Judge Nelson, at Cooperstown, (this day announced) having been circulated broadcast over the country, we doem it our duty to state that this decision of an inferior and petty Court, extending its influence over only the Southern District of New York, has been virtually annulled or reversed, so far as the Sloat Sewing Machine Company is concerned, by the recent decision cuit Court of the U.
