The North and the South.

The election of Lincoln has called forth the anathemas of Southern fire-eaters, and we once more find South Carolina assuming the same attitude of rebellion in which she stood when Gen. Jackson with a single note of warning put down the schemes of a band of reckless traitors. In some respects it is different now. Instead of an iron willed President who declared the "Union must and shall be preserved," we have a weak and vascillating man at the head of government, who keeps in office some of the tory miscreants who sympathize and perhaps aid and abet the It is on this, no doubt, the Yancys Rhetts, they can carry out the scheme of "precipitating the cotton States into a revolution' without interference on the part of James which answers this query.

If these principles, when held by such men, were consistent with fraternal relations and Union, in the earlier days of the Republic, it is difficult to conceive how they of themselves can furnish just cause for dissolution now. Examining, in this way, this vexed and vexatious subject of We have also set a limit in Mifflin county, beyond which disunion on account of Lincoln's election, the conclusion is inevitable, that neither the mode of his election, nor his record as a public man, nor the authoritative exposition of the principles of the party by which he was supported, furnishes any tenable ground on which any of the Southern States can justify their alleged purpose to secede. This is the Northern view, and, if our Southern brethren could only contemplate it calmly, those who would not admit its entire and perfect reasonableness would be very few indeed.

The Southern Treason.

To Consumptives.—The advertiser, having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchuits, &c. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription will please address Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON, nos. Williamsburgh, Kings Gounty, New York.

> Reduced by Dyspepsia to a mere Skeleton. Cared by Barhave's Holland Bittors—Mr. A. Matchet, a trader, probably as well known as any man in Western Pennsylvanna, states as follows.: "I met with a farmer in Armstrong county who was reduced by dyspepsia to a mere skeleton. I persuaded him to buy a bottle of Bærhave's Holland Bitters, believing it would cure him. Meeting him some months after, what was my astonishment at finding him a hale, hearty man: he told me he now weighed 200 pounds, and that this wonderful change had been produced by Bærhave's Holland Bitters, to which he attributed solely his restoration." ly his restoration.'
