part of to-day's paper, refers to a line or two we published a few weeks ago in which we called recess in schools a nuisance. It is used for another purpose by the writer, but as he somewhat mistakes our meaning, we will refer to recess more particularly. It is not alone the noise which renders recess in our neighborhood a nuisance. The yelling, hooting, and screeching are bad enough in all conscience, but this might be borne if unaccompanied by other acts as annoying as they are mischievous; we refer sale by Charles Ritz-25 cents per box. to stone throwing, to pounding fences, doors, and buildings; to scratching and marking buildings, doors, porches, steps, &c., with nails, chalk, kale, pencils, &c.; to dirty language and fighting and quarrelling. To such an extent have all these been carried that property in the immediate neighborhood of the schoolhouses westward of our office has depreciated in value, so that none who know aught of these maters could be induced to purchase on any erms on either side. For our part we ould not take the three houses below our as a gift, conditioned merely that we ould live in one. Another annoyance to e whole neighborhood is a continual runng for water at hydrants-the school oard being ready enough to tax water ock for school purposes, but too penuri s to make some provision for procung water, being willing it seems that it all be taken by a species of petty larce-, a "lesson" we should think highly adntageous to the rising generation in a oral point of view! Such are the facts lative to recesses. Were the teachers stroll out among the children while panmonium is let loose, their presence ght do much to restrain, not innocent eation, but positive mischief. We are ends of the teachers, there being not one ng them all to whom we would not erfully do a favor if in our power, and ak it in sincerity when we say that we sion with a bear in the Narrows bethis place, and the engineer being somet of a sportsman returned to the spot t morning, tracked the animal to the r, got a skiff and crossed over, and disered Mr. Bruin somewhat crippled from effect of his collision with the locomobut in no humor to yield. A rifle further disabled him, when a large dog was set upon the bear, but the being rather roughly handled, in fact pletely licked, the engineer jumped uphe bear's back and cut the animal's at with a large knife. The bear weigh-280 lbs. We also hear of one being d by Vanormer near McAllisterville, the indications are that this species of e is unusually plenty on Shade and r mountains in this neighborhood.

SURVIVE OR PERISH.

The Sciences of Life or Death .- We observe that a machine for easting bullets, capable of turning out one hundred and sixty balls per minute, has been started at Washington .-Twice as much attention is paid to the science of killing as that of curing. More than five bundred instruments of wholesale destruc tion have been patented within the last twenty years, and only two great curatives, Holloway's Pills and Ointment, have been introduced within that time. It would seem however, that these medicines pretty fairly balance the account between the healing art and the science of destruction. The proba bility is, that they save a much greater number of lives than patent rifles, pistols and cannon destroy; and as their consumption is increasing in almost geometrical ratio in this country, the odds in their favor are augmenting every year. The late California papers represent these remedies as accomplishing the most extraordinary cures in that State and especially in the placers, wet and dry. That most tenacious of internal diseases, dys entery, is said to have lost all its terrors in the eyes of the miners, since the introduc tion of the Pills; and the virulent eruptions are friends of the children, but we in excavations half filled with water, under a hot sun, are so rapidly reduced by the application of the Ointment, that the diggers a ald not like a child of ours to take les- less careful than they ought to be to avoid exposure.
