CHURCH DEDICATION .- The M. E. Church, at Freedom Forge, will be dedicated to the worship of Almighty God, on Sunday next, 16th December. Services will be held at 11 o'clock A. M, 3 and 7 P. M. All persons are cordially invited to be present. Rev. Dr. H. M. Johnson. President of Dickinson College, Rev. Dr. A. A. Reese, of Baltimore, Rev. J. A. Gere, J. ANOTHER ACCIDENTAL FALL .- Dr. T. Worrall fell last week while returning home with some toys for his little girl, putting his wrist bone out of place and also somewhat injuring his hip bone. Our payements have been in bad condition for several days in consequence of occasional snow squalls and alternate thawing and freezing, so that too much care cannot be exercised by pedestrians.

The question of building a new chool house, large enough to put all the schools in one building, is now in agitation. It may be well enough to talk about it, but This creates a debt to be paid anwe question the policy of engaging in that approvement for some years to come, as the times are too much out of joint, and money too scarce even among well-to-do people. We would rather see State, counberough and school taxes reduced as low as possible, and everything not absolutely necessary to be done dispensed with, than to see an increase of taxes in any with the taxpayers at the spring election, by a viva voce vote, which would enable the directors to form some estimate as to the sentiments of those who will have to bear the brunt of taxation for new build-COSTAR'S RAT EXTERMINATOR .- We had occasion a week or two ago to use this remedy, and since then have not a rat about the house. Its effect was like magic, and we therefore confidently recommend it to our readers who are annoyed with these pests as preferable to arsenic or anything else heretofore used. For the Gazette. Mr. Editor.—In your last issue and in the last "Democrat," I was gratified to see several well written articles on the necessity of having ample and better accommodations for our Public Schools. I cannot help feeling an interest in common with all the citizens of the borough in anything that affects the proper education of our children, and the judi cious expenditure of money taken from our pockets. It is easy to find fault, but sometimes hard to suggest proper remedies. I be-lieve our Directors manage the schools with as just a regard to the interests of all parties as they can under the circumstances. The teachers employed are as faithful and as competent as the teachers in Common Schools anywhere; yet the schools are not as efficient as they should or might be-in plain words, we pay too much for too little."

Your correspondent writes good sense when he ascribes this evil to the want of suitable school buildings. There must be some adaption of means to the end proposed. Long ago, when the Egyptians were in the brick business, the hands complained that they could not make brick without straw, so now our teachers say we cannot teach your child ren until you find suitable places wherein to teach them.

The old armory building, where three schools have been kept, (one by careful gra-ding in the other schools has been dispensed with) is wholly unfit for use; the same is true of the stone school house; to repair either of these would be a waste of money. The seven remaining rooms (although not what they should be) may answer, but they are so scattered in location that it is impossible to grade the pupils so as to render teaching in them either economical or efficient. Three, if not four schoolhouses are needed now. This number would meet our present necessities, if the miserable policy of erecting a school house whenever a vacant place can be found is persisted in. Should we do this? Would not this be only a repetition of old mistakes? In the practical working of this plan, no division of labor, either equal or economical, can be made amongst teachers, nor can there be any proper general grading or classification of scholars thus scattered in rooms all over town. Mr. Smith, the County Superintendent, after much laber and vexation, has in some degree graded and classified our schools, and thus enabled the directors to dispense with one entire school, but for reasons we have stated he says the grading and classification is very imperfect, and must be so. The evil then lies, it seems to me, in the want of one "commodious school building," where all the children of the borough may be properly graded and classified, and the teachers and schools placed under the general supervision of a responsible and competent superintendent. Experience has led to the adoption of this policy in the Eastern States, and to some extent in our own State, with these apparent results; 1st. The comfort and health of both the teachers and children are promoted. 2d. Teachers are enabled to classify children bet ter, teach them better, and more of them, and thus lessen the number of teachers required. 3d. The cost of teaching can be reduced from 15 to 20 per cent. 4th. In our case there is this special reason: if the old system is ever to be abandoned, this would seem to be the time to enter upon the new, and save the ex pense we must incur in the erection of the four rooms now needed. We now come to the dollars and cents involved in the project What its to cost, and how its to be paid for? are ugly questions for taxpayers in the face of a stringent money market in these tight and somewhat troublesome times. As my words neither bind myself nor anybody else, we will estimate the cost of a suitable building, a round, &c., at $15,000. Such a one would not only be large enough for our present necessities, but would in some degree meet our prospective wants. The assessment of a tax of 22 to 3 mills is sufficient to keep whole expense of building upon the present taxpayers. The burthen arising from this to some extent should be thrown forward upon those who succeed us, who derive as much benefit from this outlay as we do ourselves. The school property should be worth in cash the schools open six months in the year. Now what extra assessment would be required for building purposes? Here we may observe that it would be very unjust to impose the

A tax of 2½ mills would preduce nually of 1000 per year in 10

10,000

A tax of 2½ mills would more than pay the first instalment and interest on the debt, and each successive tax would be less—the last assessment would be a fraction over one mill. Thus, by a tax never exceeding 5 mills, and falling in the end to 3%, the means could be provided to pay the current expenses of our schools, pay the building debt, and place our Common Schools in a state of efficiency they shape. The matter however might be left have not yet attained, and can never attain under the present system. I am aware times are hard, but the necessity is upon us, we must build something.

In conclusion I must agree with your correspondent of last week that the erection of a building and the organization of our schools on some such plan as detailed by him, would be a saving of money in the end, to say noth ing of the higher interests promoted for all time.

Gin as a Remedial Agent.

Gin, as a remedial agent, has been in favor with the profession for a very long period, but owing to the difficulty of obtaining a pure article, it has fallen into disuse, in many tions of the country, much to the regret of medical men, who consider it almost a specific in very many diseases. For all cases of Gravel, pure gin, if administered under professional guidance, will certainly work a cure. and if taken as a preventative, acting, as it does, on the sensitive membrane, it cleanses the parts so as to remove all possible sedi ment. Admiristered in the same way, it will present the formation of Calculi, and do away with those terrible operations heretofore so necessary for their permanent removal. is of incalculable benefit to females in those diseases so peculiar to the sex, and from its tonic, as well as its anodyne properties, it is frequently superior to iron bark, or even the electrical remedies. In cases of a positive tendency to Phthisis, or Consumption, Gin, in proper quanties, by supplying or filling up to constant dying out of the natural fire of the system, will often entirely ward off that awful disease, which carries off one-eighth of the population of the United States annually. Pure Gin has this peculiar advantage over other diffusible stimuli, that it exhilirates without creating any thirst of an unhealthy character-it soothes, while it also excites, and is a powerful nervine, as well as an ac

It is evidently the product of very careful distillation-the active principle-the juniper berry, being so blended as to give to the spirit a very delicate, fruity and aromatic flavor. In the course of a practice of ten years I have had occasion to test many of the Gins in the market, and after a very careful examination of numerous samples, have decided that "BININGER'S OLD LONDON DOCK GIN" has no equal. Really good Gin is indispensable in every household, and the Old London Dock comes emphatically under that head.
