AGRICULTURAL,

Look to Your Trees.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." At this season of the year, when the trees, and more especially the fruit trees, are denuded of their summer foliage, the time is most propitious and opportune to make those necessary examinations as to insect eggs, which the health and the prosperity of the tree and its fruit erop during the coming season demands. The trees being entirely divested of leaves, other objects concealed during the summer are now exposed to view, and hang out in bold relief, inviting our efforts in behalf of their immediate removal. The pendent follicles of the 'drop worm' of the last season are now particularly conspicuous. True, many of them are deserted habitacula of the males, but many or all of those large plump ones contain the pupa case or the female, filled with eggs in many instances numbering from two to four or five hundred, each of which contains in embryo, a young 'drop worm' that will be excluded therefrom about the 20th of May next, or as soon as there is heat and foliage sufficient to hatch and sustain them. These follicles should all be carefully clipped off with a pair of sharp pruning or other shears, fixed to a pole long enough to reach them, and then all carefully burned.

But in addition to these, there are other enemies to vegetation that may in some measure be circumvented by a little prevention at the proper time. The eggs of the 'American Tent Caterpillar,' the female of which deposits from three to five hundred in number, in a girdle around the smaller branches of apple, pear and cherry trees, are now also distinctly visible, where they exist, if a close examination be instituted. It is well known that these caterpillars appear sometimes in large numbers very suddenly, and in an incredibly short space of time spin a web over the leaves and feed at leisure, free from interruption or injury by wind or rain. Where these appear on a tree they ought to be immediately removed by clipping off the branch affected with pruning shears, and burning or singeing them in a smart fire; but by far the better plan is to remove the eggs. These girdles of eggs can be seen as plainly and almost at as great a distance as a bracelet can be seen on a lady's wrist.

The eggs of plant-lice or ophids, and those of bark-lice or coccide, may also be seen on a close inspection, and those on small trees can be removed by an application of soap suds applied with a stiff brush thoroughly rubbed on. Every pleasant day during this and the coming month should be devoted to this work.—Farmer and Gardener.

The inquires are, first, is it a fact of my habitation and name, as stated in the communication; second, is it true of all therein contained; third, does my hair still continue to be in good order and of natural color? To all I can and do answer, invariably yes. My hair is even better than in any stage of my bits for forty years past, more soft, thrifty, and better-colored; the same is true of my whiskers, and the only eause why it is not generally true, is that the substance is washed off by frequent ablution of the face, when if care were used by wiping the face in close connection with the whiskers, the same result will follow as the hair. I have been in the receipt of a great number of letters from all parts of New England, asking me if my hair still continues to be good; as there is so much fraud in the manufacture and sale of various compounds as well as this, it has, no dout, been basely imitated and been used, not only without any good effect, but to absolute injury. Egypt, by the English traveller Wilkinson, who sent it to the British Museum. The librarian there having unfortunately broken it, discovered in it a few grains of wheat and one or two peas, old, wrinkled, and as hard as stone. The peas were planted carefully under glass on the 4th of June, 1844, and on the 4th day of July of the same year, these old seeds were seen to TOBACCO and Segars-good qualities at spring up into new life. They had been buried probably about 3,000 years ago, perhaps in the time of Moses, and had slept all that long time, apparently dead, yet still living in the dust of the tomb.
