LOCAL AFFAIRS.

DINNER FOR THE SOLDIERS.—In pursuance of arrangements made with Major D. Eisenbise to provide dinner for our returned soldiers, tables were set in the hall of the Court House on Friday afternoon...

RECEPTION OF THE BURNS INFANTRY.—On Friday morning the same programme as that accorded to the Logan Guards was followed in receiving Captain Zollinger and such of his men as belonged here or in the neighborhood.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A gentleman who visited the scene of the late railroad accident at Manayunk, six miles west of McVeytown, on Thursday morning, informs the Harrisburg Telegraph that on his arrival there he found a train consisting of eight passenger cars, one Adams' Express car, and one baggage car, attached to which were two locomotives.

It is said that Washington is full of traitors and spies; that many of those holding subordinate positions in the Departments, are avowed secessionists or sympathizers, and that many of the spies are females who keep up a constant correspondence with the rebels.

Death of Bishop Bowman.—The Right Rev. Samuel Bowman, Assistant Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church, of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, died suddenly on Saturday, while on a trip from Pittsburgh to Butler, in this State.

The Duquesne depot of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Co., at Pittsburgh, accidentally took fire on the 30th July, and was entirely consumed with all its contents.

stomach. Charles Miller, who was standing on the platform at the moment of the accident, jumped off, and striking the embankment, was thrown under the cars, and killed instantly.

A MEMENTO OF BULL'S RUN.—The New York Herald contains a diary of two young soldiers of the rebel army, named G. T. and S. J. Anderson, of Huntsville, Alabama, which was found in the breast pocket of one of them as he lay dead on the battle field of Bull's Run.

Mr. Cash, M. F. Hanaker (who was the first man wounded at Falling Waters,) and John W. Henderson (lately in the service in Western Virginia,) are the only natives of Lewistown, so far as we know, who got into actual warfare, and all three, we are pleased to say, behaved with a gallantry worthy of tried soldiers.

Lieut. R. W. Patton having returned from the war, is again at his post, and is now ready to greet all his old friends and customers, as well as supply them with watches, jewelry, fancy articles, &c.

The Millin County Cavalry are to leave to-day for Harrisburg. Captain Zollinger is recruiting for a company of Infantry to go into the service in Col. Wm. H. Irwin's regiment, and we hear also of others who are raising men for the war.

Lieut. F. R. Sterrett, having testified his love for the Union by taking into his care and keeping one of the daughters of Kishacoquillas Valley, left with his bride on Tuesday evening for Lake City, Minnesota.

It is said that Washington is full of traitors and spies; that many of those holding subordinate positions in the Departments, are avowed secessionists or sympathizers, and that many of the spies are females who keep up a constant correspondence with the rebels.

A Glance at the Southern Confederacy.

The new order of things in the Southern Confederacy is pressing heavily on the ingenuity of the leaders there. It is taxing their utmost energies, and calling into exercise a good deal that is bitterly oppressive, by way of doubles, of enabling their followers to learn how much they have gained by the changes going forward.

Alas, what a pity it is that so much of this Richmond talk is only the most sublimated nonsense, "tubs thrown out to gull the whale." What a pity that the same complaint comes up from Richmond and Memphis, and Charleston and New Orleans—the very hot-beds of the new heresy—to the effect that patriotism persists in being slow to gird on its armor—that in every case where it can be ventured upon the column has to be swelled by means so despotic that they would not be tolerated to day in half the monarchies of the Old World.

The grand frolic which began on the memorable 12th of April in Charleston has seared down into a dull and unpleasant reality; and no cooking, it seems, can induce the "healthy, vigorous man" alluded to from continuing the performance that opened so joyously, Tennessee, too, the "Volunteer State" par excellence, of Gen. Jackson's day, has felt constrained to piece out her forces by impressing the free negroes of the State between the ages of fifteen and fifty, and this by a special act of the Legislature.

We know what has been done in Virginia—that the lords of Maryland have fairly swarmed with Virginians being from the stringent effects of Gov. Letcher's proclamations. And so far as "supplies for the army" are an index of the mode of doing things, Gen. Beauregard's recent army order authorizing "constraint to be employed" by way of seizing on the last resources left to the despoiled people of Loudoun county, illustrates the whole story.

There is another evidence of weakness recently developed which is too significant not to merit special mention, and that is the cotton circular republished in our last of the New Orleans Crescent of the 23d ult., in which "every cotton factor of New Orleans" recommends to the planters not to ship a bale of cotton to that city until the blockade is raised.

It is said that Washington is full of traitors and spies; that many of those holding subordinate positions in the Departments, are avowed secessionists or sympathizers, and that many of the spies are females who keep up a constant correspondence with the rebels.
