

THE HOUSEKEEPER.

Indian Corn Bread.

The editor of the American Agriculturist offered three prizes, of $10, $5, and $2, for the three best specimens of corn bread.—There were two hundred and nineteen competitors! It must have been rather a difficult matter for the judges to decide on the respective merits, as they had to take into consideration the cheapness and little trouble in making, as well as quality of the bread. The first, second and third prize loaves were made as follows:

First Prize Corn Bread.—Take two quarts of corn meal, with about a pint of (thin) bread "sponge," and water enough to wet it. Mix in  $\frac{1}{2}$  pint of wheat flour and a tablespoonful of salt. Let it rise, and then knead well second time. Bake  $1\frac{1}{2}$  hours.

This loaf was of beautiful form, cut light, and was of fair quality when three or four days old. Except in color and difference in taste, it resembled a wheat flour loaf.

Second Prize.—Mix 2 quarts of new corn meal with 3 pints of warm water. Add 1 tablespoonful of salt, 2 tablespoonfuls of sugar, and 1 large tablespoonful of hop yeast. Let it stand in a warm place 5 hours to rise. Then add  $\frac{1}{2}$  pint (1 $\frac{1}{2}$  teacupfuls) of wheat flour and  $\frac{1}{2}$  pint of warm water. Let it rise again  $1\frac{1}{2}$  hours; then pour it into a pan well greased with sweet lard, and let it rise a few minutes. Then bake in a moderately hot oven  $1\frac{1}{2}$  hours. It is best when hot.

This was a beautiful, almost crustless loaf, of a pleasant sweetish taste, and good quality. The bottom part was a little heavy, as if not baked quite enough, or not raised sufficiently, but a commendable bread, and rather more palatable than the previous one.

Third Prize.—Take 2 quarts of white corn meal, 1 tablespoonful of lard, 1 pint of hot water. Mix the lard in water; stir it well, that it may get heated through, and add  $\frac{1}{2}$  pint of cold water. When the mixture is cool enough, add 2 well-beaten eggs, and 2 tablespoonful of home-made yeast. Bake 1 hour in a moderately heated oven. If for breakfast, make over night.

This, owing to the whiteness of the meal and the lightness of the texture, as well as the general appearance of the loaf, greatly resembled the ordinary loaf of wheat bread on our tables, and is worthy of general adoption, where eggs are sufficiently plentiful.

The third prize loaf was of the best quality, and the first prize was the poorest.—But as the latter was the Cheapest, it received the prize. The third prize receipt appears to us excellent.

A prize of $4 was also offered for the best and cheapest corn cake. This was awarded to a cake made as follows:

First Prize Cake.—Take 3 teacupfuls of corn meal, 1 teacupful of wheat flour, 2 tablespoonfuls of brown sugar, 2 teacupfuls of cream of tartar, and 1 teacupful of salt. Mix well together while dry.—Add 1 teacupful of soda (or saleratus) dissolved in warm water. Mix the whole to a thin batter, and bake in a quick oven,  $\frac{1}{2}$  hour. The same batter will bake quicker in patty pans, or on a griddle, like buck-wheat cakes.

A discretionary premium of $2 for the best corn meal cake of any kind, without regard to cost or trouble, was awarded to a cake made as follows:

Best Corn Meal Cake of any Kind.—Take eight eggs and their weight in powdered sugar; the weight of six eggs Indian meal,  $\frac{1}{2}$  lb. butter and 1 nutmeg. Beat the whites and the yolks of the eggs separately, adding the whites last. Bake 1 hour.

The Committee also call attention to a cake or pudding suitable for breakfast, made as follows:

Take 2 cups corn meal, 1 cup wheat flour, 1 teacupful salt, 2 teacupfuls cream tartar, 1 teacupful soda, 3 eggs, 3 tablespoonfuls sugar,  $1\frac{1}{2}$  pints milk, and 1 tablespoonful butter. Rub meal, flour, salt and cream of tartar through a sieve, which will mix them thoroughly.—Then beat the eggs and sugar together, adding to them the butter melted. Next add the milk, and last of all stir in the previously mixed meal, flour, salt, soda and cream of tartar. Bake immediately and rapidly (to secure the escaping gas).—Twenty minutes will finish it in a brisk oven.

Salt in Throat Diseases.
We clip the following from an exchange, which our readers will do well to recollect, as it may be beneficial to them:

In these days when diseases of the throat are so prevalent, and in many cases so fatal, the use of common salt is recommended as an effectual remedy. We commenced by using it three times a day—morning, noon and night. We dissolved a large tablespoonful of pure table salt in about half a tumbler full of cold water. With this we gargled the throat most thoroughly before meal time. The result has been that, during the entire winter, we were not only free from the usual roughs and colds to which, so far as our memory extends, we have always been subject but the dry hacking cough has entirely disappeared. We attribute this satisfactory result entirely to the salt gargle.

The Proprietor in calling the attention of this preparation, does so with a feeling of the utmost confidence in its virtues and adaptation to the diseases for which it is recommended.

It is no new and untried article, but one that has stood the test of a twelve years' trial before the American people, and its reputation and sale are unrivaled by any similar preparations extant. The testimony in its favor given by the most prominent and well known physicians and individuals in all parts of the country is immense, and a careful perusal of the Almanac, published annually by the proprietors, and to be had gratis of any of their agents, cannot but satisfy the most skeptical that this remedy is really deserving the great celebrity it has obtained.
