LOCAL AFFAIRS.

RANDOM ITEMS.—A colored man by the name of Butler died quite suddenly one night last week, which gave rise to a report that he had been poisoned.—Trout fishing opened yesterday, the 15th, and quite a number took advantage to throw in their lines.—The northern sides of the mountains, in the Narrows still present an unbroken sheet of snow, a sight not often witnessed at this time of the year.—There are no market regulations in force at present, the ordinances having been suspended last summer. John Zeigler is the only butcher at present attending market on what used to be the regular days, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The others stick to their shops.—Rev. Mr. Hallowell will preach in the Town Hall, in Lewistown, on Sabbath afternoon, April 20, 1862, at 3 o'clock.

COURT.—The proceedings of the Court last week elicited general commendation for the promptness with which the business was conducted. On the question of license many are disappointed, the judges holding that there is no discretionary power where remonstrances are not made, a position which at once ensured the licensing of several objectionable and useless houses, as the temperance men had taken no measures to get up the only remonstrances which would have availed. Whisky therefore is King for another year, when we hope the ladies will take the matter in hand, and assault the court with a row of signatures that will tell.

Samuel Riddle and James McNeal, who had been convicted of larceny in April, 1859, and escaped from jail before sentence, were re-arrested, and sentenced to the penitentiary at hard labor—Riddle for 2 years and McNeal for 3 years.

L. Buchanan, convicted of larceny, was sentenced to the penitentiary for 1 year.

James McConahy, for same offence, 18 months.

John W. Wilbert, for horse thieving, 2 years and 6 months.

John Valentine, for horse thieving, 3 years.

Frederick Steudley, convicted of selling liquor contrary to law, was sentenced to jail for 10 days and a fine of $100, and costs, but we hear he has been pardoned by the Governor, and that the punishment part, on the recommendation of the Court and other officers.

Geo. Nolte, plead guilty on second count of indictment for keeping a gambling house, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs.

The inmates of school Jacob Bearley and Moses Sapple, for selling liquor to persons of interdicted habits, were ignored.

James Thomas was convicted of furnishing liquor to persons of interdicted habits, but sentence deferred until May. The same party, for gravity of keeping a gambling house, was sentenced to jail for 10 days, the above, was also convicted, but a new trial granted.

Andrew Mayes indicted for keeping a gambling house, returned a true bill. Process issued, but not arrested.

A true bill was returned against Ellis B. Hummel for selling liquor to interdicted persons. Recog. entered to appear at August term.

A true bill was returned against Jacob Hartzler and Jonathan Peacheys, Superintendents of the town, and a true bill was returned against J. A. Murray, for the same offense.

All the applications for license to sell liquors were granted with the exception of Ellis B. Hummel's, continued to August term; Yeager's to May; and Jeffries, at Newton Hamilton, refused.

Frederick Examiner.

We learn by letter, that Captain Taylor's company is now at Warrenton Station, about 70 miles from Alexandria, having experienced a weary march through rain, snow and mud. The Logan Guards are somewhere between Winchester and Edinburg, Virginia, and the Forty Ninth either at Fortress Monroe, or under Gen. McClellan, at Yorktown.

A member of Company F, 107th Pennsylvania Regiment, requests us to say that those who have so much to allege about the Lewistown boys who are in the service, had better shoulder a musket and endure some of the hardships of a soldier's life.

Notices of New Advertisements.

Trees at auction on Tuesday and Wednesday next—An appeal for moneys an interest will be held on 5th May—Attention is requested to the advertisement of B. J. Williams—Joseph Gruver has taken the Black Horse Hotel, opposite the Jail—A new stock of goods has been opened by John Kennedy, agent—Boots and shoes at T. Cox's—Borough statement—Testimony of Ayre's medicines.

CAMP NO. 4, IN THE FIELD,
NEAR FORTRESS MONROE, VA.,
April 1, 1862.

Mr. RICHARD GALLAGHER—

Dear Sir—At this late date I will propose to comply with your request to give you an account of your noble son's sickness and death. I am sorry that I have not been able to do so long before this, from the fact that we have been moving almost ever since you left our camp. I am very happy to be able to say to you that the conduct of your son William from first to last was honorable and praiseworthy, always ready to do any and every duty required of him. He was very much beloved by his company and all who knew him in the regiment. His sickness was brief and severe, and from the first seemed impressed with the conviction that he could not recover, and to this he himself perfectly resigned. I saw him from two to three times during his illness and conversed with him about his soul. He said to me that he was willing to submit to the will of God and only desired to see his father, and asked me to send for you immediately; I promised to do so, and so seemed content. After this his consciousness left him, and he remained in a stupor until he died. I have no hesitation in saying to you and your family that I believe that William is better off now; and you can take comfort from this fact. And let me say to you that you have great reason to be proud of your heroic son. He fell in defense of our national liberties; true, he did not fall on the battlefield—but was ready to do so if called upon. He was heroic, generous and brave, and his name is already enroled among the brave defenders of our glorious flag.

And I would say to you and your family, be comforted with the assurance that William did his duty, and try by the blessing of God to meet him in heaven. I trust, by the grace of God, to meet you all in that better land.

Any other information you may desire I will gladly furnish, as I am all absorbed in the interest of the noble young men that compose this Regiment, and their friends at home, and hope by the blessing of heaven to do them good.

I beg you to excuse the seeming carelessness with which this letter is written, but I assure you we have no conveniences for writing now, as we are on the march.

Yours, very truly,
WM. EARNSHAW,
Chaplain 49th Regt. P. V.

A Pleasant Surprise.

Mr. Editor—After a long and dreary winter, the return of spring always brings with it pleasurable feelings; this is not surprising, because expected. On Monday last I was informed that a lot of goods awaited my order at the Tyrone station; after having them safely delivered at the parsonage, I found to my pleasant surprise that the members of the Lockport Baptist Church had favored me with a donation, consisting of a barrel of flour, a lot of fine potatoes, butter, eggs, meat, and a great many other good things, too numerous to mention. The wife and children were also remembered in the shape of dry goods. This is the second expression of kindness communicated to us, in the shape of a donation, from this charitable band of believers, within the last six months. May our heavenly Father bless them, and cause a still closer attachment in a manner so reprehensible and fraught with so much danger. Besides, they well know, that kissing like charity, blesses both alike. It blesses he that gives, and her that takes.'

NEGRO EQUALITY.

He again alluded to the equality of whites and blacks, and said it was "hard to tell a white man from a nigger in New Orleans." At the same time that the people of New York gave fifty thousand majority for Mr. Lincoln, they gave a majority of two hundred thousand against negro suffrage; "and yet Jackson was elected President by the aid of the votes of the free negroes of Tennessee."

J. B.

I am not superstitious gentlemen, but allow me to tell you that I shall always steer clear of the initials "J. B." J. B. indicates John Breckinridge; J. B. stands for James Buchanan; J. B. suggests Judah Benjamin; J. B. stands for John Bell; and, without in tending to be offensive, I will remind you that J. B. stands for John Brown.

Terrible Warning.

We see it stated in an English paper that Miss Burt, of Glasgow, recently broke her neck in resisting the attempt of a young man to kiss her. This is a fearful warning to young ladies, especially pretty ones. Why will girls peril their delicate necks in absurd endeavors to avoid the application of that delicious and soothing 'two lip' salve, which is an universal corrective of chapped lips, and will ultimately cure the worst form of palpititation of the heart. No ladies of taste or sense will conduct themselves in a manner so reprehensible and fraught with so much danger. Besides, they well know, that kissing like charity, blesses both alike. It blesses he that gives, and her that takes.'
