

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Rev. Mr. Rice, Pastor of the Lutheran congregations at Yeager town and Milroy, has accepted the appointment of Missionary to Africa, tendered to him by the Foreign Missionary Society of the E. V. Lutheran church. He left with his family for his new field of labor on Monday last.

INCENDIARISM.—An attempt was made last week to fire the old store house of D. Conner, esq., at Belleville, but was fortunately discovered at an early hour in the morning by a young man who probably had been out sparring and was on his return home. He promptly gave the alarm, and it was extinguished without much damage to it, though from evident preparations made with straw, &c., it is clear that it was intended to spread rapidly.

The Huntingdon String Band will give a minstrel performance in Lewistown on next Friday evening, when those fond of good music should attend.

Have you been to Patton's lately, where are now exhibited and for sale those beautiful Oil Paintings, which will be disposed of at prices which will surprise every one? Splendid views, gilt frames, at the low price of $3.00 apiece, or lower than it would cost to get a picture of the same stamp framed. He has constantly on hand a large and assorted stock of Photograph Albums, and in short his establishment contains goods of every description usually kept in a Jewelry store. Call and examine, no charge for a thorough eye-search for whatever you want to purchase.

Our Business.—The past six or seven months have been without parallel in job work in the 18 years we have published the Gazette. Our work of this kind was unusually heavy from September to the end of December, but from that time to the present, one or two hands (and times the whole force of the office) have been continually employed on this kind of work, as the following exhibit will show:

Table with 2 columns: No. of Jobs printed in January, February, March. Values: 35, 42, 52.

Total in three months 129. Many of these required thousands of impressions, and our readers can form some judgment in the matter when we state that this number is greater than we have sometimes done in an entire year.

Our subscription too is keeping pace with other matters, having booked four on the last day of the month, making twenty-nine new ones in March; and but for the exorbitant prices of paper, ink, and everything else used in the office and house, we might be laying up considerable for "a rainy day." At this rate we shall soon use up a bundle of paper a week, but as we can now print 2500 as easily as we could six on the old press, everybody in the county may come and subscribe. Terms only $1.50 a year, a gold dollar, or the same amount in silver.

ITEMS.—Rev. Mr. Barnes, who had been delayed for some weeks by the death of one of his children at Wheeling, Va., preached his first sermon in the Methodist church on Sunday last. He made a favorable impression.

It was discovered some days ago that the new lock at McVeytown, in course of construction, was 18 inches too short. Providence put some water in the ditch on Sunday, but when the company will do so, no one as yet appears to know.—The framing of three spans for the new bridge across the river is ready. The old one was stripped of its roofing and weather-boarding some weeks ago.—There is no coal for sale in town now.—Harshbarger's Vineyard has been made a flag station for the accommodation train going east, and for the emigrant and mail train going west. This will save quite a trip for the folks in that region, and enable visitors to that interesting spot to reach it without difficulty.—The number of men supposed to be required to fill the borough quota under the last call was obtained without difficulty.—Several teachers opened private schools in our borough on Monday last.—The sale of Water Stock by the borough will take place this afternoon.—Co. F, 107th Regt, arrived home last evening.—We have had alternate snow and rain during the past week, with cold frosty weather.

Illustrated Missionary Lecture.

Rev. J. L. Holmer will lecture on the Missionary work in Burmah, in the Town Hall, on MONDAY evening next, April 11th, 1864. The lecture will be illustrated by 40 colored Photographic Views, taken by Missionaries from life scenes in Burmah, with the celebrated Calcium Light. The lecture will be opened with prayer, and conducted strictly after a religious order. Admission 15 cents. Children 10 cents. Proceeds for the benefit of Missions.

For the Gazette. Mr. Editor.—Having understood from some friends that an article appeared in your paper a short time since, respecting my recent withdrawal from the M. E. church, and learning also that some misapprehension exists in some quarters as to the mode of my retiring from connection with said church; without intending any reply to the article itself, (as my rate has thus far been not to notice newspaper communications respecting myself, whether true or false, and from which rule I shall not now depart,) I have yet to request, what all honorable Editors are ever ready to grant in all cases of this kind, that you will do me the moral justice to insert in your columns, the following letter, which it is hoped will be sufficient in itself, without any detail of remark, to satisfy all well disposed minds, that I retire, with honor to myself, as well as to the continued success of beloved brethren, and former relationships, from the communion of the Methodist Episcopal church. As I purposely avoid all controversy with the writer in question, it is certainly in keeping with all the rules, that I should ask at your hands, what I trust will not be denied, the publication of the present writing without reply from any source, and especially from a writer who has chosen to attack me "stilo nomine subano." Before submitting this letter however, I will say to all concerned, Mr. Editor, with your permission, that as a minister of the church, I am not conscious, in my public ministrations, of having at any time, wilfully violated any doctrine as held by the East Baltimore Conference, up to its recent session at Altoona, while as a citizen of the State, I have never favored the doctrine of secession, but at all periods of my life, have always been, as I still continue to be, a true friend of the Constitution, the Union and the Laws; and that my true and only ground on the subject of the rebellion, is the fact that the relation of the pastor and his church, is that of the relation of a master and servant, in that the Holy Ghost has recorded in 1st Tim. 6th chap. 1-3 verses; and which every christian minister, by Divine authority is bound to preach, according to the command—"These things teach and exhort." With these remarks, Mr. Editor, I now present the letter for the true understanding of the form in which I have recently seen proper to terminate all further connection with the Methodist Episcopal church.—This letter, the Rev. Samuel Kepler, having for reasons satisfactory to himself withdrawn from the Methodist Episcopal church, at the session of the East Baltimore Conference, held at Altoona, March, 1864, hereby affectionately commended as a minister of the Gospel to all christian people. (True Copy) Given March 9, 1864. J. L. HOLMER, Secretary.

I remain Mr. Editor, Yours &c. SAMUEL KEPLER, Communicated.

A Card. As a number of false statements appear to be in circulation in Union township relative to the appointment of Collector, the following facts will enable any one to comprehend the matter at a glance: At the regular meeting of the commissioners on the 24th of February, Joel Zook, farmer, was appointed collector, and the duplicate was given in both papers that the duplicate would be ready on the 15th of March, and a failure to attend would render the appointment void. As I had understood that some gentlemen were desirous of being appointed, I accordingly returned to the office on the 15th, when, no one having either called, written or spoken of the matter, I met Mr. John Peachey, stated the case to him, and requested that himself and others should select some one who could offer substantial bond, to take it, or, as even then the thirty days notice required by law could no longer be given to persons removing from the district on the first of April, that he should take it himself. I filled up a bond with the name in blank, and gave it to Mr. Peachey, who subsequently returned it properly signed, and I then told him it was too late, and that I was sorry neither in self nor any of my friends had sent me notice of his failure to attend. Mr. Zook to attend, neither Mr. Peachey, nor any one else for him, had suggested his appointment or spoken anything relative to it, until I did so myself. GEORGE FRYSINGER, Clerk to Commissioners. Lewistown, April 6, 1864.

Letter from a Soldier. The writer of the following letter is from Clearfield county, is in the 110th regiment, and has always acted with the "democratic" party. His opinions on the war had been asked by a relative in this county, which elicited a sensible and well-worded reply. It is dated Camp near Culpeper, Jan. 22, 1864.

When the Rebellion broke out the people of the north were ill prepared to crush it, in a fortnight, on account of the advantage taken of them by the southern representatives during the last twenty or thirty years, in consequence of which we were defeated apparently during the year 1862. On account of the failures of the campaigns of 1862, the northern people became discouraged, and on account of the traitorous conduct of a few, many men formed the opinion that the administration was entirely wrong; that the leaders of it were ignorant and blind in regard to the best interest of the nation.

The dismissal of F. J. Porter and the relieving of McClellan added, no doubt, thousands to the same class; the failure of Burnside at "Fredericksburg" was sufficient proof to them that the administration was conducted by a set of scoundrels whose intent was to destroy the country! The "emancipation proclamation" furnished them with the most conclusive evidence that the sole object of the President and his Cabinet, was the destruction of our union and the overthrow of the Republic; but when the spring campaign of 1863 opened, with a new set of officers, and a powerful and well disciplined army, they were soared, being forced to the belief that the authorities were about to strike, in the right place, a blow which would cause the Confederacy to tremble, and foreign nations to doubt of the final triumph of their traitorous scheme. But, again, my opinion is this; that if every northern man had been loyal to his government, or had he even kept quiet, the rebels would have met with discouragement both at home and abroad, and to day tranquility would predominate in every section of our country. When this rebellion commenced, it was the opinion of the leading rebels that assistance would be received from the north, and, indeed, they have not been wholly disappointed. Sometimes I believe that the loyal men, at home, have not contributed as largely to the support of the government as they might have done. Had they supported the civil officers, in the execution of their duties; had they made known to rightful authority, every disloyal man; had they made use of every means in their power to induce discontented men to remain quiet, much good might have been done, and the thin ranks of our army filled without any difficulty. Too much reliance has been placed on the army by the people at home; they have not supposed that they could render any assistance outside of taxpaying. This is a mistaken idea; men at home have fighting to do, as well as the soldiers in the field, but of a different nature. Instead of fighting with firearms, as the soldiers do, they should make use of their tongues in convincing all that the course taken is right. I do not wish to censure any loyal man, but some times I think that much good might have been done by the loyal people in this way.

Now, I will say a word on the folly of many disloyal men. I believe there are men in the northern States who do not wish to take up arms against rebels, for the simple reason that there is danger in so doing, and in order that they might not be expected to join the army have uttered sentiments of disloyalty. This is the height of folly. On account of the utterance of disloyalty in the north, the rebels have been encouraged to strive to their utmost ability to maintain the confederacy until certain periods when they expected a revolt in the north, through which they would be enabled to establish their confederation, and be recognized as a separate country and independent government.

Thank God, they have not enjoyed such success, and I pray this day that their efforts may be foiled and their evil deeds be heaped upon their own heads. Why can any northern man entertain the belief that the Rebels will succeed? What have they accomplished since they began? True, they have invaded Maryland and Pennsylvania, but what has been their gain? They took away with them a few horses, a little money and some grain, but the loss sustained by them in battle will more than balance this. On the other hand, why can any loyal man be discouraged or find fault with the success of the Union army? Can he not see anything that has been accomplished by the steady and strong arm of our army? Let us see if any encouragement can be found by summing up what has been done by the Union forces since the war began. The rebel banner has been carried as far north as Lexington, Mo., at which time they claimed that State, all of Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, in part, all of South Carolina, and the greater part of Virginia. They pretended, that the confederacy was composed of thirteen States. They have been driven out of Missouri and Arkansas, Mississippi and Kentucky, chased out of Louisiana, Tennessee, and large part of Virginia, and North Carolina, also Florida and Texas, and have been invaded in Georgia, Alabama and our troops, are wintering in South Carolina. By the opening of the Mississippi river they have been out in two almost equal parts; the part west of the river being the largest, and now our troops are wintering in all their States except Georgia and Alabama. Is this not a wonderful work to be performed in one season? I feel greatly encouraged with the success of our arms during the year 1863. After Charleston, Savannah and Mobile are taken the bogus Confed. must succumb.

The "Emancipation Proclamation" is right—the laws of war sanction it. I have not space to discuss its merits. I will just say the course taken by the executive suits me exactly so far.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 20. HEAD QUARTERS, Department of the Susquehanna, Chambersburg, Pa., March 24, 1864.

AUTHORITY having been granted by the War Department, to the Commanding General of the Department of the Susquehanna, the 1st Battalion, Three Years' Pennsylvania Volunteers, (formerly Six Months' Vols.) consisting of Six Companies mustered into the United States Service for Three Years, or during the War, is authorized to recruit to Ten Companies of the Maximum strength.

This Battalion, is on Provest duty in this Department, and it offers a good opportunity to those persons who have been in the service, and have been honorably discharged, to re-enter, and to those of good character who have not been in the service to enter the same. Only those known to the Recruiting Officers and persons authorized to recruit, as being reliable and trustworthy will be received, as the nature of the duty this Battalion is called upon to perform is such that it requires soldiers in whom the commanding officers can place confidence.

Persons taking advantage of the benefits arising from enlistment in this Battalion will receive the Bounties paid by the Government as authorized in existing Orders. The officers must be men who have had some experience in the Military Service, in intelligence, and of good character; and only those bringing the requisite number of men and possessing the above qualifications will be recommended to the Governor of the State for Commissions.

Recruits and persons having squads of recruits will report to Capt. Geo. W. Menack, 1st Battalion, Three Years' Pa. Vols., and Recruiting Officer for the same at Harrisburg, Pa. Applications to enter this Battalion must be made at once, that the companies may be filled and organized as speedily as possible. By command of Major General Couch: JOHN S. SCHULTZE, Assistant Adj. General.

Notice of Christian Burkholder, dec'd.
