LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Religious .- The "week of prayer" recommended by the Christian Alliance commenced Sunday evening last, with sermons appropriate to the subject for the opening services in each church. These meetings will be continued nightly through the remainder of the week. and in the Presbyterian church every morning at 11. The subjects for this and succeeding evenings are as follows:

Wednesday, Jan. 10. Nations: For their temporal and spiritual welfare; for kings and all in authority; for the maintenance of peace; and for the increase of "righteousness," which "exalteth a nation." Thursday, January 11. For christian families, for servants, and for schools and Friday, January 12. For christian missions and ministers, and for all engaged in christian work. Saturday, January 13. For christians in sorrow, in sickness, and in persecution; for the widow and orphan. Sabbath, January 14. Sermons: The blessing to be expected from the manifest union of believers of all countries.

FIRE. The dwelling house of John Kiefhaber of Oliver township, situate near the mountain, was totally destroved by fire on Sunday morning last. with all its contents, except a table. Mr. K. had been quite ill for some time, and there was no one about at the time except his wife, who made some efforts to put it out when discovered, but was unable to do so. It caught on the roof, probably from the stove pipe or chimney. This calamity leaves Mr. K. in a destitute condition, there being probably no insurance. Many here will no doubt recollect him as constable and collector of that township.

Large Hogs .- We have seen a good deal in our exchanges about large hogs, but one raised and slaughtered last week by David M. Zook, of Menno township, and delivered to Harshbarger, Hughes & Co. of Mill Creek, takes them all down, its net weight being 710 pounds. Get out with your little pigs of three or four hundred.

A public meeting will be held at Lilleysville on Friday next for the purpose of forming a company to bore for oil on the Sigler farm near that place. Although we have not confidence in oil in large quantities being found on the eastern slopes of the Al leghenies on account of the broken character of those slopes, yet as undoubted indications exist in both Derry and Decatur, a trial cannot do much harm and might result in benefit to both landholders and stockholders, as if even found in limited quanities it

To School Directors. I have a word to School directors, with our public schools. Some of them think if cient number of teachers to fill their schools at a low salary, and, by so doing, save a little money to the district, then they are doing God service. These men never, for a moment, take into consideration what the character of a teacher ought to be, with regard to the mental and moral training of the children. They think this a matter of minor importance, and their sole aim and object appears to be to employ the man or woman who will teach for the lowest salary. But there are others, who are governed by quite a different motto. They not only seek to employ teachers who are qualified, both for the mental and moral training of the children, (and this, I think, should be a matter of the very first importance,) but they are, also, willing to pay them a liberal compensation for their services. The School Directors of Menno district differ, in some respects, from all these; they want, if possible, to secure teachers, who are well qualified for the position which they are to occupy, both in regard to the mental and moral training of the youth, (and I must confess that they have succeeded in employing teachers of considerable talent and ability) But alas! alas! they have failed to remunerate them for their services, in propor tion to their ability. They expect them to teach for old salaries, which they re ceived ten years ago, notwithstanding the advance on all kinds of produce Mechan ics of all kinds here have had their pay advanced, except the poor seheol teacher and when I say "poor," I mean just what I say, for most of our teachers are in real ity poor, and their salaries never calculated to enrich them, and no wonder, that so many are compelled to abandon the busi ness, and seek employment in other ways "O! that our School Directors would con sider their ways and be wise," that they would view these things in their proper light, "and do to others as they would that they in similar circumstances should do unto them," and not ask teachers to do what they are not willing to do themselves.

HEADLEY'S HISTORY OF THE

THE late Rebellion stands out peculiar and extraordinary in human events; and the magnificent scale upon which the war has been conducted, constitute it one of the GRANDEST AND MOST BRILLIANT CHAPTERS OF THE WORLD'S HISTORY.

Great Rebellion.

Mr Headley, of all writers, is perhaps best qualified to portray the stupendous features of the mighty contest. His previous works on less momentons themes have placed bim in the first position, as a graphic and power ful delineator of war scenes and characters, and the magnitude and grandeur of the pres ent subject, impart to his pen the fire and vigor of a yet more exalted inspiration, and furnish ample scope for the highest exhibition of his peculiar genious for military description. Under his powerful pen the stirring scenes of the War pass in review with the vividness and distinctness of a present and living reality, while his great talent for con densation enables him to embody everything of importance in a compass just suited to the public want. From no other source can so clear a d comprehensive an impression of the grand march of events be obtained, so easily and agreeably, as from Mr. Headley's work. Other histories have been issued before Grant's Report and other Official Docu ments were submitted to the Government. and are therefore unreliable. Mr. Headley has delayed the completion of this till thes documents so essential to authenticity and correctness could be obtained.

The second volume, completing this work, will be issued in March, 1866. Agents want ed to engage in its sale in every town and county in the United States. Liberal inducements offered. For particulars apply to or
