

EDUCATIONAL.

J. K. HARTZELL, Bellefonte, Mifflin County, Editor.

For the Educational Column. A parsimonious policy, in education, is poor economy, and a wasting expense. Good schools are the cheapest things in the market. So are good teachers. Poor schools are the dearest, for they are not only a waste of money, but of much valuable time and life. The more money we have the better teachers we can secure, and as a consequence, we shall have better schools.—R. L. Schoolmaster.

The demand for teachers is at present greater than the supply. The people are learning that they must pay "good wages for good work" in the school as well as in the shop. This is one of the most cheering signs of the times, and we are happy at seeing, that almost everywhere the salary of the teacher is advancing.—Report of State Supt. of Wisconsin.

The School Tax. The slaveholders' rebellion would never have been inaugurated, had the people of the South for the past thirty years, believed in the payment of a liberal school tax; and it would never have been crushed, had the people of the North and the West during the same period, refused the payment of said tax for the education of the masses. Had a good common school system been adopted throughout the southern States thirty years ago, the nation would not to-day stagger under her heavy debt of three billions.

No intelligent school tax is longer deny that the school tax is the best tax, the most remunerative as well as the most important, that he is called upon to pay. Far better than an investment in five twenties, excellent as that may be, is the payment of a generous school tax. For many years our leading educators and other close and intelligent observers have in some degree appreciated the great blessings which this particular tax was conferring upon us as a nation. But not even these men could know the full value of the investment which we of the North had been making from year to year, until the hour of sore trial came, and our nation was plunged into a protracted civil war. Other and heavier taxes we have paid to meet current demands upon the public treasury, but this tax has provided itself ten thousand fold, for it was the abiding influence of the Common School that saved the nation. And in preserving our nationality, who will pretend to estimate the blessings it has conferred, not only upon ourselves as a people, but upon the human race the wide world over!

When therefore, we have found this investment to pay so handsome a dividend, what better policy can we adopt than to increase our annual instalments? It is the part of wisdom to reap the full benefits which this tax is able to confer. Towards this rational view of the matter, popular sentiment is steadily "marching on." Parents see more clearly than ever before that it is better, far better, to expend a part of their means upon the education of their children than to give them a few additional acres or bequeath them a few hundred dollars more in their wills. They have learned that property may be lost, that wealth may take to itself wings, oftentimes leaving the bankrupt wretchedly poor and utterly hopeless, but that a good education, backed by a reasonably good degree of energy, is a cash capital which can neither be lost nor stolen. And since the public schools are open to all, this large class of patrons is desirous that they shall be rendered as efficient as any other schools made prominent by private enterprise.

The time was—nor is the period very remote—when the "blind public" grumbled at the payment of a tax much lower than is now paid willingly—in many cases gladly. The beggarly pittance paid the teacher but a few years ago, has been increasing until in some localities it fairly doubles the name of salaries. Fairly deservable and treble those formerly paid, are now advertised in many directions, and the profession of teaching is taking a more dignified rank since teachers themselves are better qualified, and the public is growing into a better appreciation of the true character of their labors.

But the school tax in most parts of the country, is still far below what the importance of this interest demands, and whatever other taxes may go lower, because of a decrease in the national debt or a reduction of the national expenditure, this must continue to go higher, in order that we may build better school houses, furnish them with better appliances of teaching, secure the services of a more devoted and better qualified class of instructors, and carry our common school system, of noble capacity and richest promise, to a far higher degree of efficiency.—Lancaster Evening Express.

THE QUAKER CITY BUSINESS COLLEGE. N. E. cor. Tenth and Chestnut Streets. PHILADELPHIA.

THE most complete and thoroughly appointed Business or Commercial College in the country. The only one in the city possessing a Legislative charter, and the only one in the United States authorized to confer Degrees of Merit. Diplomas awarded to graduates in the Commercial Course under its corporate seal by authority of law. Conducted by gentlemen of liberal education and extensive experience in business, and affording unequalled advantages for the thorough theoretical and practical education of young men for the various duties and employments of business life. THEORY AND PRACTICE COMBINED by a system of ACTUAL BUSINESS TRAINING original and pre-eminently practical, giving the student in the shortest time a complete insight into the routine, details, customs and forms of business in general, as conducted in the best regulated commercial and financial establishments. Theoretical Bookkeeping Upon a new plan, with an original explanation of the science of accounts, arranged and published by the proprietor of this Institution exclusively for his own use, saving one-third the ordinary labor of the student and giving him a complete knowledge of the practice of the best accountants. The Commercial Course embraces Bookkeeping, Commercial Arithmetic, Penmanship, Business Correspondence, Contracts, Lectures on Business Affairs, Commercial Customs, Forms and Actual Business Practice. Special Branches. Algebra and the Higher Mathematics, Photography, Orographical Penmanship, The Art of Detecting Counterfeit Money, Engineering, Surveying, Navigation and Telegraphing. The arrangements for Telegraphing are far in advance of anything of the kind ever offered to the public. A regular Telegraph Line is connected with the Institution with twenty branch offices in various parts of the city, where public business is transacted, in which the students of this Institution are permitted to practice. No regular office practice can be had in any other school of instruction in the country, without which no one can obtain a position as a practical operator. Young men are cautioned against the deceptive representations of those who, without any such facilities, pretend to teach Telegraphing. Patronage. This Institution is now enjoying the largest patronage ever bestowed upon any commercial school in the State. Over five hundred students were in attendance the first year, and over seven hundred during the past year. The best class of students may invariably be found here, and all its associations are first-class. Location and Accommodations. The Institution is located in the most central part of the city, and its accommodations, for extent, elegance and convenience, are unsurpassed. All the Rooms have been fitted up in the very best style with BUSINESS OFFICES OR COUNTING HOUSES, TELEGRAPH OFFICES, STATIONERY STORE AND A REGULAR BANK OF DEPOSIT AND ISSUE, supplied with finely engraved lithographic notes used as a circulating medium in the Department of Actual Business. To Young Men who desire the very best facilities for a Practical Education for Business, we guarantee a course of instruction no where else so high, and the reputation and standing of the Institution among business men make its endorsement the best passport to success and advancement. All contemplating entering any Commercial College, are invited to send for an Illustrated Circular and Catalogue, containing complete interior views of the College, and full particulars of the course of instruction, terms, &c.
