Rooms at diately started in search of him, and found this brother dead, lying underneath the top of a tree which had been wrenched off by the storm, as he was passing underneath the tree and hunded when him derneath the tree, and hurled upon him. His brain was ozing out of his ears. The horse which he was riding at the time the accident took place, was also tangled up in the tree, but received no injury.

A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—On Saturday morning, 30th July, about 8 o'clock a destructive fire occurred in Johnstown, Beale township, which totally consumed the large two story tenement occupied as dwelling and store house by Dearing & Foltz, with nearly all the contents. The fire originated, we have been informed, as follows: Under the counter stood a large coal oil can, which having been a fixture there for several years, had satuhxture there for several years, had saturated the floor pretty thoroughly with that inflammable material. Several persons were in the store, smoking cigars, and it was thought that a match had been writer from the dead letter office free of charge—heretofore letters forwarded were smokers, which ignited the saturated part of the floor. Mr. Dearing, who was on the other side of the store, noticed the flame immediately, and attempted to extinguish it with a broom, but unfortunately while trying to beat out the flames, hit the spigot of the can and thus furnished them fresh material. In an instant the store was in a sheet of flames, which quickly broke into the dwelling house, and in a few minutes the building was a mass of charred and smoking ruins. The fire was so sudden and made such rapid progress, that nothing was saved from the store but the "journal," which had not been posted for about a month. Some of the household property was saved. The loss real and personal by the fire is estimated at $5,000, on which there is an insurance of $2,000.—Mifflintown Republican.

16. Account of William Snook, addirection of the War and Navy Departments, Governors of States, and by the late and present President, for visiting camps, forts and fleets, while the war was in progress and since the conclusion.

The work will contain biographical sketches, in Cyclopedia form, of all the prominent actors in the war, of both sexes, and in overrecondition in the war. and in every condition in life.

This is a book of facts rather than of opinions, and fully sustains the reputa-tion of the author, established by his

New York Herald.

We can assert with truth that it is the first conscientiously written history of the war that has been given to the world since its close. It is neither one-sided as to its facts nor as to its conclusions. New York Times.

Mr. Lossing possesses some peculiar qualifications for the preparation of a history of the war. To untiring industry, he unites a quick sense of that which posesses interest and attractiveness for the multitude. His pen and pencil are alike faithful and accurate in reproducing men and the scenes in which they were actors.

New York Tribune.

To any one who is familiar with Mr. Lossing's other works, it is hardly necessary to say that the materials for the present one have been gathered and selected with eminent industry and good judg-ment, and put together with the skill of an accomplished writer. The book is a rich storehouse of historical facts, and moreover a very enticing volume to read. It is so different from all the other histories of the war, that it cannot readily be
