A correspondent gives us an account of a "bread and butter democracy meeting at the railroad station opposite McVeytown, the other evening, where to show their superiority a stand was erected immediately in front of a colored man's residence! The audience having imbibed and filled their pocket pistols with democratic ammunition, took their seats in a sheep's pen near the stand! As may be imagined, the effect on the speaker, Andrew Reed, Esq., was electrical, and he pounded the poor nigger until he convinced every white man present that a decent negro was a poor shoat by the side of any drunken blackguard white, and that the latter was by far the best man, both in law and gospel." Our correspondent adds he "hopes some more such meetings will be held, as Johnson's crazy speeches on one hand, and nigger speeches from his satellites on the other, are fast driving sensible men to voting the republican ticket from head to foot."

A flock of Nationals, relicts of the late democracy, was taken to Mifflin on Tuesday evening of last week to attend a Ogborn of this place was considerably injured by the falling of a shed overladen with persons on it. The Loyal Convention at Philadelphia.

The Convention of Southern Loyalists assembled in Philadelphia on Monday, and the day was a gala one. There was a profuse display of bunting throughout the city. The Southern delegates were received in independence square and were escorted to the Union League House by a large procession composed of the Boys in Blue, Union League, National Union Club, firemen and citizens generally. Then there was a speech of welcome by Hon. Charles Gibbons, and a reply from Gov. Hamilton, of Texas. The delegates next proceeded to National Hall. where the convention was temporarily organized, by the selection of Hon. T. J. Durant, of Louisiana, as President .-After the appointment of committees on credentials and permanent organization, the body adjourned till Tuesday morning, when Ex-Attorney-General Speed, of Ky., was made permanent President of the Convention, and Gov. Brownlow, of Tennessee, permanent Vice-President.

A convention of delegates met simultaneously with the Southern Convention at the Union League House. It was composed of the loyal Governors, members of Congress and delegates from the loyal States.

Distinguished men were in the convention from every part of our broad land. The following is a synopsis of the resolutions adopted:

The resolutions reported by the Committee on Resolutions were read. They state that the loyal people of the South cordially unite with the people of the North in congratulation over the suppression of the realist the realist the realist to the realist the real sion of the rebellion; that we demand restoration of the rights of the States upon the fewest and simplest conditions consistent with our lives and the security of our property; that the policy of the President is oppressive and intolerant on the people of the South; they tend to magnify the sorrows and perils of their condition; that with gratitude to the loyalty of Congress we will stand by them in all measures to adopt the Constitutional Amendment and only regret that Congress did not go further in the matter: that the political status of the State is clearly within the control of Congress in dependent of any other department of the Government; that there is no right to se-cede inherent in any State in the Union; that we are unalterably in favor of the Union of the States and the establishment in them of governments, to carry on all laws for the protection of all citizens, and the guaranteeing to all of every race and color the rights to which they are entitled; and the organizations of unrepresented States are not legitimate governments till recognized by Congress: that the welcome we have received from the citizens of Philadelphia inspires us with hope that the principles of the foundation of this Government shall be the corner stone of its reconstruction; that we will emulate all the acts of Abraham Lincoln Cowan gathering, and while there Joel that we sympathize with all people in all countries struggling for freedom; that the gratitude of the Nation is due to the men who made the great army of the Republic,

DIED. At Lewistown on the 5th September, 1866, John C. Wolf, aged 32 years, 2 months and 10 days.

He is gone! The coffin lid has veiled him from our sight, and his lifeless form has been consigned to the silent tomb. In his death we have lost a friend; this community an honest and respected citizen; he will be missed in the social circle, and more than all in the family of the bereaved ones. The friends whose tender care never ceased during his illness, shall be proved by the circumstance. no more hear his faint voice calling from the dying couch. That wife in whose arms he loved to rest, shall no more bend over his wasting form to ease his sufferings which he endured with so much fortitude. The loved ones whose hands were ever willing to minister to his wants, shall no more see him until the resurrec-tion morn. He is gone! calmly and peacefully he passed the cold portals of death, leaning on the strong arm of his loving Redeemer, and giving that evidence to his weeping aronds that he was

NEW PHYSIOGNOMY, or "Signs of Character," as manifested through Temperament and External Forms, and especially in the "human face divine."—One elegant volume, with nearly 800 pages, and 1,000 illustrations. By S. R. Wells, Editor Phrenological Journal. Price, post paid, $5. Address Fowler & Wells, No. 389 Broadway, New York.

"New Physiognomy" is emmently practical, fully illustrated, and well suited to the wants of all. In the study of "the face" the reader soon learns to read each and every feature. Noses are classified as the Roman, Greek, Jewish, Snub and Celestial. The eyes speak all languages, whether black, blue, brown or hazel. In alike manner, cheeks, neck, cars, hands, feet, walk, voice, laugh, etc., are shown to be "signs of character."

In no other work is so much light thrown upon the character and destiny of mankind as in this, or the distinctive traits of nations and tribes so clearly pointed out. Portraits of distinguished persons of ancient and modern times, with biographical sketches and dislineation of character, are given. Divines, Orators, Surgeons, Discoverers, Actors, Musicians, etc., are included. It is an "Encyclopedia" of biography, acquanting the reader with the career and character of many great men and women of the past 1,600 years, and of the present—such, for instance, as Aristotle, Julius Casar, Shakspeare, Washington, Napoleon, Franklin, Bancroft, Bryant, Longfellow, Irving, Rosa Bonheur, Theodosia Burr, Cobden, Bright, Lawrence, Bolivar, Whately, Thnekeray, Dow. Knox, Richelbue, Hopper, Buckle, Dickens, Victoria, Wesley, Carlyle, Motley, Mil, Spencer, Thompson, Guthrie, Alexander, and hundreds of others. Agents Mantes.
