Keeping Apples in Winter.

At the last State Fair in this city, Delos Randall had on exhibition russet apples grown a year ago. These apples were plump, fresh and of good flavor, quite as good as the same kind of apples ordinarily on the approach of spring. We inquired as to the manner of keeping, and were informed that the apples were put up in refuse boxes obtained at the groceries, and in the following manner: A layer of dry sawdust was sprinkled at the bottom of the box, and then a layer of apples placed in it so that they did not touch each other. Upon these was placed a layer of sawdust, and so on until the box was filled. The boxes after being packed in this way were placed on the wall in the cellar, up from the ground, where they kept, perfectly retaining their freshness and flavor, until brought out and exhibited at the fair. He says that he has kept apples in this way some months later than the time named.

From experiments made with dry sand, packing the apples in the same way, he finds that sawdust is much superior to the sand, the latter, he thinks, being too heavy a material, and pressing the apples too much, causing them to decay more rapidly than with the sawdust. The above experiment, perhaps, may be suggestive to those desiring to preserve apples late in the season of this year.

It will be needless to remark, perhaps, that no apple will keep late, by any process of packing, that has been bruised or injured in picking. Apples should be handled carefully, and the less moving about, after having been picked, the better. A large part of the fruit grown and sold in market, has been so injured by careless gathering, poured into barrels and rough handling, while being driven to market, that it soon decays, under whatever treatment it may be subjected to for the purpose of keeping.—Union Herald.

A correspondent of the Country Gentleman, on the same subject, says: You ask for the experience of others in reference to packing apples. My experience is that apples should be kept in a dry building until quite cold weather, then very carefully picked over and headed in an air tight barrel and removed to a cool cellar. They will keep better than by any other treatment I have ever tried. A cellar for keeping fruit should be well drained, but should not have the bottom made of hydraulic cement. Cement prevents evaporation, and as the coolness of a cellar is caused by evaporation mainly, it is important that nothing be done to prevent this.

RECIPES.

CURE FOR NEURALGIA.—Some time since we published, at the request of a friend, a receipt to cure neuralgia.—Half a drachm of sal ammonia, in an ounce of camphor water, to be taken a teaspoonful at a dose, and the dose repeated several times, at intervals of five minutes, if the pain be not relieved at once. Half a dozen different persons have since tried the receipt, and in every case an immediate cure was effected. In one, the sufferer, a lady, had been affected more than a week, and her physician was unable to alleviate her sufferings, when a solution of sal ammonia in camphor water relieved her in a few minutes.—Alta Californian.

P. S. Many of the above mentioned goods are direct from the factory, and will be sold low for cash. I will wholesale glass jars at the same figures they do in Philadelphia, and Tin Cans lower than the city price.
For sporting and job work we intend to do no one outdo us in price. We use the best material, and profess to understand our business.
I append the following card from H. S. Fisher, Patentee of my celebrated Spring Top Can:
Caution to Merchants & Tinners.
Since the great success of my cemented paper rings for closing Fruit Cans, some have thought to drift into the same current of success by infringing upon my patent. Some have longer patented than mine, on which gum had been used under their patent arrangement, are now making their appearance with cemented paper rings, instead of the gum formerly used.
In most cases such infringements take place through persons not responsible, who take orders in country stores, while the manufacturers in the cities have for the most part concealed their work. This is to notify the public that the use of cemented paper, pressed upon the top of a fruit can, during the heated state of the fruit, so that when cold it is perfectly sealed, is an infringement upon my rights, unless used upon a can having a cap with my name stamped upon it. Any kind of cement upon this paper, undergoing a process of pressure during the cooling of the fruit, comes in contact with my patent, and is always kept on hand. I use cans with cemented paper, which have not my name upon the caps, are liable for infringement.

No. 1 Sewing Machine,

It is of extra size, very strong and powerful, easily operated with little noise; is adapted to every variety of sewing from the thinnest muslin to the heaviest leather, and will work equally well with cotton, linen or silk thread. Letters similar to the following are being constantly received:
"Our machinist and foreman have both thoroughly examined and tested your No. 1 Machines on different material, from the heaviest harness leather and finest broadcloth, and muslin to the thinnest tissue paper, without altering the tension, and we find it makes a perfect stitch on all materials. I have tried Singer's and other machines for years, and have no hesitation in pronouncing your No. 1 Sewing Machine the best by far of any machine we have used."
Merchant Tailor, 121 Lake Street, Chicago.
"I am the fortunate possessor of one of your new No. 1 Shuttle Machines; I have used the Singer sewing machine for the past few years, and it gives me great pleasure to say that this one is far superior in all points to any that I have ever used or seen. I want no better. This machine can be seen at my shop at any time."
Merchant Tailor, LEWIS SMITH, Lewistown, Pa.

PHILADELPHIA.

THE most complete and thoroughly appointed Business or Commercial College in the country.

The only one in the city possessing a Legislative Charter, and the only one in the United States authorized to confer Degrees of Merit. Diplomas awarded to graduates in the Commercial Course under its corporate seal by authority of law.

Conducted by gentlemen of liberal education and extensive experience in business, and affording unequalled advantages for the thorough theoretical and practical education of young men for the various duties and employments of business life.

THEORY AND PRACTICE COMBINED

by a system of

original and pre-eminently practical, giving the student in the shortest time a complete insight into the routine, details, customs and forms of business in general, as conducted in the best-regulated commercial and financial establishments.

Theoretical Bookkeeping

Upon a new plan, with an original exposition of the science of accounts, as arranged and published by the proprietor of this Institution exclusively for his own use, saving one-half the ordinary labor of the student and giving him a complete knowledge of the practice of the best accountants.

The Commercial Course

Bookkeeping, Commercial Arithmetic, Penmanship, Business Correspondence, Commercial Law, Lectures on Business Affairs, Commercial Customs, Foreign and Actual Business Practice.

Special Branches.

Algebra and the Higher Mathematics, Phonography, or shorthand, Penmanship, the Art of Detecting Counterfeit Money, Engineering, Surveying, Navigation and Telegraphy.

Telegraphing

The arrangements for Telegraphing are far in advance of anything of the kind ever offered to the public. A regular Telegraph Line is connected with the Institution with twenty branch offices in various parts of the city, where public business is transacted, and in which the students of this Institution are permitted to practice. No regular office practice can be had in any other school of instruction in the country, without which no one can obtain a position as a practical operator. Young men are cautioned against the deceptive representations of those who, without any such facilities, pretend to teach Telegraphing.

Patronage.

This Institution is now enjoying the largest patronage ever bestowed upon any commercial school in the State. Over five hundred students were in attendance the first year, and over seven hundred during the past year. The best class of students may invariably be found here, and all its associations are first-class.

Location and Accommodations.

The Institution is located in the most central part of the city, and its accommodations, for extent, elegance and convenience, are unsurpassed. All the rooms have been fitted up in the very best style with the latest improvements in furniture and fixtures.
