The Poor House Farm.

It has been a question for several years whether it was not an error in the first place to purchase a valuable farm near town for poor purposes; and especially one destitute of timber. For a time however it answered the end designed, but of late years objections and disadvantages have manifested themselves which clearly show that the purchase of a smaller tract farther from town, with a good supply of timber on it, would be a saving to the taxpayers in the end. Next we have the fact that the present buildings are in a great measure unsuitable and inconvenient for all classes supported at the public expense, in evidence of which we need but cite the proof that last year the Directors paid the State Lunatic Hospital $811.17, or the interest of $13,569.50, a sum in itself sufficient to build a commodious house. This was paid for the support of four or five persons who could easily be kept here with proper accommodations. We long since came to the conclusion that a Steward cannot well farm 200 acres and properly attend to his other duties, and that where one would do it ten would not. New buildings are now required, and the whole thing is therefore reduced to the simple question whether from $20,000 to $25,000 shall be levied and collected from the taxpayers for the purpose of erecting suitable buildings on the farm now owned by the county, or whether that farm had not better be sold, and the proceeds applied to the purchase of a cheaper tract and the erection of suitable buildings, without taxation?—This is the case in a nutshell, and will enable all to judge whether a bill now before the Legislature authorizing the sale of the farm by trustees named in it, and paying the proceeds into the county treasury, is right or wrong. For our part, we hope our members will see it through, as we are satisfied that in the end it will save money—will prevent a great deal of pauper loafing about town—and do away with a legion of applicants for Steward, a position of onerous duties and little pay, yet sought with as much avidity as if it contained a fortune (a fact we could never explain or understand.)

To Pennsylvania Soldiers.

Samuel P. Bates, State Historian, having discovered many imperfections in the muster-rolls of the companies, desires that each soldier, who served in any organization from this State, would furnish information in his personal history pertaining to the following points, viz: 1. Wounds.—If wounded, give the date; in what engagements received; nature of wounds; result of wounds; nature of surgical operations, if capital, and by whom performed.

2. Imprisonments.—If a prisoner, give the date and place of capture; where imprisoned; nature of treatment; and the date and manner of escape or release. He also desires that the relatives or companions in arms of deceased soldiers would give the cause, date, place of death and place of interment of each, and any facts in his history touching the subjects above referred to. Write at the head of the page the name of the person to whom the information pertains, the number of regiment and letter of company to which he belonged. Write in concise terms, in a plain hand, on letter paper, and on but one side of a leaf, and address Samuel P. Bates, State Historian, Harrisburg, Pa.

Passage of the Reconstruction Bill!

As was expected Johnson vetoed the reconstruction bill passed by Congress, but two-thirds of each house adopted it over the veto on Saturday evening, and it is therefore now the law of the land. The tenure of office bill and several others also became laws in the same way. Reverdy Johnson of Maryland expressed his surprise at some of the President's views, which he declared illogical and contrary to law, and also stated that many southerners assured him that the South would organize under this bill and accept its conditions.

The new Congress met at noon on the 4th. Mr. Colfax was re-elected Speaker, and Mr. Ed. M'Pherson Clerk. Unlock the Rocks.—The great cost of silver and gold arises not so much from their scarcity in the earth, as the difficulty of extracting them from their stony combinations. Dr. J. C. Ayer, the well known chemist of Massachusetts, has just received the gratitude of half mankind, by his remedies that cure their diseases, he is now winning the other half by opening for them an easy road to the exhaustless treasures of the hills. He has discovered and published a chemical process, which renders at little cost, the hardest rocks and ores friable like chalk, so that the precious metals are loosed from their confinement, and easily gathered. Mines too poor to pay, may be worked at a profit now, and the yield of rich mines is largely increased, while the cost of extracting the metals from the ore, is diminished. Either is a great achievement, to enrich mankind, or cure their diseases. But we are informed our celebrated countryman adheres to the latter, as his special and chief ambition. [Buffalo Sentinel.

Important Improvements.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company have been for a considerable time engaged in constructing a wall of solid masonry in Jack's Narrows, about a mile above this place, to accommodate a double track. This is perhaps one of the most difficult points on the road for the construction of an additional track, the rugged, almost perpendicular, ascent of the mountain on the right making it absolutely impossible to lay a track on that side, while the canal hugs the present track closely on the left, and the river being in close proximity to the canal. The Company were therefore compelled to build a wall into the canal for the new track, and on this work from 30 to 35 men have been constantly employed for two and a half years past. The wall is 300 feet in length (almost three-quarters of a mile) 20 to 25 high, and 6 feet thick; making about half a million cubic feet. The work is now approaching completion, and it is expected that a double track will be laid within the present year. The work has been under the supervision of Mr. Paul Smith as chief engineer, and reflects much credit on his ability in that capacity. [Mount Union Times.

The Bellefonte Press strongly urges Judge Lim of that place, for supporting and paying a libel suit just tribute to his integrity and fidelity to the law. The Uniontown Standard nominates Hon. James Veech, of Pittsburgh, for the Supreme Judgeship. The President has nominated to the Senate General Thomas A. Rowley, of Pittsburgh, United States Marshal for the Western District of Pennsylvania. The Governor has appointed Henry Gilbert, of Dauphin county, George Bergner, of Dauphin, and William Leachner, of Perry county, trustees of the State Insane Asylum. An excellent paper advocates seminaries for young ladies, where spinology, weaving and cooking can be taught—the graduates to receive the degree of F. W., or fit for wives. In a certain Sabbath school the superintendent made a powerful appeal to the scholars to be active and useful. Among other things he told them they should all be something, each taking his train along the road. The next Sabbath, when the school opened, in came one of the best and most zealous boys with thirteen new scholars behind him and went up the aisle uttering a noble, clear, untroubled, engine, to the amazement of the superintendent and scholars. "What does this mean?" asked the astonished superintendent. "Why," answered the boy, "you said we must all be locomotives, and here I am with thirteen cars behind me."

A Union man is under indictment in Johnson county, North Carolina, for sedition. Four postmasters from the so-called Confederate States Government (those are the exact words used in the bill) and the eleven Confederate States, are charged with being dragged to the whipping post. The accused was a conscript soldier in the rebel army. He was elected to the United States Congress, and took meat to keep life in his body, and now will have suffer for an act not against law, but because he is and was a Union man.

In 1861, when Georgia seceded, Solomon Cohen, postmaster at Savannah, turned over the funds of his office to the rebels, and continued to act as postmaster under the rebel rule. When the war ended he was elected to the United States Congress, and has a loyal man, and the editor of the Savannah Republic, reviewing the career of the Congressman, alluded to him as "a defiler of the United States." Cohen had Hays indicted for libel, and a criminal prosecution ensued in a Georgia court. A copy of the libel have brought in the highest quality, and virtually decided that rebel postmasters were not defilers.

For the Gazette.

FRIENDS EDITORS: A writer in the Gazette who signs himself a Farmer, has called the attention of the citizens of the Valley to the great importance of a Railroad from Reedsville to Millersick, a distance of only 24 miles. Now at the rate of cost to make the Railroad from Lewisville to Reedsville it would only cost some $800,000 to construct a road through the valley from Reedsville to Millersick, and what would the expenditure of $800,000 be to the great people of our great valley? Be sure they would rather travel in mud hup deep than to have anything to do with so trifling a thing as a Turnpike. What they go in for, is a Railroad.

The writers says it would pay better than Oil Stock, but we can assure the writer that oil stock paid well to the Managers, and a Railroad project may pay as well, if managed by men in whom the people have always had confidence. Let an Elder of a Church contrive the plot, another Elder of the Church engineer it through. When you take subscriptions, if the subscriber has not got the ready to plank down, take a negotiable note, and be sure to sell it forthwith; do not let it get warm in your hands, for that would be dangerous.

In this way a Railroad project through the valley might be made to be profitable, at least to those in the inside ring. So, hurrah for the Big Valley Railroad! Look out for the locomotive! Too, too, too!

ANOTHER FARMER.

For the Gazette. SHIRLEY, February 28, 1867. Messrs. Editors—But a few days ago, whilst in McVeytown, I was invited by a friend to visit Gen. Ross' iron bank, and was astounded at the exhaustiveness of that rich body of ore, so recently developed and now rendered certain by the general's indefatigable search thro' shafts, fathers, &c. It is believed by men of judgment that this is one of the most valuable bodies of ore in the State. The bank is about three-fourths of a mile from the Pennsylvania Canal at McVeytown, with a gentle slope for road the whole distance. The body of ore is so extensive, and so free from clay and foreign substances, that a miner can raise from eight to ten tons per day, and that so clean as to supersede the necessity of washing; and can therefore be mined and delivered on the bank of the canal at McVeytown for one dollar and ten cents or less per ton, with good profit to the miner.

The ore is by convention called Hematite, a generic term too indefinite for practical use, but doubtless the practitioner would pronounce it very rich. It is very heavy, and in divers forms, such as skulls, cups, &c., and when broken presents a very rich metallic appearance. Now is there not one amongst the thousands of our enterprising countrymen who will stop for a moment to visit this rich and inexhaustible field of iron, situated as it is with such vast agricultural wealth, and decide for himself whether iron can not be manufactured cheaper at McVeytown than at any other place in the State? The greatest benefactors of our race are, first, those successful laborers for the development of the intellectual and moral powers of the human mind. Next are those who employ all their powers of body and mind to bring to the surface those hidden treasures in the form of iron and coal which lay concealed from human view for countless ages, locked up for our benefit, and which are now almost cropping up and inviting us to lay hands upon them. Anticipated demands for iron are just as certain as that we are to remain a prosperous and happy nation. Our sources of lumber are so rapidly diminishing that it is difficult to conceive how or where the supply will come from in a few years. Its use must soon diminish, and its place to a great extent be supplied with iron; and the time is not very distant when, from necessity, farms must be fenced and dwelling houses built with iron, and return their answers by believing that the safest investment which can be made, either of money or labor, is in the iron business, and that the sooner it is done the better.

The sluggard never hitched the lightning to the car and bid it wait you hundreds of miles, while you took a gentle nap under Morphia's soothing wand. He never made a pathway through the bosom of the Atlantic ocean, and bid the obedient electric fluid carry dispatches from our Government to all the courts of Europe, and return their answers in a few moments. He will never unite the Atlantic and Pacific oceans with bands of iron, unbroken by the Allegheny or Rocky mountains. But he will go down to an unloved grave, while the works of the wise and enterprising will speak of them long after they are sleeping in the dust.

Let practical men call and examine the field of iron opening up by Gen. Ross, and if they do, we are greatly in error if McVeytown does not soon become the theatre of active life, where iron may be manufactured cheaper than any other place in Pennsylvania.

A FRIEND OF INDUSTRY.

For the Gazette. MESSRS. EDITORS.—I noticed in the Gazette, a few weeks ago, that some correspondent asked the question, "If it was lawful and right for any one man to hold more than one office of profit or trust at the same time," and also speaks of modest men freeing themselves from one office as soon as elected to another. Now I think that justice and right demand that no one man should hold more than one office at the same time. As to "modesty," I think it is too often left out of the question. Wishing to be loyal and true, and "subject to the powers that be," I suppose there will be no harm in speaking of things as they occur around us, as there seems to be a strong undue desire by some to gather up all the crumbs that fall from Uncle Sam's table. It is known that Assessors, as sworn officers, are required on their returns, to name two responsible men, or to name the law requires the County Commissioners to appoint as Collector of each borough or township. When an Assessor is so immodest as to return himself as Collector, ought the Commissioners to appoint him? They have done it in Oliver. He may make a good enough Collector, but would not the bag have been quite as safe in the hands of one not quite so anxious? In some of the adjoining townships the Assessors returned men as was their duty to do, but the Commissioners passed over them and appointed other men, we are told, that suited their political stripe better. Is this true democracy? We are also informed that one of our Associate Judges is acting as Township Auditor, and also, as School Director. Now I honestly think that a Judge of a Court ought to be free from all other offices, so that the event of officers not being faithful, should not have to be returned to Court the Judges ought to be party. Strange that some men think themself the only fit persons to hold offices. That

School Board appears so one-sided, that they accepted only such Teachers as were of their own political stripe, save one, and he because of his being a relative of one of the Directors. We are also informed that one of the Teachers employed by this Board to be so imperfect in arithmetic as to be unable to teach at least one of his scholars. We are also informed by a citizen of this same township, that he had a teacher in view for his school with, as he said, the best certificate in the township, but the school was given to another. Strange democracy, this.

Important Qualities.

Brandreth's Pills so stimulate all the interior powers of the system that every poison or impurity is forced from the blood into the bowels, and thus passes off. Recent cases of sickness will often be cured by the full 6 or 8 Brandreth's Pills, which, when the operation is full and complete, leave the blood as free from poisons and unhealthy matter as that of a newborn babe. In colds, inflammatory diseases, and even in cholera, their use restores to health sooner than all other remedies, because they take from the blood and bowels those matters upon which pains, cramps, and aches depend for continuance. Captain Isaac Smith, of Sing Sing, says, thirty of Brandreth's Pills, taken according to directions, cured him of a very severe bronchial affection after other means had failed, and he wishes his numerous friends to know the fact. THOUSANDS of horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobias' Venereal Horse Liniment will positively cure it in over-drawn horses, and in all cases. Every one who has a horse, should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Old Sores, &c.—This Liniment is no new remedy. It has been used and approved of for 12 years by the first horsemen in the country. Given to an over-drawn horse, it acts like magic. Orders are constantly received from the racing stables of England for it. The celebrated Hiram Woodruff, of racing fame, has used it for years, and says it is far superior to any other he has tried. He kindly permits me to refer to him. His address is East New York, Long Island. Received. Tobias' Venereal Horse Liniment is put up in pint bottles. Take no other. Sold by the Druggists and Saddlers, Depot, 50 Cortlandt Street, New York. Jan 23-7y

A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the city, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a coarse rustic, thin-fac'd, she had a soft rosy complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she now appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of this change, she plainly told them she used the CARCASSIAN BALM, and considered it the best acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance a hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from the skin, also, healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. NOTICE.

The beautiful Piano Fortes of GOVERNTE & Co. are deemed by all good judges to be the Ultima Thule of instruments of the kind.

We cannot suggest what is wanting to make a musical instrument more perfect, although we are slow to admit that the limit of improvement can ever be attained.

Before they had brought their Pianos to their present excellence, they had submitted them to competition with instruments of the best makers of the country and Europe, and received the reward of merit, over all others, at the celebrated World's Fair. It is but justice to say that the judgment thus pronounced has not been overruled by the musical world.

Still, by the improvements lately applied by them to their Pianos, it is admitted that a more perfect instrument has been made. They have accordingly achieved the paradox of making excellence more excellent. Surely, after this, they are entitled to the motto "Excelsior." nov14-1y

Sudden Death.—We clip the following from the Pittsburgh Gazette. It is a very singular case truly, but it does not seem to be well authenticated. "A German, named Andrew Neite, of Columbus, met with his death in a most remarkable manner a few days ago. He had long been known to be a very temperate man, being heavily drunk nearly all his time. Early on Friday morning a slight snow was seen falling from his liquor shop. The shop was entered by some citizen, and Neite found lying dead behind the counter, with his lips entirely burnt away, leaving a ghastly hole, in which his tongue was seen burnt to a crisp, as was the inside of his mouth and throat. His nose also was burned as if by fire coming out of his nostrils. There was no fire in the room, except his burning clothes. A physician made an examination of the body, and it was decided that Neite came to his death by spontaneous combustion or by the burning of inflammable gas generated in the whiskey-rotted carcass, and escaping by the air passages. This might have been caused by an attempt to light a cigar with a match or other flame."

THE Board of Commissioners now offer for sale 520,000 acres of Agricultural College Land Scrip, being the balance of the Scrip granted to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for the endowment of Agricultural Colleges in this State.

Proposals for the purchase of this Land Scrip, addressed to "The Board of Commissioners of Agricultural Land Scrip," will be received at the Surveyor General's office, at Harrisburg, until 12 o'clock, m., on WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10, 1867.

This land may be located in any State or Territory, by the holders of the Scrip, (except mineral lands) of the United States, which may be subject to sale at private entry. Each piece of scrip represents a quarter section of one hundred and sixty acres, is issued in blank, and will be transferable, without endorsement or formal assignment. The blank need not be filled until the scrip is presented for location and entry, when the party holding it can fill the blank and enter the land in his own name. Bids must be made as per acre, and no bids will be received for less than one quarter section.

The Scrip will be issued immediately on the payment of the money to the Surveyor General. On all bids for a less quantity than 40,000 acres, one-third of the purchase money must be paid within ten days, and the remaining two-thirds within thirty days after notification of the acceptance of the bid or bids by the Board of Commissioners.
