POETRY.

THE BAREFOOT BOY.

Blessings on thee, little man, Barefoot boy, with cheeks of tan! With upturned pantaloons, And thy merry whistled tunes—

Oh! for boyhood's painless play, Sleep that wakes in laughing day, Health that mocks the doctor's rules, Knowledge never learned at school!

Human Parasites. Prof. Browne, lately lectured in New York, on the 'Dangerous Parasites which Infest Mankind, and their food.'

This parasite originated almost entirely in the swine, and is there invisible to the naked eye. When flesh containing the trichinae is introduced in the human stomach the flesh is dissolved, and the parasite unloosed from its cell.

These young trichinae are at first only one five hundred and fortieth of an inch in length, and resemble a worm in spiral coil.

By the time they traverse the system, however, they increase in size many fold, and then begin to make felt that terrible disease to which they have given the name.

The parasites first introduced never cause trouble, except by the production of their offspring. The disease is first made apparent by pains in the joints, the head, and the spine, and the patient gradually wastes away and dies.

The lecturer had seen many cases of this disease in Germany, where it is particularly prevalent. Some constitutions, but few, withstand it.

The trichinae did not create disease by eating away the flesh—which they are not fitted to do—but by hindering, or closing up, the forces and process by which health is preserved.

HUMAN PARASITES.

Prof. Browne, lately lectured in New York, on the 'Dangerous Parasites which Infest Mankind, and their food.'

Concerning Trichinae he said: This parasite originated almost entirely in the swine, and is there invisible to the naked eye.

When flesh containing the trichinae is introduced in the human stomach the flesh is dissolved, and the parasite unloosed from its cell.

When this occurs the parasite is about one-thirtieth of an inch in length. Birth is then given to trichinae, which straightway proceed to penetrate the whole muscular and flesh system through the alimentary canal.

These young trichinae are at first only one five hundred and fortieth of an inch in length, and resemble a worm in spiral coil.

By the time they traverse the system, however, they increase in size many fold, and then begin to make felt that terrible disease to which they have given the name.
