

A Little Fun Now and Then.

Mark Twain in Trouble.
Mark Twain has his troubles in common with the rest of humanity. His last annoyance was caused by a railroad peddler.
"And then, there were the peddlers on the cars. I bought out the popcorn boy to get rid of him, because I was trying to compose a poem for a young lady's album, and did not want to be disturbed. But he came right back with a stock of peanuts. I took a few and hurried away, and he returned with some ice-cream candy. I don't like ice-cream candy and peanuts together, but I invested at once, because an inspired rhyme had been born to me, and I wanted to set it down before it slipped by me. Then the scoundrel came back with tobacco and cigars, and afterward with oranges, imitation ivory baby whistles, fig paste and apples; and then he went away and was gone some time, and I was encouraged to hope the train had run over him. Such was not the case. He was only keeping his most malignant outrage for the last. He was getting his literature ready.
"And from that time forward that degenerate youth did nothing but march from one car to another, and afflict the passengers with specimen copies of the vilest blood-and-thunder romances on earth. 'Lionel Warburton, or the Perjuror's Doom'; 'Godfrey de Langly, or the Desperado's Revenge'—those were some of his mildest works, and on their backs were pictures of stabbing affrays and duels, and people shoring other people down precipices, and wretched woodcuts of women being rescued from terrific perils of all possible kinds—and they were so criminally homely that any right-minded man would take a placid satisfaction in seeing them suffer a sudden and violent death. But that peddler boy peddled those atrocious books right along for hours together, and I gave up my poem at last, and devoted all my energies to driving him away, and trying to say anything that would make him unhappy.
"Pride goeth before a waterfall.
"A Sleeper's Paradise—Snoring.
"Always aim at what becomes you." Most ridiculous advice. Just imagine a man setting up his best coat for a target or blazing away at his new spring beaver.
"A company that insures female beauty against accident from the age of fifteen to thirty is the latest thing in the insurance line. That company undertakes fearful responsibilities.
"A negro in Dawson, Ga., stole a couple of boots and returned them the same day, saying his conscience wouldn't let him keep them. They were both for one foot and three sizes too small.
"What can be a more desolate spectacle than an old maid sitting on an inverted half-bushel, in a cold kitchen, with her foot on the brim of a slop bucket, paring her corns with a case knife, by the light of a tallow candle?
"In a recent speech at Huntsville, the rebel General Clanton of Alabama said, that he had been a life-long abolitionist, and fought in the rebel army for no other purpose than to free the negroes! We have heard ex-rebels assign various reasons for having fought against their country, but this beats all. If he does not get a full complement of colored votes, it will be because there is no virtue in lying.
"Why are good husbands like dough? Because women need them.
"What is the largest room in the world? The room for improvement.
"When does a severe cold resemble a brilliant idea? When it comes in to one's head suddenly.
"What kind of a horn is easiest seen through? A greenhorn.
"An Englishman just across, got into an omnibus in New York, and was surprised at not seeing a conductor to take his fare. He was more surprised, however, when a lady handed him ten cents with which to pay for her. Mr. Bull looked at the money, then at the lady, and handing it back, said: 'I'm exceedingly obliged to you, madam, but really I'm in no immediate want of charity.'
"Talk about mean men! said old Fry. 'Why, there's that Bill Johnson, he's the meanest man I ever hear tell on. Bill was a constable here. Why don't you think he had an execution against me for a little matter of groceries, and he came out and levied on my old woman's ducks, and wanted me to drive 'em up and catch 'em himself, and so he chased 'em round and round the house and every time he'd catch a duck, he'd sit down and wring its head off, and charge mileage.'
"We often hear of remarkable cases of 'absence of mind.' Here is one equal as anything we have seen lately. The man was doubtless a very interesting head of the family: 'I say, cap'n,' said a little keen-eyed man, as he landed from the steamboat here at Natches, 'I say, cap'n, this here ain't all.' 'That's all, sir,' replied the captain. 'Well, see now, I grant it all O.K. according to list—four boxes, three chests, two ban' boxes, a portmanteau, two hams—one part cut—three ropes of inyons and a tea kettle; but you see, cap'n, I am duberson. I feel there's something short. Though I've counted 'em nine times, and never took my eyes off 'em while on board, there's something 'not right somehow.' 'Well stranger, the time is up; there is all I know of; so bring your wife and five children out of the cabin, and we are off.' 'Them's 'em, darn it; them's 'em! I knowed I had forgot something!'

AGRICULTURAL.

FATTENING ANIMALS.
There are some rules which may be advantageously adopted in feeding animals, which, however obvious, are often passed over or neglected, and we propose to lay before our readers a few of these rules.
It is evident that when we wish to fatten an animal, we must not expect any labor of him, and hence the food for a fattening animal should be given to him in that form which will require the least labor on his part to convert it into the proper shape for swallowing. The ox that is obliged to wander over an acre to get the food which he should find on a few square rods—the horse that is three or four hours eating the coarse food he would swallow (just as well masticated) in fifteen minutes, if the grain was ground, and the hay cut as it should be—the sheep that spends hours in making its way into a turnip which, if it were sliced, it would eat in as many minutes—the pig that would consume time and waste grain in eating corn off the cob, when it would make more fat and less work for it if it had been ground and mixed with water—may indeed fatten, but much less rapidly than if their food was given to them in a proper manner. From this we may deduce the rule that all food intended for a fattening animal should as far as possible be put into proper shape before being offered to the animal gets it.
From the time the fattening process begins until it is fully accomplished, the animal should never be without food. Health and appetite will be best promoted by a change of food rather than by limiting the quantity.
The animal that is stuffed and starved by turns may have streaked meat, but is made too slowly either for the pleasure or profit of the farmer. When asked to account for the fine appearance of his pen of fat hogs, a farmer answered that 'he never allowed them to squeal.' This is a great point.—When we approach a hog pen, and the contents set up a universal squeal, we know something is wrong either in bed or board; and when on going into a sheepfold causes a universal bleating, it is a sign that food or salt is wanted there.
Another important point, which is second only to quantity, is that the food should be given at regular periods, as well as in regular quantities.—If fed irregularly, the animal, although it may have enough, will soon acquire a restless disposition, is disturbed by every appearance of its keeper, and is never in that quiet state which so much promotes the laying on of fat. To those who have not tried it, it will be surprising how soon an animal acquires habits of regularity in feeding, and how soon the influence of this is felt in the improvement of his condition. When at the regular hour the pig has had its 'pudding,' and the sheep his turnips, they compose themselves for rest with the consciousness that their digestion will not be disturbed or their quiet broken by unwonted invitations to eat.
All animals fatten better in the dark than in the light, and this can only be accounted for by the increased quiet. In the dark the animal remains perfectly quiet, while in the light the reverse is often the case. Some kinds of stock which are the most irritable in confinement, as turkeys and geese, are found to lay on fat best when confined in the dark and fed only at stated periods. There is no surer proof that a pig is doing well than to see him eat his meal quickly and go to bed to sleep until feeding time again.
Animals while fattening should never be alarmed, never rapidly driven, never fed at unreasonable hours, and above all things never be allowed to be in want of food even for half an hour.
RECIPES.
From Godey's Lady's Book for July.
To Preserve Strawberries.—To two pounds of fine large strawberries, add two pounds of powdered sugar, and put them in a preserving kettle, over a slow fire, till the sugar is melted; then boil them precisely twenty minutes as fast as possible, and put the fruit in boiling hot. Cork and seal the jars immediately, and keep them through the summer in a cold, dry cellar. The jars must be heated before the hot fruit is poured in, otherwise they will break.
Strawberry Jelly.—Express the juice from the fruit through a cloth, strain it clear, weigh, and stir to it an equal proportion of the finest sugar dried and reduced to powder; when this is dissolved place the preserving pan over a very clear fire, and stir the jelly often until it boils; clear it carefully from scum, and boil it quickly from fifteen to twenty minutes. This receipt is for a moderate quantity of the preserve; a very small portion will require much less time.
Cherries Preserved.—Take fine large cherries, not very ripe; take off the stems, and take out the stones; save whatever juice runs from them; take an equal weight of white sugar; make the syrup of a teacup of water for each pound, set it over the fruit until it is dissolved and boiling hot, then put in the juice and cherries, boil them gently until clear throughout; take them from the syrup with a skimmer, and spread them on flat dishes to cool; let the syrup boil until it is rich and quite thick; set it to cool and settle; put the fruit into jars and pots, and pour the syrup carefully over; let them remain open till the next day; then cover as directed. Sweet cherries are improved by the addition of a pint of red currant juice, and half a pound of sugar to it, for four or five pounds of cherries.
Currant Jelly.—Pick fine red, but long ripe currants from the stems; bruise them, and strain the juice from

WINDOWS CLEANED
Without Soap or Water, Time or Labor, by using
WOOD'S WINDOW POLISH.
It does away with soap suds or hot water, thus avoiding the slops upon the floor or halting paint, and the disagreeable separation of the water running down the arms, under the sashes and wetting them to the shoulders. It leaves no lint upon the glass, and gives the trimmings and casings appearance than can be got with ten times the amount of labor and time in washing. For polishing Mirrors, any kind of Glass, Brass or Tin-ware, it has no equal. The polish is warranted to contain no acids, nor any of a poisonous or injurious character, but is perfectly harmless in every respect.

Machine Stitches:
THE GROVER & BAKER
ELASTIC STITCH
AND THE
SHUTTLE OR LOCK STITCH.
THE Grover & Baker Elastic-Stitch Sewing Machine are superior to all others for the following reasons:
1. They sew direct from the spools, and require no rewinding of thread.
2. They are more easily understood and used, and less liable to derangement than other machines.
3. They are capable of executing perfectly, without change of adjustment, a much greater variety of work than other machines.
4. The stitch made by these machines is much more firm, elastic, and durable, especially upon articles which require to be washed and ironed, than any other stitch.
5. This stitch, owing to the manner in which the under thread is introduced, is much the most plump and beautiful to use, and retains the plumpness and beauty even upon articles frequently washed and ironed until they are worn out.
6. The structure of the seam is such that though it be cut or broken at intervals of only a few stitches it will neither open, run, or ravel, but remains firm and durable.
7. Unlike other machines, these fasten both ends of the seam by their own operation.
8. With these machines, while silk is used upon the right or face side of the seam, cotton may be used upon the other side without lessening the strength or durability of the seam. This can be done on no other machine, and is a great saving in all articles stitched or made up with silk.
9. These machines, in addition to their superior merits as instruments for sewing, by a change of adjustment, easily learned and practiced, execute the most beautiful and permanent embroidery and ornamental work.

PELOUBET ORGANS
AND
MELODEONS.
UNANIMOUSLY AWARDED THE FIRST PRIZE, A GOLD MEDAL, AS
"The Best Cabinet Organ."
American Institute, New York, October, 1865.
Being preeminent superior in Quality, Power, and Variety of Tone, and in number of combinations.—As the best instruments of America were there contending, whichever won that battle would have nothing to contend with in Art-Journal, (edited by a well-known musical critic).
They have also taken the first premium wherever exhibited this season.
PEDAL ORGANS, one, two, and three banks of keys—six sizes—$25 to $150. Without pedals, single and double bank, in great variety, $50 to $400. These Organs, with their smooth pipe-like quality of tone, beautiful solo stops, strength of character, and superior points, and general organ-like effects, are superior to any other. They are put up in cases of Solid Walnut, fancy ebonized Walnut, (new and unique style) and elegant rosewood, of splendid designs and finish, and of the best workmanship.—It being intended that each instrument should be constantly on hand, and ready for shipment, down to a five octave portable Melodeon, have the beautiful Tremolante stop, without extra charge. A large assortment constantly on hand at our GENERAL WHOLESALE & RETAIL WAREHOUSES, 841 Broadway, New York.
Our Illustrated Circular and Price Lists, with our new styles, are now ready, and for a Circular, apply to
THE HOWE Sewing Machines,
FOR FAMILIES AND MANUFACTURERS.
These World-Renowned Machines were awarded the highest premiums at the World's Fair, in London, and six first premiums at the New York Centennial Exhibition.
Celebrated for doing the best work, using a much smaller needle for the same thread, than any other machine, and by its introduction of the most approved machinery, we are now able to supply the very best machines in the world.
These Machines are made at our new and spacious factory at Bridgeport, Connecticut, under the immediate supervision of the President of the Company, Elias Howe, Jr., the original Inventor of the Sewing Machine.
They are adapted to all kinds of Family Sewing, and to the use of Seamstresses, Dress Makers, Tailors, Manufacturers of Shirts, Collars, Skirts, Gaiters, Mantillas, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Corsets, Boots, Shoes, Harness, Saddles, Linen Goods, Umbrellas, Parasols, &c. They work equally well upon silk, linen, cotton and cotton goods, with silk, cotton or linen thread. They will sew, quilt, gather, hem, roll, cord, braid, and perform every species of sewing, making beautiful and perfect stitch, alike on both sides of the article sewed.
The Stitch invented by MR. HOWE, and made on this machine is the most popular and durable, and all Sewing Machines are subject to the principle invented by him.
