

Children's Column.

Why Willie Wants the Curtains Up.

Cold wind, cold wind, You may rattle shrilly, Sing and happy in his bed...

Playing Doctor.

Harry was the son of a physician, and often amused himself by playing doctor, compounding his powders and pills out of the sand and gravel of the garden.

Mr. Toad winked and gulped, as much as to say: "Yes, sir, very bad." "Yes, yes, I understand your case exactly. You just please to wait a minute, and I'll cure you, double quick!"

Now it happened that Harry had seen his father prepare some compound rhubarb pills that morning, and it occurred to him that there was a favorable opportunity to test their efficacy.

Mr. Toad gulped and swallowed and began to bloat and bloat, until Harry thought he must be the very first alluded to in his "Reader," that tried to outdo the ox.

Children's Funny Sayings.

During a summer shower, attended with rumbling thunder, a little boy exclaimed, "Hark! that's the Good Man up in the sky pushing the chairs about!"

A crusty old doctor declined to pay his paver's bill, saying "this pavement had been spoiled and then covered up with earth to hide the bad work."

A little girl attended church on a Sunday morning lately, and was asked by her mother when she got home, "Daughter, can you tell me what the text was this morning?"

A pastor's wife, being out in search of new Sabbath school scholars, met a little boy playing in the street.

A Little Fun Now and Then.

What to Take.—An exchange says: A lady of our acquaintance, young, lovely and intelligent, called on a celebrated physician to do something for a rash of blood to the head.

"Why I have taken Brandreth's Pills, Parr's Pills, Strauberg's Pills, Sand's Sarsaparilla, Jane's Expecto-rant, used Dr. Sherman's Lozenges and Plaster, and—"

"Heavens! madam," interrupted the astonished doctor, "all these do your complaint no good?"

"Then the Presbyterian—that's most as deep-sounding, and that says—Eternal damnation! Eternal damnation!"

"The Baptist is quicker—a sharp, snappy bell,—and that says rapidly—Come up and be dipped! Come up and be dipped! Come up and be dipped!"

"But the Methodist—that is a crowner; he talks right out—Room—for—all! Room—for—all! Room—for—all!"

"Lame!" sighed Mrs. Partington, here I have suffered the bigmies of death three mortal weeks. Fast I was seized with a bleeding phenology in the left hemisphere of the brain, which was exceeded by a stoppage of the left ventilator of the heart.

At the mouth of what is known as Gay Gulch, in Colorado Territory, it is said that some one has put up a stake on which is written a list of water power and other claims in that neighborhood.

One of our Western exchanges says: "We notice in an Indiana paper the marriage of Mr. Thos. N. Lyon to Miss Mollie Lamb."
