LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Harvesting.—The weather has been quite unfavorable for harvesting grain during the past week, and some which was not well shocked has commenced growing out. On Saturday there was still a considerable quantity of wheat uncut in different parts of the county, hands being hard to get on account of a general indisposition to hard outdoor work of that kind, and some of this will without doubt suffer much loss from over-ripeness. The corn however is growing remarkably, and considering the planting will yield well.

The Game Law.—It is surprising that so many persons will contend there is no law prohibiting the killing of squirrels in this county before the 15th of August. Even justices of the peace were told are unable to find such an act! If this is so, they must be as blind as bats, for on page 714, Pamphlet Laws, 1896, it is as plain as print can make it. So that ignorance may never make no plea for its violation, we republish the act:

An Act for the protection and killing of game, and insectivorous birds, in certain counties in this Commonwealth.

SECTION 1. That from and after the passage of this act no person shall shoot, kill, or otherwise destroy, any pheasant, quail, partridge, woodcock, or rabbit, between the first day of January and the first day of September; or any woodcock, between the first day of January and the fourth day of July; or any squirrel, between the first day of January and the first day of August; or any partridge, or rabbit, between the first day of January and the first day of October, in the present year, and in each and every year thereafter, under the penalty of five dollars for each and every offence.

SECTION 2. That no person shall buy, or cause to be bought, or carry out of said counties, for the purpose of supplying any private or public house, or market, any pheasant, quail, partridge, woodcock, or rabbit, unless the same shall have been shot, or taken, in the proper season, as provided for in this act, under a penalty of five dollars for every offence.

SECTION 3. That no person shall at any time wilfully destroy the eggs, or nests, of any birds, mentioned in the different sections of this act, within said counties, under a penalty of two dollars for each and every offence.

SECTION 4. That the possession of any person, in said counties, of any of the game and birds, mentioned in the different sections of this act, shot, killed, or otherwise destroyed, out of season, as aforesaid, shall be prima facie evidence to convict under this act.

SECTION 5. That any person offending against any of the provisions of this act, and being thereof convicted, before any justice or judge, shall be liable, as aforesaid, or justice of the peace, for every such offence, for the fine, or fines, attached to the same, one-half to the use of the county, and the other half to the use of the informant; and if the offender shall refuse to pay the said forfeiture, he shall be committed to the jail of the county, for every such offence, for the space of ten days, without bail, or mainprize. Provided, however, that such conviction be made within sixty days after the committing of the offence; and all laws, inconsistent herewith, so far as they relate to said counties, are hereby repealed.

SECTION 6. The fire in Grove's cellar some days since did not stop the making of ice cream for one minute. No indeed. The people must have the article, and Grove continues to furnish it. Call and examine his groceries first, which will give you an appetite for his ice cream.

John Hoyt, Jr., is the member on the State Committee for this county.

Sills has commenced butchering, and can be found at market on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week.

Allen Elsenbeck continues to make an excellent article of ice cream, as we have had occasion to know.

Tresspassers are warned to keep off the premises of Wm. P. Elliott across the river—berry-hunters particularly.

The Democrat says N. C. Wilson, Esq., of this county, has been appointed to a $100 clerkship in the Surveyor-General's office.

George S. Myers of Ferguson's Valley, attends market on Tuesday and Saturday of each week, and furnishes fine vegetables of his own raising.

Charles Stuart has given several exhibitions in the Town Hall, which gave general satisfaction. His little musical and ballet performers are much admired, while his own delineations are equal to anything in that line in the county.

Some efforts are being made to have the termination of the Middlecreek railroad located across the creek, Graham and Francis having offered five acres for depot purposes. This route would cut the Poor House farm beyond the barn, and would not connect with the Millin & Centre.

The delicate elections will take place on Saturday next, when it is hoped as many as can make it convenient will attend. We years ago advocated what is known as the Crawford county system, by which the people themselves select candidates for office by a direct vote, and we hope the next convention will take some action on the subject.

One of the editors of the Altoona Tribune discovered the natural curiosity in the Long Narrows, to which the Gazette recently drew attention, and says:

"Passing that point recently, we kept a lookout for the curiosity, and discovered it. From the hasty glance obtained, as the cars passed, we could not see all that curiosity was visible. Perhaps some magnification might assist in bringing out fine points, otherwise, we think they will remain invisible."

The cars run at a high speed through the Narrows, and of course but little more than a glimpse can be obtained, but if on foot, standing still, and choosing position, the view, whether imagination or not, is pretty much as represented.

In the case of Maria Young, charged with the poisoning of her father, John Young, some months ago, it has been found that the contents of Prof. Rodgers' Philadelphia, that there were no traces of either vegetable or mineral poison therein. The District Attorney, by leave of Court, entered a nolle pros., and the prisoner was discharged from custody.

Some prisoners attempted to escape from the Hollidayburg jail by firing at the institution, but were discovered before much harm was done.

Centre County.

On Wednesday night a week about half past two o'clock, a fire was discovered in the new and unfinished building belonging to Mr. John Morgan, on Howard st., Bellefonte. When first seen the flames were protruding from the building, which in a very few minutes was a complete ruin.

Mr. H. N. McAllister narrowly escaped death from a stroke of lightning on Monday a week. He was on his farm superintending the hauling in of his grain and was standing between the wagon and a shock of wheat during a rain and lightning shower. Lightning struck the shock and instantly put it in a perfect blaze of fire. The stroke was so sudden and hard that the team became frightened and broke away, running into a hay-rack, completely demolishing it and injuring the horses more or less. With the exception of being heavily shocked we are rejoiced Mr. McAllister escaped unharmed.—Press.

We are informed that the Penn'a Central R. R. Co. have purchased a controlling interest in the Leekawanna & Bloomsburg Railroad.—Leekawanna Chronicle.

Proposals for the construction of the Railroad and Wagon Bridge at Lewisburg were received and accepted last Monday a week. The stone work was ordered to be commenced on the 21st inst. by the contractor, J. W. ...

Huntingdon County.

Mr. George Nolte, of Walker township, who has been on a visit to his friends in Germany, returned home one day last week, looking none the worse from a trip across "old ocean." We understand, says the Journal, that he had a pleasant journey, and spent a happy time amongst his friends and acquaintances in "der faderland."

The new M. E. Church, at Greenwood Furnace, Jackson township, will be dedicated on Sunday, September 1st, by Rev. J. McKendree Reddy, D. D., of Danville, Pa., to be preached the Dedication sermon.

A Camp Meeting, for Manor Hill Circuit, will be held on the old ground, "Cave Hollow," commencing August 23d. The usual boarding tent will be kept on the ground.

John McFahan, of Birmingham, was seriously hurt, on Saturday, the 13th inst., by being kicked by a colt.

On Sunday a stranger made his appearance at Mill Creek, and employed Mr. Lewis A. Smawley to drive him through the country for the purpose of buying up stock. Mr. S. drove him to Cassville, and the stranger purchased quite a number of cattle and sheep, which he was to pay for on their delivery at Mill Creek. Returning to town, the stranger gentleman represented that he must go to Harrisburg in order to make the stamps from his "father" wherewith to make purchases. He induced Mr. Smawley to accompany him, first borrowing a V from him on some pretext, and the two proceeded to Harrisburg, the stranger leaving his hotel bill and buggy hire to be settled on his return. They had not long been in Harrisburg, when Mr. Smawley's new-found friend suddenly deserted him, at the same time relieving him of about thirty dollars in cash. Mr. S. returned home alone, a sadder but a wiser man. On Monday several farmers drove the purchased stock to town, only to find themselves duped by a designing villain.—Mt. Union Times.

A TRIP TO EUROPE.

LETTER NO. VII.

Delightful Ride—Hotel de New York—Pleasant—Parks—Carriages—Popery—Victor Emmanuel—Paris.

FLORENCE, June 28, 1897.

We came through from Rome to this place on Friday last. The route is one of the most delightful over which we have passed. On each side of the road mountains lift their heights, covered with rocks and verdure. The whole country through which we came to reach this point is planted with grapes and olives. Each vine has a grape vine planted by its side and winding among its branches, the dark green leaves of the tree and the light green of the vine presenting a pleasing contrast. Go where you will in this country, however, you will see evidences of dirt and industry. Italy is a land of idleness and dirt, brigands and beggars.

We arrived here late on Friday evening, and immediately put up at the "Hotel de New York," pleasantly situated on the river Arno. We have fine apartments, overlooking the stream, for which we pay extra. Nearly all the hotels of this country are substantial structures, and finely kept. The floors throughout are generally of stone, and the furniture of the lodging rooms of iron. This is not to protect the buildings from fire, but from heat, which is very oppressive during a great part of the year. The stone and metal render the rooms cool and pleasant.

Florence is a very beautiful city. It has been much improved of late years. The houses are all strongly and handsomely built. The streets, as well as the sidewalks, are paved with broad blocks of stone, and are kept remarkably clean for an Italian city. The inhabitants use the streets as much as they do the sidewalks for pedestrian purposes, and they are mostly crowded with men, women and children. Whenever a carriage or cart approaches there is a general stampede towards the sidewalks. The river Arno flows through the city, adding greatly to its appearance. Said river is about the size of the Killisnoe river, which runs through your town. The banks are substantially walled up and numerous bridges span the stream, their architectural beauty producing a very pleasing effect.

On Saturday I visited "the Park." It is a very pretty place, but neither the nor the parks we visited at Rome will compare in beauty or magnificence with the "Central" of New York, or even "Druid Hill" of Baltimore. The "turn-out" or carriages, however, in style and number, excel anything I ever saw. As Rome the Pope sets the example in this respect, possessing the most dashing equipage on the continent. Cardinals, Bishops, and lower dignitaries, vie with each other in the exhibition of vehicles and horseflesh, and the people, as far as they are able, follow in their train.

There is an American Chapel here, at which I worshipped on Sabbath. It seems to me more like worship than anything I have seen since leaving Protestant territory. I had some sympathy for Roman Catholicism in our own country, but I cannot help regarding the entire system in existence here as a perfect farce. Indeed the people of Italy themselves are beginning to see to regard it. The present state of feeling here reminds me strongly of the passage of Scripture, "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country."

The masses here refuse to support the Pope. They laugh at America for having sent him $200,000 in gold, and say they would not give him a dollar. Victor Emmanuel is the idol of the people. He has broken up all the nunneries and monasteries in his kingdom, which embraces all of Italy except Rome, and monks and nuns, who had been supported in ease and comfort at the expense of the poorer classes, have been compelled to seek different occupations for a living. We visited a monastery this afternoon where we saw a monk who had been there for fifty years. He was eighty-five years of age, and said it was hard that he should now have to go out into the world and seek a living. It does seem to me that there should be a few cases of suffering like this than that a whole nation should groan under ecclesiastical oppression. Light is dawning for poor down-trodden Italy, however, and ere long we hope to see her blessed with the boon of civil and religious liberty.

On yesterday we made a flying visit to Pisa, where we obtained a view of the famous leaning tower and some other objects of lesser note. We will leave Florence for Venice the latter part of this week. I will try to write you from that point. Yours, HANS.
