FATHER ABRAHAM

"With malice towards none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nations wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphan, to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and a lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."-A. L.

JOB PRINTING DONE, IS AT THE FATHER ABRAHAM OFFICE, No. 13 SOUTH QUEEN STREET,

Miscellaneous. MY OPPOSITE NEIGHBOR. BY CARRIE D. HERR.

"I'm very glad to meet you, my dear, young friend," said Mr. Vaiden, on my being introduced to him.

"I know it. The villain! May I—I wonder—would it be asking too much—I blurted out, desperately, 'if I might see her?'"

"I have seen you at your window," she replied, half shyly, in a soft, low voice, that made the blood quicken in my pulses, though very, I could hardly tell.

"I'm afraid I have learned it already," I said, and then I heard, in broken sentences, in answer to my eager questions, that she had long loved me; but that when she found out the truth, she was engaged to another, and honor kept her silent, as it had kept me.

"I'm almost afraid I have offended papa Vaiden," said Tom, after we left. "The old idiot has gone to dabbling in stocks, and it's plain to be seen that he isn't inside the ring. It won't take very long for him to lose all he has. But I'll say no more on the subject. Are you going there on Tuesday night?"

"I wonder if there was ever an old maid who ever heard of a match that she was suitable. If a man wants to get his dimensions let him visit a graveyard."
