BEFORE THE BATTLE.

Politicians on the Auxious Seat.

There were plenty of Republican politicians in town last night, and most of them spent the evening at the opera house, where Madame Rentz's minstrels were performing. Some of the leading lights of both factions were present, but they all wore anxious looks and were not able to long remain sitting. J. Hay Brown, esq., who has never been known to sit in one place for an hour, kept running out at intervals, as did Captain McMellen, chief of the Hog Ringers, Owen Bricker very anxious and started seemed returned and called out Capt. McMellen, who had a long and earnest talk at the door with the blacksmith editor of the Inquirer. A number of the "boys" who get the money and do the outside work were there also, but they seemed to take more interest in the show than their leaders. There was a good sprinkling of country politicians among the crowd, and the parquet circle reminded one of a Republican convention, though it was not nearly so boisterous. During yesterday afternoon, also, there was no little degree of excitement and anxiety prevailing in the Republican camp. The Bull Ring chieftains got word of the movement of their opponents to steal a march on them, and measures were immediately put on foot to countermine the scheme of the crafty Hog Ringers. Trustthe wards," were dispatched in all directions with instructions to summon the faithful and inform them of the urgency of the situation. The genuine alarm of Eshleman, Brown, and others of the faction represented by those gentlemen, was rendered all the more manifest, by the calm satisfaction of the Hog Ring action upon the kidneys, liver and bowels. leaders, who exhibited symptoms that drastic pills. It is purely vegetable and is betrayed their confidence of a favorable prompt but mild in action. outcome of to-day's battle. Had it not been for the timely discovery by the adherents of the house of Lochiel of the plan to overthrow them in their own stronghold there is good reason to believe that the Old Guard would now be included in the list of counties that may be safely counted for Blaine at Harrisburg next month

The American Engine Finished.

For the past six weeks the engine of the American fire company, No. 5, has been undergoing repairs at the carriage shop of Edgerly & Co., on Market street, and it was finished yesterday. It has received a thorough overhauling, four new wheels and a tongue being the principal improvements. The engine has been painted in a very artistic manner by John Whitehead, who does the work of that kind for the firm. The wheels, tongue and coal box are painted in English vermilion, with gilt stripe, edge with dark blue. between which runs a very small Wallace Bruce To-night .-- Wallace Bruce will deliver his greatest lecture, "Womanhood in Shakspeare," in the opera house to-night, and he should be greeted with a large audience. Mr. Brace has received the encomiums of press and public wherever he has delivered his lectures. In none of his subjects has he appeared o better advantage than in that selected for this evening. The Philadelphia Inquirer says-"The lecture was repiete with passages of clomence and beauty. Mr. Bruce is a graphic speaker and his lecture produced a most pleasing impression, both as to the subject matter and the style of its delivery." Ex-President Woolsey, of Yale, says: "I listened with great pleasure and saw in it a great care in composiion and arrangement. I was struck with his plan, the happy transitions from one part of the subject to another, the purity and felicity of his style, and his elevated sentiments.
