

Lancaster Intelligencer.

MONDAY EVENING, FEB. 2, 1880.

The Municipal Nominations.

The Democratic primaries of Saturday evening were largely attended, but quiet, orderly gatherings, whose result was accomplished through a fair expression of the wishes of the Democracy and will commend itself to the party as a whole.

The ward and council nominations are good and in the wards which have hitherto generally been Republican the Democratic nominations are such as to encourage the hope of gains that will make at least the popular branch of councils more nearly representative of the best interests and the political differences of the voters of the city.

The unanimous renomination of Mayor MacGonigle by a most remarkably full vote, to be polled when there was scarcely a contest save in one ward—though not unexpected, is none the less noteworthy of the positive recognition by the Democracy of the merits of his administration.

Some of the papers are making great fun of the Ciceronian effort of DOX CAMERON to pronounce a senatorial eulogy on Chandler, which they say he read for five minutes from two sheets of paper.

New York is having quite an influx of Pacific coast millionaires, following Mr. Keene somewhat in their tastes. Mr. D. O. Mills, of California bank fame, has come and Mr. James C. Flood, the Bonanza king; the family of the late Mr. O'Brien and others, it is said, are moving Gothamward.

Dr. Lewis has recovered a claim of $300, with interest, from a Mr. Lipps, whom he had successfully treated for cataract, restoring to Mr. Lipps the use of his eyes.

General SHERMAN, in conversation regarding the charges and specifications filed with the secretary of war by General Boynton, of the Cincinnati Gazette, roundly denounced newspapers and newspaper men as a class, and said that if Boynton would get any commissioned officer to endorse his charges he would call for a court.

GEROME, the painter, is now fifty-five years old, but is remarkable young in his art. He is an indefatigable student in his art, and carefully notes and profits by competent criticism.

By the defiant and irregular use of the party machinery in Allegheny, Dauphin and Lancaster counties, Don Cameron and his henchmen have added 29 delegates to the 48 from Philadelphia, as a solid power in the Republican state convention to control its action in the Cameron interest.

ceeding on his assumption, the editors of the INTELLIGENCER have not felt bound to answer him nor Mr. MacPherson as to "what is in their mind."

PAUL DEVAUX, the Belgian politician, and the Marquis of ANGLESEY, Liberal member of the House of Peers, are dead.

The Duke of Newcastle is 16 years old, Marquis Camden is 8, Earl Russell is 45, and Lord Southampton is 12.

Some of the papers are making great fun of the Ciceronian effort of DOX CAMERON to pronounce a senatorial eulogy on Chandler, which they say he read for five minutes from two sheets of paper.

Dr. Lewis has recovered a claim of $300, with interest, from a Mr. Lipps, whom he had successfully treated for cataract, restoring to Mr. Lipps the use of his eyes.

General SHERMAN, in conversation regarding the charges and specifications filed with the secretary of war by General Boynton, of the Cincinnati Gazette, roundly denounced newspapers and newspaper men as a class, and said that if Boynton would get any commissioned officer to endorse his charges he would call for a court.

GEROME, the painter, is now fifty-five years old, but is remarkable young in his art. He is an indefatigable student in his art, and carefully notes and profits by competent criticism.

By the defiant and irregular use of the party machinery in Allegheny, Dauphin and Lancaster counties, Don Cameron and his henchmen have added 29 delegates to the 48 from Philadelphia, as a solid power in the Republican state convention to control its action in the Cameron interest.

PAUL DEVAUX, the Belgian politician, and the Marquis of ANGLESEY, Liberal member of the House of Peers, are dead.

The Duke of Newcastle is 16 years old, Marquis Camden is 8, Earl Russell is 45, and Lord Southampton is 12.

Some of the papers are making great fun of the Ciceronian effort of DOX CAMERON to pronounce a senatorial eulogy on Chandler, which they say he read for five minutes from two sheets of paper.

Dr. Lewis has recovered a claim of $300, with interest, from a Mr. Lipps, whom he had successfully treated for cataract, restoring to Mr. Lipps the use of his eyes.

Latest News by Mail.

The chess congress was terminated on Saturday, when Captain Mackenzie and Mr. Grundy played off the tie. Mackenzie won.

A man named Sabourin went to his home in Ottawa the other night, drunk. He quarreled with his wife and she brained him with an axe.

The Indian appropriation bill has been completed in committee and will be reported to the House as soon possible. It appropriates $4,493,645.

The third trial of Jennie R. Smith and Cover D. Bennett, for the murder of the former's husband, in Jersey City, resulted on Saturday in a verdict of not guilty.

George Cummings was drowned by breaking through the ice at Watertown, N. Y., on Friday night. Another man was rescued from a floating cake of ice after seven hours exposure.

The Moors at Fez, Morocco, have attacked the Jews, wounding several. They covered an old man, over 70 years of age, with petroleum and burned him alive, amidst shouts of joy. Two of the wounded Jews are French subjects.

A violent wind storm raged at Albany, N. Y., all day yesterday. The tin roofs were blown off Taylor's brewery, Stryker Brothers' malt house, the Delaware canal and the machinery shop, the Central railroad freight platform, and two private residences. The weather last night was very cold.

Rev. Mr. Cowley, the wolf in sheep's clothing who kept the Shepherd's Fold in New York, is here, and the Delaware canal in default of the bail required for his appearance to answer the twenty-five indictments found against him by the grand jury and will not have another chance to beat and starve a lot of babies.

A dispatch yesterday from Mount Washington says there was a snow storm, with a wind which was blowing from the mountain in the same length of time, the thermometer at noon being nineteen degrees above and at 9 o'clock in the evening twenty-seven below zero. The wind was blowing at the rate of ninety-nine miles an hour.

Jacob Haber, while sinking a shaft at Tuscarora, was buried alive. His body was recovered.

Mrs. Kries, aged 60, of Emletton, Venango county, was taken with a hemorrhage while washing dishes and died instantly.

The park commission decided to give the permanent exhibition company six months time to raise $100,000 for the restoration of the main building.

Allegheny county elected eighteen delegates and pledged them to Grant, Northampton elected four delegates, unopposed, but resolutions favoring Blaine were passed.

The product of the Desmoines department of the Pennsylvania steel works for the month of January was 8,774 tons steel and 7,623 tons finished rails.

In a saloon fracas in Erie William Welsh, of the revenue cutter Perry, stabbed John Leonard just under the heart. Welsh was arrested and committed without bail to await the result of Leonard's injuries, which are considered fatal.

Reading a son of Henry Loeb was stabbed in the back by a son of Henry A. Hoff and is thought to be mortally wounded. The boys, who are between the ages of twelve and fifteen years, were bandying epithets with each other at the time.

Temporary Peace.

The chess congress was terminated on Saturday, when Captain Mackenzie and Mr. Grundy played off the tie. Mackenzie won.

A man named Sabourin went to his home in Ottawa the other night, drunk. He quarreled with his wife and she brained him with an axe.

The Indian appropriation bill has been completed in committee and will be reported to the House as soon possible. It appropriates $4,493,645.

The third trial of Jennie R. Smith and Cover D. Bennett, for the murder of the former's husband, in Jersey City, resulted on Saturday in a verdict of not guilty.

George Cummings was drowned by breaking through the ice at Watertown, N. Y., on Friday night. Another man was rescued from a floating cake of ice after seven hours exposure.

The Moors at Fez, Morocco, have attacked the Jews, wounding several. They covered an old man, over 70 years of age, with petroleum and burned him alive, amidst shouts of joy. Two of the wounded Jews are French subjects.

A violent wind storm raged at Albany, N. Y., all day yesterday. The tin roofs were blown off Taylor's brewery, Stryker Brothers' malt house, the Delaware canal and the machinery shop, the Central railroad freight platform, and two private residences. The weather last night was very cold.

Rev. Mr. Cowley, the wolf in sheep's clothing who kept the Shepherd's Fold in New York, is here, and the Delaware canal in default of the bail required for his appearance to answer the twenty-five indictments found against him by the grand jury and will not have another chance to beat and starve a lot of babies.

A dispatch yesterday from Mount Washington says there was a snow storm, with a wind which was blowing from the mountain in the same length of time, the thermometer at noon being nineteen degrees above and at 9 o'clock in the evening twenty-seven below zero. The wind was blowing at the rate of ninety-nine miles an hour.

Jacob Haber, while sinking a shaft at Tuscarora, was buried alive. His body was recovered.

Mrs. Kries, aged 60, of Emletton, Venango county, was taken with a hemorrhage while washing dishes and died instantly.

The park commission decided to give the permanent exhibition company six months time to raise $100,000 for the restoration of the main building.

Allegheny county elected eighteen delegates and pledged them to Grant, Northampton elected four delegates, unopposed, but resolutions favoring Blaine were passed.

The product of the Desmoines department of the Pennsylvania steel works for the month of January was 8,774 tons steel and 7,623 tons finished rails.

In a saloon fracas in Erie William Welsh, of the revenue cutter Perry, stabbed John Leonard just under the heart. Welsh was arrested and committed without bail to await the result of Leonard's injuries, which are considered fatal.

Reading a son of Henry Loeb was stabbed in the back by a son of Henry A. Hoff and is thought to be mortally wounded. The boys, who are between the ages of twelve and fifteen years, were bandying epithets with each other at the time.

Obituary.

Death of Dr. William Whiteside. Between 10 and 11 o'clock Saturday evening Dr. Wm. M. Whiteside, dentist, died at his residence on East King street near the court house in the 49th year of his age—his death having been caused by an aneurism of one of the large blood vessels near the heart, from which he had suffered much for many years but which did not confine him to his house until within a few weeks past.

Dr. Whiteside was born in Leacock township, this county, and educated at Oak Hill academy, near Leaman Place. He studied dentistry with Dr. John McCalla of this city, and after taking a professional course of study was for several years employed by Dr. White, the noted Philadelphia dentist. On returning to Lancaster he opened an office and successfully practiced dentistry until the beginning of the three-months service, serving as 2d Lieut. in Co. E, 10th Regt Pa Vols.

Judge D. W. Patterson being captain of the company and the late O. J. Dickey, Lieut. Colonel. The regiment first encamped at Chambersburg, and marched thence to join Gen. Patterson's army at Harper's Ferry and vicinity. Mustered out of service at the expiration of his three months term, Dr. Whiteside almost immediately set about enlisting a company for the 79th regiment, then about being organized. He was mustered into service as captain of company I and served for three years, mostly in Kentucky and Tennessee, resigning September 30th, 1864.

Captain Whiteside was a strict disciplinarian and was regarded as the best "officer of the day" in the regiment. Being remarkably neat and tidy, he insisted on the same cleanliness in others, and when his turn came to serve as officer of the day, there was sure to be a general overhauling and renovation of the camp. At inspection of arms, no matter what might be the state of the weather, Capt. Whiteside's men were as tidy and their arms shone as brightly as when on dress parade. Owing to his peculiar qualifications for the duty, he was for a considerable portion of his term of service detached from his regiment and served on courts martial and military boards at Nashville and other points. He was thus prevented from sharing the dangers of several of the battles in which his company participated. He was with his command, however, at the bloody battle of Chickamauga, and bore himself as a chivalric officer.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

The Democratic Nominations.

The Democratic primary elections, to nominate candidates for mayor, school directors, councilmen and ward officers, took place on Saturday evening, and considering the fact that there was no opposition to the renomination of his honor Mayor MacGonigle, and little or no contest for the ward offices in most of the wards, the turnout of the sturdy Democracy was large, and the best of feeling prevailed at the several polling places. As will be seen by the figures printed below more than 1,400 votes were cast for mayor. The contest for school directors was spirited and resulted in the nomination of four of the retiring members, and two other warm friends of popular education—Messrs. Haas and Oblander. The nominations for council are exceptionally strong, and it is believed there will be Democratic gains in several of the wards. The ward tickets also have been carefully chosen.

The full Democratic ticket as nominated, together with the occupation and place of residence of the candidates, will be found below:

Mayor. John T. MacGonigle, mayor, Stevens house.

School Directors. H. Z. Rhoads, jeweler, 738 Manor street. Peter McCoomy, banker, 421 West Orange street.

Ward Officers. Dr. John Leverage, physician, 323 North Lime street. George W. Zeeler, liveryman, 13 East Lemon street.

First Ward. Select Council. Jacob Reese, liveryman, 158 North Queen street.

Second Ward. Select Council. Abm. Hirsch, merchant, 129 North Duke street.

Third Ward. Select Council. Charles M. Howell, marble cutter, 133 North Queen street.

Fourth Ward. Select Council. Charles G. Rhoads, jeweler, 131 South Prince street.

Fifth Ward. Common Council. Abraham Erisman, carpenter, 414 West Orange street.

Sixth Ward. Common Council. George W. Zeeler, liveryman, 13 East Lemon street.

Seventh Ward. Common Council. John Yackly, shoemaker, 23 Middle street.

Eighth Ward. Common Council. John N. Nixdorf, shoemaker, 456 North Prince street.

Ninth Ward. Common Council. John N. Nixdorf, shoemaker, 456 North Prince street.

Tenth Ward. Common Council. John N. Nixdorf, shoemaker, 456 North Prince street.

Eleventh Ward. Common Council. John N. Nixdorf, shoemaker, 456 North Prince street.

Assessor.

James R. Garvin, printer, 361 South Queen street.

Constable. John Merringer, constable, 516 North street.

Judge. Henry T. Yackly, carpenter, 25 Middle street.

Inspector. William McLaughlin, carpenter, 39 Middle street.

Eighth Ward. Select Council. Frederick Judith, wood bender, 734 High street.

Common Council. George Doos, dairyman, Love Lane near furnace.

Inspector. Jacob Kautz, pump maker, 31 West Strawberry street.

Ninth Ward. Common Council. John S. Clair, cigarmaker, 433 High street.

Tenth Ward. Common Council. J. H. Ostermyer, cigar manufacturer, 356 North Queen street.

Assessor. Elam G. Snyder, salesman, 509 West Lemon street.

Inspector. Charles E. Downey, clerk, 343 North Mulberry street.

Assessor. H. A. Miley, saddler, 672 North Queen street.

Inspector. Peter Lutz, assessor, 445 North Prince street.

Constable. Adam Dittow, carpenter, 541 North Prince street.

Judge. John N. Nixdorf, shoemaker, 456 North Prince street.

Inspector. Charles F. Smith, cigarmaker, 336 West James street.

Personal.

PAUL DEVAUX, the Belgian politician, and the Marquis of ANGLESEY, Liberal member of the House of Peers, are dead.

The Duke of Newcastle is 16 years old, Marquis Camden is 8, Earl Russell is 45, and Lord Southampton is 12.

Some of the papers are making great fun of the Ciceronian effort of DOX CAMERON to pronounce a senatorial eulogy on Chandler, which they say he read for five minutes from two sheets of paper.

Dr. Lewis has recovered a claim of $300, with interest, from a Mr. Lipps, whom he had successfully treated for cataract, restoring to Mr. Lipps the use of his eyes.

General SHERMAN, in conversation regarding the charges and specifications filed with the secretary of war by General Boynton, of the Cincinnati Gazette, roundly denounced newspapers and newspaper men as a class, and said that if Boynton would get any commissioned officer to endorse his charges he would call for a court.

GEROME, the painter, is now fifty-five years old, but is remarkable young in his art. He is an indefatigable student in his art, and carefully notes and profits by competent criticism.

By the defiant and irregular use of the party machinery in Allegheny, Dauphin and Lancaster counties, Don Cameron and his henchmen have added 29 delegates to the 48 from Philadelphia, as a solid power in the Republican state convention to control its action in the Cameron interest.

PAUL DEVAUX, the Belgian politician, and the Marquis of ANGLESEY, Liberal member of the House of Peers, are dead.

The Duke of Newcastle is 16 years old, Marquis Camden is 8, Earl Russell is 45, and Lord Southampton is 12.

Some of the papers are making great fun of the Ciceronian effort of DOX CAMERON to pronounce a senatorial eulogy on Chandler, which they say he read for five minutes from two sheets of paper.

State Items.

Jacob Haber, while sinking a shaft at Tuscarora, was buried alive. His body was recovered.

Mrs. Kries, aged 60, of Emletton, Venango county, was taken with a hemorrhage while washing dishes and died instantly.

The park commission decided to give the permanent exhibition company six months time to raise $100,000 for the restoration of the main building.

Allegheny county elected eighteen delegates and pledged them to Grant, Northampton elected four delegates, unopposed, but resolutions favoring Blaine were passed.

The product of the Desmoines department of the Pennsylvania steel works for the month of January was 8,774 tons steel and 7,623 tons finished rails.

In a saloon fracas in Erie William Welsh, of the revenue cutter Perry, stabbed John Leonard just under the heart. Welsh was arrested and committed without bail to await the result of Leonard's injuries, which are considered fatal.

Reading a son of Henry Loeb was stabbed in the back by a son of Henry A. Hoff and is thought to be mortally wounded. The boys, who are between the ages of twelve and fifteen years, were bandying epithets with each other at the time.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

At the close of the war he resumed his profession of dentistry and practiced it successfully until a few weeks ago, when impaired health compelled him to leave it. Politically Dr. Whiteside was a pronounced Republican and was two or three times a candidate for the Republican nomination for register, but failed to secure it, as he would not connect himself with either of the "rings" into which that party is divided. While he was warm in his friendship and generous to a fault, he was "a good hater," and showed no quarter to trickeries and shams—political or otherwise. He was esteemed by a large circle of friends, professional, civil and military. He leaves a wife and only daughter to mourn his loss.

Local Intelligence.

The second week of common pleas court began this morning with Judge Patterson on the bench. There are thirty cases down on the list, nineteen of which are ready for trial.

In two cases of John M. Auneg vs. Samuel J. Demuth, verdicts were taken in favor of the defendant.

The case of Margaretta Griffith vs. H. E. Eckert was settled by the parties themselves.

On Friday, as noticed before, a writ of estrangement was served on H. S. Shirk and Jacob Peters, lessees of the Beaver street cotton mill, by the owners of said mill, who allege that the machinery, &c., is being injured and wasted by the mill being worked at night.

The running of the mill at night does not injure the machinery used, it being always kept in first-class condition by being repaired, and that it is in better condition to-day than when they took it; the same being run together with other machinery put there by themselves. They, therefore, pray the court to dissolve the writ of estrangement or make such order as may seem just and right.

The court after hearing the argument, by counsel, representing the parties, took the papers and reserved their decision.

On the farm of U. Carpenter, in Warwick township, there is a chestnut tree measuring as follows: 27 feet; 3 feet above ground, 19 feet; a circle around extremity of 61 and 90 yards.

On the same farm there were lately cut two white oaks, aged respectively 251 and 249 years, and a walnut 180 years, counting the sap rings.

While Mr. Carpenter is utilizing trees that have attained full maturity, he is carefully preserving the younger timber on his farm and re-planting his woods.

Good Shows Coming. The "Galley Slave" will be played here by a New York company on February 10th, and the Holman opera troupe will be here in April. Annie Pixley, who has made as much money this season as any star in the country, will appear in "Miss" shortly.

Our Ice-bound Territory.

The steamship California arrived at San Francisco on Saturday from Sitka and Wrangell, and she reports the weather in Alaska very severe. There was war between two Indian tribes at Wrangell, and a fine of $100 was assessed in the killing of several on both sides. The whites formed a company of eighty men, and "enforced a temporary peace," which, it was thought, might be broken at any moment. The commander of the sloop-of-war Jamestown sent assistance to the settlers. Mining operations were progressing favorably, but the mills had been closed by the severity of the weather.

The Examiner gives its friends, "the best workers in the ward," this somewhat peculiar "classic embrace": "The Intellectual and the New Era must be very much shocked at the way the 'best workers' in the Fourth ward of Philadelphia courts. That innocent lamb, Squire McMullen, who is never without a six-shooter and never hesitates to use it, was tried, and so was Ryan, another of the 'best workers' in the ward. As it is the special province of these courts to regulate justice and courts lay down the law for them to follow, are they not a little slow in coming up to the mark in this respect?"

The New Era did not find fault with District Attorney Eshleman, nor attempt "to regulate judges and courts" because "they tried one of the best workers of the ward," but because the district attorney and his assistant, J. Hay Brown, refused or neglected to try him, at a time when the evidence was at hand for a conviction, and decried the court into consenting to a verdict of not guilty by representing to a veracious jury that the defendant had committed the crime, and found the case could not be made out. Had our district attorney placed the defendant on trial as promptly as the Philadelphia district attorney did, instead of deceiving the court as to the real facts of the case, the jury would have had no cause of complaint, no matter what the jury might have done. Or, had he