THE COMING ERA. They tell us that the Muse is soon to fly hence

Leaving the bowers of song that once were Her robes bequeathing to her sister, Science, The groves of Pindus for the axe to clear.

Optics will claim the wondering eye of fancy Physics will grasp imagination's wings. Plain facts exercise fiction's necromancy, The workshop hammer where the minstrel

No more with laughter at Thalia's frolics Our eyes shall twinkle till the tears rul down.

But in her place the lecturer on hydraulics Spout forth his watery science to the town

No more our foolish passions and affections The tragic Muse with mimic grief shall try, But, nobler far, a course of vivisections Teach what it costs a tortured brute to die.

The uncarthed monad, long in buried rock Shall tell the secret whence our being came The chemist show us death in life's black oxide. Left when the breath no longer fans its flame Instead of crack-brained poets in their attics Filling thin volumes with their flowery talk, There shall be books of wholesome mathe

The tutor with his black-board and his chalk No longer bards with madrigal and sonnet Shall woo to moonlight walks the ribbone

But side by side the beaver and the bonnet Stroll, calmly pondering on some problem'

The sober bliss of serious calculation Shall mock the trivial joys that fancy drew And oh, the rapture of a solved equation-One sell-same answer on the tips of two!

So speak in solemn tones our youthful sages, Patient, severe, laborious, slow, exact, As o'er creation's protoplasmic pages They browse and munch the thistle crops fact.

And yet we've sometimes found it rather pleas

To dream again the scenes that Shakspeare To walk the hillside with the Scottish peasant Among the daisies wet with morning's dew

To leave awhile the daylight of the real, Led by the guidance of the master's hand, For the strange radiance of the far ideal-"The light that was never on sea or land."

Well, time alone can lift the future's curtain-Science may teach our children all she knows

But love will kindle fresh young hearts, 'tis certain, And June will not forget her blushing rose And so, in spite of all that time is bringing-

Beauty and Love will keep the poet singing. And songs still live-the science of the heart--Oliver Wendell Holmes, in the Atlantic Monthly.

Treasures of truth and miracles of art,

On Washington.

Some Things About Him not Known or For-

Not the least interesting event that came to pass on the anniversary of Wash- been doctoring for 19 years for Rheumatism ington's birthday in New York this year dyspepsia and neuralgia, has not had one good was the preaching of a sermon-perhaps | night's rest for years. He is now sleeping well we should rather say the pronouncing of an eulogy-upon Washington by that sturdy Englishman, the Reverend Robert

A text was found in Daniel x. 11: "A man greatly beloved," and we recall no discourse that is preserved in literature which contains so much detailed information that everybody ought to possess, but which we suspect comparatively few persons do so possess. How many individuals, for instance, in an average modern drawing-room would be found to know that Washington was six feet two inches high in his stockings. His was fond of adventures, fond of playing soldiers, and he was swift of foot. He was also, doubtless, fond of mischief, but there was no meanness. He fell in love before he was 15, and wrote poetry, worse than which could hardly have been written. Before he was 16 he K-W T7 sometimes made $20 a day at surveying. Yet was always bad at spelling. He had the largest hands in the thirteen colonies. Timothy Pickering claimed to have the next largest. He had great muscular arms and a bursting chest. He was brave as a lion, and more bashful than a girl. This bashfulness he never got over. could talk to hostile Indians, or to the K-W great Louis, without a blush or a stammer, but not to a woman. Mr. Collyer said he loved to watch this bashfulness in the K-W man. It was a proof that to him womanhood was as sacred as the angels. He married at 30, in Mr. Collyer's opinion five years too late. He had good business ability. It has been said that great men were bad business men. This was not true of the greatest. Byron and Shellev were bad business men; but Shakspeare, Washington and Lincoln, each so great that in his own way none was greater, were not. Several instances were given of Washington's close attention to the details of business. Yet he could give money with boundless generosity. During the revo-

Tradition lets us know that there was such a thing as a curtain lecture for George Washington, Martha Washington had a temper. His reply-it has often been repeated since-was, as it was handed down to us:

lution, so far as Mr. Collyer knew, he took no salary, but on the other hand, had expended $75,000 from his own purse. He was an all-sided man. From the camp he and let no one go away hungry from his

"Well, well, my dear, I'll see to it, I'll see to it. Let me go to sleep." He could jump into a river after a man who had snapped his gun at him when interrupted in stealing his game, pull him to shore, give him a tremendous thrashing, and then go on and think no more about it. When his troops were retreating and pressing him back he could snap his pistols at them and, if the truth must be told, he could swear at them like a trooper. "And," said Mr. Collyer, pausing, while his audience smiled, "I'll give you leave to swear when you are in such a press as that. '

A Cross Baby. Nothing is so conducive to a man's remaining a bachelor as stopping for one night at the house of a married friend and being kept awake for five or six hours by the 'crying of a cross baby. All cross and crying babies need only Hop Bitters to make them well and smiling. Young man remember this —Ed.

Newburg, N. Y., Oct. 20, 1879.

H. H. Warner & Co., Rochester, N. Y.—Gentlemen: "A lady of over seventy years of age, in failing health for over a year, has been using Warner's Safe Bitters on my recommendation. She feels very grateful for the benefit she has derived therefrom, and says that until she used it her stomach could bear no vegetable food for over three years. I believe it to be a certain specific for dyspepsia.
