The Adventures of That Gay Deceiver. The New York Mercury has a long account of the matrimonial doings and the multitudinous deceptions practiced by Alfred Carlson, the uxorious Swede whose villainies have already been chronicled in the Intelligencer, and who left a bride in this city, only to hear of his previous rascalities when too late to have him ar-

According to the Mercury his Paterson N. J., bride was a widow, Mrs. Parkenson daughter of Mrs. Mornzell, of Paterson. who was possessed of quite a large amount of property in Paterson, besides a magnificent farm at Haledon, some few miles distant. There she lived in good style. Oc casionally Mrs. Parkenson would visit her mother, and on one of these visits, gay and handsome, fascinating Mr. Carlson made her acquaintance. The widow at that time was in her forty-second or third year, was tall and graceful in her carriage, and though her hair was freely streaked with gray, was by no means uncomely. To see was to admire, at least so asseverated Mr. Carlson, who, having long looked and sought for an introduction to her, declared himself her abject slave henceforth, and regardless of the other lady's love, became a constant and ardent suitor for the hand of the lady whose praises he never tired of sounding, whose love he set himself untiringly to win. Fortune favored him. Mrs. Mouzell, the mother of the lady he desired to marry so much, fell ill, and her daughter, Mrs. Parkenson, took up her residence with her a while. After a few months the siege proved successful. She and Carlson were married April 22, 1877.

He fell from grace, took to drink, lived for awhile on his wife's money and one day having borrowed a couple of hundred of his wife's dollars, left Paterson, in the company of a lady to whom he had been paying attentions previous to meeting her. Very soon thereafter it became known that the young lady had loved the gay Adonis "not wisely, but too well." After his return, when charged by his wife with having been the cause, the handsome husband admitted the impeachment, using it as an excuse for not returning the $200, which he had in a moment of forgetfulness taken out of his wife's desk just before he left his home to accompany his young lady friend. After being out of business a long time he finally agreed that if his wife would fit up and furnish one of her houses as a first-class restaurant, he would charge himself with the "looking after it." Investing three thousand dollars, Mrs. Carlson made the necessary changes and procured a full stock of wines, liquors and cigars. Within a month it dawned upon his wife that he had only one customer, and that was himself. Seeing that the experiment was a failure, Mrs. Carlson insisted on closing the restaurant up. Afterward her husband amused himself at home spending her money, selling her former husband's watches and chains and jewelry to keep him in pocket money, and conducting himself in such a thoroughly lordly manner that, in self protection, his wife had to seek the aid of the law, and obtained a warrant for his arrest for disposing of property that was not his own. With this in her pocket she gave her loving spouse the opinion to leave or the alternative of being "locked up." He chose the former, and with eighty dollars his family, aware of his infirmity, frein his pocket started out to work for his quently cautioned him against exposing

Within a month came another letter; he which was purchased in the neighborhood, was doing well, had joined the church, was received at Christiana. It was shipped and was living with a single eye to the future. About this time religion must have taken possession of his soul, for his by Philadelphia parties, were shipped away wife in quick succession received to-day. numerous pious letters from him, averring his better life and heavenly hopes, until his Paterson wife agreed to take him back. On probation he conducted himself decently for a few weeks, but then again fell into his old habits. Three months of this, and again Mrs. Carlson's patience became exhausted. Once again he had the option given him of arrest or departure, and as before, he choose the former. Again did his wife fit him out, and with $100 in his pockets he returned to Delaware. Once there he again experienced, according to his own accounts, religion, but the bait did not take. Meantime she heard of a dozen person victimized by him there: and has received a lettter from his wife in this city, which the Mercury publishes. Of his victim at Paterson that paper

She had arisen from her sick bed to speak to the Mercury reporter, and placed in his hand the voluminous correspondence which she had received in reference to Carlson. Sorrow and sadness, deep seated and overwhelming, oppressed her, and as she spoke in little more than a whisper, the hectic flush dyeing her cheek every now and again to leave it paler than death the next moment, showed how much she felt the terrible position in which the man who had called her wife had placed himself. LITITZ SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT.

A Crowded House and a Fine Programme The Lititz grammar school and junior choir gave an entertainment on Saturday evening. It was one of the most successful and delightful that has ever been given in the village. The hall was crowded to overflowing, every seat and every foot of standing room being occupied, four hundred persons being present and quite a number of people being turned away from the hall, unable to get seats

The programme embraced choruses, solos duets, trios and recitations, dialogues, all of which were well rendered. A number of tableaux artistically arranged were also presented, among them being "Listeners Hear no Good of Themselves, " "Coming Through the Rye," "Signing the Pledge" and "Woman's Rights." The second part of the programme was the "Centennial Tea-Party."

At the close of the entertainment an autograph album containing the autographs of all the scholars was presented in the name of the scholars by Miss Hacker to Rev. Hamilton as a token of respect and remembrance of the many kindnesses received at his hands by the pupils.

BROKE HIS NECK.

Tragic Death of Lawrence Schilling. To-day about noon Lawrence Schilling, shoemaker, residing at Groffstown, just east of this city, fell down the stairs, from the second to the first story of his residence, and broke his neck. He was subject to epilepsy and it is supposed the accident was caused by his being attacked with a fit at the head of the stairway. He was about 55 years of age and leaves a wife and several grown-up children. He was a man of considerable property. It is said that he has on several former occasions hurt himself by falling down stairs and from ladders, and that members of himself in dangerous places.

Sale of Market Stalls,

On Saturday morning John Rebman, auctioneer, sold at public sale the stalls in the Farmers' Northern market house. The competition was lively and the stalls brought higher prices than ever before, one of the farmers' stands selling for $36 and another for $33. About 200 stands were disposed of. No more will be sold at public sale, but a few can be had at private sale on application to the managers.

This is the second time he has been robbed this spring., and it is a dastardly trick, as Mr. Frybarger, being unable to follow any other avocation, has to depend on huckstering for a livelihood.

SALISBURY ITEMS.

Wm. Frybarger, the shellbark man, has planted several bushels potatoes besides about half an acre of various kinds of garden truck, the product of which he sells in the Lancaster market. They are not likely to grow much under 3 inches of snow, although he always has the earliest vegetables in this section and has them in abundance. Last season he cut a crop of hay from a field, then planted same piece of ground in tobacco, raising a good crop therefrom, and after the tobacco was cut plowed it up again and sowed it in wheat. Can any of our valley farmers beat that succession of crops?

Suppery and Sloppy. Saturday night and yesterday morning the pavements were covered with sleet and hundreds of good people unintentionally and unexpectedly sat down upon the sidewalk. One gentleman tells us that he saw fifteen persons fall on South Queen street, within a short distance of Centre square. Some were hurt severely, and we hear that one man, whose name we did not learn, broke his arm.

To-day the sleet and snow have disappear ed and the streets are flooded with a thin mud, not quite as thick as warm mush, but about twice as sticky. It is almost this villainous compound. There is to-day in the Lancaster county iail an even hundred tramps most of whom, if not all, have been committed for drunken and disorderly conduct. These gentry seem to like their quarters, notwithstanding the manner in which they are crowded together. "Bummer's Hall," the large room erected in the jail yard, contains no less than 80 occupants. Death of an Aged Woman. Mrs. Catharine Eckman, widow of the late Jacob Eckman, late of this city, died in the borough of Strasburg, this after-

Mesers. Weeks & Potter have never doubted the specific properties of Cuticura, Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Soar, for the speedy, permanent and economical cure of Humors of the Blood, Skin and Scalp. They are, however, astonished at their universal success; for it was to be expected that in the hands of some hey would fall solely from spasmodic or igno-ant use of them.

They are unable to say without fear of con-radiction that no remedies ever achieved in radiction that no remedies ever achieved in the short space of one year the number of won-derful cures performed by the Curioura Res-

SALT RHEUM Covering the Body for Ten Years, Perma nently Cured.

LAW OFFICE OF CHAS. HOUGHTON, 17 Congress Street, Boston, Feb. 28, 1878 17 Congress Street, Boston, Feb. 28, 1878.

MESSRS, WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen.—I feel it a duty to inform you, and through you all who are interested to know the fact, that a most disagreeable and obstinate case of Salt Rheum or Eczema, which has been under my personal observation from its first appearance to the present time,—about ten (10) years,—covering the greater portion of the patient's body and limbs with its peculiar irritating and itching seab, and to which all the known methods of treating such disease has been applied without benefit, has completely disappeared, leaving a clean and healthy skin, under a few days of profuse application of Cuticura.

I can and do heartly advise all similarly afficted to try the remedy which has been so effectual in this case.

Very truly yours,

nd Dyspepsia Treated by the Resolve And Dyspepsia Treated by the Resolve Gains 5 1-2 pounds on One Bottle.
Gentlemen:—I have had Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, with running sores on the side of my neck, for ten years. Doctors did me no good I have been spending for eight years and it did no good. Everything I ate distressed me. I got reduced from 179 to 132 pounds.
At last I tried the RESOLVENT and it helped me right off, and on the bottle I gained five and one-half pounds. It is doing the business, and I am going for it strong.

Yours truly,
JOHN ROY,
414 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., Nov. 15, 1878.

NOTE.-CUTICURA is admirably assisted in cases of extreme physical weakness, or when the virus of Scrofula is known to lurk in the system, by the internal use of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, without doubt the most powerful blood purifier and liver stimulant in the world.

CUTIOURA SOAP is an elegant toliet and medicinal assistant to CUTICURA in the treatment of all external aliments. For chapped hands, rough skin and tan, sunburn, and the lesser skin troubles, it is indispensable; as a soap for the toilet, the nursery and bath it is the most elegant, refreshing and healing before the public.

These great remedies succeed where all others heretofore in use fail because they possess new and original properties never successfully combined in medicine. Successfully combined in medicine.

The CUTIOURA REMEDIES are prepared

Brandy as a Medicine.

The following article was voluntarily sent to Mr. H. E. Slaymaker, Agent for Reigart's Old Wine Store, by a prominent practising physician of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commended to the attention of those afflicted with Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

BRANDY AS A MEDICINE.

This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims. With a purely philanthropic motive we present to the favorable notice of invalids—especially those afflicted with that miserable disease Dysnensia. a sneeific remedy, which is ase Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is othing more or less than Brandy.

The aged, with teeble appetite and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly, A Sovereign Remedy or all their ills and aches. Be it, however strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is, REIGART'S OLD BRANDY, Sold by our enterprising young friend, H. E. SLAYMAKER. This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our experience extends, and we therefore as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandies, no matter with how many jaw-breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifies would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or cases. In proof of the curative powers of Reigart's Old Brandy, In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon num bers of witnesses—one case in particular we cite:— A hard-working farmer had been afficted with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour eructations constantly—uo appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet to crackers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now, preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed earnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try

Reigart's Old Brandy, Reigart's Old Brandy,
In his case, he looked up with astonishment, but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which he chose to eat. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine he has been of very little pecuniary benefit to the doctor.—A Practising Paysician.
