Old St. James Speaking of the Easter celebration at St James, this city, Alf. Sanderson says in the last issue of his paper: "Old St. James, of Lancaster, was radiant and resonant with thanksgiving. It is a church full historical associations, having on its time-worn register, and buried beneath its walls, men and women whose names were renowned in their day and generation, whose holy living and dying have left a blessed and lasting fragrance to their descendants for a long period of years. Under the rectorship of Rev. C. F. Knight, the parish is fast extending its influence for good. An earnest, devoted Christian, an ardent admirer and supporter of the church of England and its lengthened list of confessors and martyrs, a gentleman of unimpeachable morality, sympathetic, winning and prepossessing manners, with an testify to their being alive to-day from the use ability and eloquence in the pulpit of Speer's Port Grape Wine, produced in Pasentirely devoid of bombast or affectation, and an expounder of the faith in sermons that are touching, searching, and consoling to the troubled mind, he fills the place once sanctified by the presence of the beloved Bishop Bowman, now gone to his eternal rest, in such a way as has been satisfying and satisfactory to a congregation unusually intelligent and critical. Mr. Knight has the feeling of an artist in music and decoration, and has established a choral service which is about as perfect as can be attained in any place outside the largest cities. The reverence, earnest singing and cultivated voices of the boys add materially to the solemnity of the "Improvements are contemplated. A tower is to be built, the church edifice extended, and time will shortly reveal the most attractive place of worship in the quiet but growing and substantial city of Lancaster. With a a chancel now of exquisite architectural proportions, embellished by memorial windows and colored richly in blue and gold in the English style, and other memorial windows of elegant design and finish on the sides, with tablets between erected to the memory of some of the fathers and founders of the parish, together with an organ of powerful compass and sweetness presided over by Prof. Matz, a musician and composer of much ability, it is no whether taken internally or applied externally wonder that St. James is fast becoming a and thereby more certainly RELIEVE PAIN, spot of unusual interest to the Christian and admirer of that which symbolizes the mysteries of the future life of hope, joy and love which every soul is 'striving for.'

Amusements. The Minstrels To-night.—This evening Baird's troupe of minstrels will appear in the opera ouse. They were in York last night and the Daily of this morning says it was the best troupe that has ever visited that town. Twenty men appeared in the first part and there were eleven clog dancers, while the bill tarrh. Diphtheria, Cankermouthand Headache only announced eight. This company has been attacked by the manager of the troupe which attacked by the manager of the troupe which was here on Tuesday, but the truth of the matter is that this is the strongest and best show of the two. The manager states he has never attacked the other show, the proprietor of which has done all in his power to injure their business by publishing cards against them. The York Daily in closing a long notice of the show says: "We can cheerfully recom-mend this excellent troupe to all lovers of minstrelsy. The troupe give an entertainment in Lancaster to-night, and Columbia on Saturday night, and we can say to our neighbors if they fail to see and hear Baird's minstrels they will miss a treat seldom offered them." The three Arnold Brothers, who were with Haverly's Mastodons this season, joined this troupe a few days ago and will appear in the clog and

York Press. It is now pretty well settled that Grant will be renominated for a third term against clearly expressed wishes of the rank and file of the Republican party. This suicidal work will be done at Chicago by the voters of solid delegations, like up by the unit rule and delivered to the absolute personal control of lordly senatorial political bosses. The Republican party dooms itself to inevitable defeat, by this abdication of its right to select its own candidates, and submitting to the selfish dictation of a couple of commonplace United States senators: and thus furnishes the Democrats with an opportunity of victory, which must not be lost. With only ordinary prudence, the Democracy cannot fail to get full possession of all branches of the government; but in order to put that success beyond doubt, we must observe the following can-

We believe that it would be every way to the best interests of the party, that our representatives should go to Cincinnati uninstructed, and free to cast their votes for the candidate, who seems, after consultation and comparison of views with all parts of the union, most likely to be elected. But if the friends of any particular candidate, say Hancock, Bayard or Tilden, should appear to be in a large majority of the state convention, and he is manifestly the choice of the people, that majority will have the right to instruct the four delegates at large; but it will have no right to instruct the district delegates, and require them to vote as a unit. The people of each county and district have a right to be fairly represented the national convention, and there is no power on earth that can take it away from them. Furthermore we believe that it would be extremely impolitic in the state convention to exercise under any circumstances its conceded right to instruct even the four delegates at arge who represent the state as a whole. Independent and discreet men, subject to nobody's orders, would be far more likey to reach a wise conclusion three months hence at Cinciunati than we are here and Weeks & Potter have never doubted the specific properties of Cuticura, Cuticura, Resolvent and Cuticura Soar, for the speedy, permanent and economical cure of Humors of the Blood, Skin and Scalp. They are, however, astonished at their universal success; for it was to be expected that in the hands of some hey would fail solely from spasmodic or ignoant use of them.

They are unable to say without fear of con radiction that no remedies ever achieved in the short space of one year the number of wonderful cures performed by the Cuticura Remedies.

I can and do heartily advise all similarly afficted to try the remedy which has been so effectual in this case.

Brandy as a Medicine.

Indigestion and Dyspepsia. BRANDY AS A MEDICINE. This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the care of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims. With a purely philanthropic motive we pre-sent to the favorable notice of invalids—espe-cially those afflicted with that miserable disease Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than Brandy.

The aged, with feeble appetite and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly, A Sovereign Remedy or all their ills and aches. Be it, however strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is, REIGART'S OLD BRANDY, Sold by our enterprising young friend, H.'E. SLAYMAKER, This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandies, no matter with how many jaw-breaking French ittes, they are besuded.

titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifics would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or cases. In proof of the curative powers of Reigart's Old Brandy, In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon num —one case in particular we hard-working farmer had been afflicted Reigart's Old Brandy, In his case, he looked up with astonishment, but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which he chose to eat. He still keeps it and uses a lit-tle occasionally; and since he has this medicine he has been of very little pecuniary benefit to the doctor.—A Practising Physician.
