

the board of visitors, presented to each of the graduates the customary testimonial and recommendation for licensure, accompanying the presentation with a brief and appropriate address, and the audience was dismissed with prayer, doxology and benediction.

The general essays, of which the above abstracts comprise a very imperfect synopsis, evinced rare scholarship and logical thought. The graduates all give convincing promise of efficient pulpit work. Learning and eloquence distinguished the efforts, and the course of these young men in the important field of labor on which they now enter with such bright prospects will be followed with solicitude by the many friends in this city with whom they have been more or less closely associated during the period in which they pursued their studies in college and seminary.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

John Frankford's Attempt to Break Jail. John Frankford, who is now serving a term of nineteen years' imprisonment in the Lancaster county prison, was detected yesterday, about noon, in attempting to break jail. Under-keeper Murr heard a noise, which he thought resembled that made by a person filing iron. He first examined the cell adjoining Frankford's, and finding everything right there, next went to Frankford's cell, No. 7, on the lower range of cells. As he reached the door Frankford arose from the floor and pleasantly addressed him. Mr. Murr at once sent for one of the watchmen, and the two together entered the cell and made an examination. The cell is iron-clad, cemented in one of the walls, but near the floor is a register connecting with the furnace in the basement. This register is not large enough to admit a human body, and Frankford's plan was to enlarge the hole by the sawing away a piece of the iron plate adjoining it. This he was doing when discovered with a saw made out of an old steel table knife, evidently furnished him by an outside accomplice. He had so nearly completed the job that he only had about two inches more sawing to do to have enabled him to remove the plate. He could then have easily reached the basement, through the opening, and escaped to the yard, and then over the wall, as was done by Armstrong and some other prisoners. Frankford was at once removed to an iron-clad cell on the second story, but as he has said he can escape from any jail in the country, and as he has indeed escaped from several of them, a sharp watch will have to be kept on him, or he will yet make good his boast.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Events Across the County Lines. William Preston, of Kennett Square, Chester county, recently traveled eighteen miles on a bicycle. Messrs. Hoopes, Bro. & Darlington, of West Chester, will give a fine exhibit at the international exhibition at Melbourne, Australia, of spokes, wheels, hubs, etc. Hugh Burgess, esq., of Spring City, Chester county, has recently erected and put in operation a large mill on the property of M. Pennypacker, at Mossesville, near Chester Springs, for the manufacture of graphite. Tredyffrin township, Chester county, suffers from the nightly visits of robbers, some five different houses within its borders having been operated on within the past week.

On Tuesday last, an overhead bridge on the Pennsylvania railroad, one mile west of Glenloch, East Whiteland township, Chester county, caught fire from an east-bound freight engine and was totally burned.

Recently, while making improvements in the back building of the Lafayette house, on South George street, a lot of walnuts were found under the floor, wrapped up in paper which was dated Christmas, 1820, which makes them nearly 60 years old. They were well preserved, appearing as fresh as walnuts of last year's growth.

The Mellett iron company, of Reading, notified their employees this week that a reduction of 10 per cent. would be made in their wages, commencing on May 17 next. The men, in return, have informed the company that they will quit work on the date named, at which time they want their wages due. They intend to seek work at other places where the pay is more remunerative.

James Campbell, of Lower Chanceford township, York county, died suddenly on Tuesday evening. He seemed in his usual good health during the day, and about five o'clock sat down to eat his supper, when his head fell forward on his breast, and in an instant the vital spark had died. Mr. Campbell was born October 23, 1799, and was consequently in the 81st year of his age. He was the father of Hon. William Campbell.

Rip Van Winkle.

Last evening another small audience greeted Mr. J. H. Keane's second appearance in "Rip Van Winkle." This is not as it should have been. Mr. Keane himself is an actor of rare ability, and his support on this occasion was really first-class, in fact, considered by most of those who had the pleasure of being present at either of the performances to be superior to any cast of this old and favorite play ever seen on the boards in this city. Against these inducements, however, weighed the fact that our people have so often seen the piece—and, only recently, too, by the great originator of the character, Mr. Jefferson. Then, too, our city has been treated, during the season now about closing, to an unusually large and varied, and withal successful, run of amusements, perhaps one of the best Fulton opera house has ever known.

"Quarterly Transactions of the Lancaster County Medical Society."

L. Bruner, Columbia; Dr. H. L. Coover, Harrisburg; Dr. E. W. Meisenholder, York; Dr. W. Stump Forward, Darlington, Md.; Dr. J. L. Ziegler, Mount Joy; Dr. W. W. Dale, Carlisle; and Dr. G. L. Welchans, Lancaster. The essays treat of various diseases and their treatment, and will be found of interest to students and doctors of medicine. It is proposed to publish 1,000 copies of the Transactions, quarterly, for distribution among members of the society and physicians of adjoining counties.

THE EMPIRE AT CHAMBERSBURG.

Their Part in the Firemen's Parade. The parade of the Cumberland Valley firemen in Chambersburg yesterday was all that its sanguine management expected for it. The town put on a holiday garb and the country turned in to witness the spectacle. During the whole day the streets were thronged with people, but the best of order prevailed. Though until nearly midnight marching companies, serenading bands and departing guests made the town lively, there was very little drunkenness, or any other kind of disorder or demoralization.

The special occasion of the display was the centennial anniversary of the Friend, ship company and to make it a success every town in the Cumberland Valley contributed representatives of firemen and citizens. Harrisburg, Carlisle, Hagerstown, Shippensburg and Martinsburg, besides Lancaster, Norristown and Frederick, Md., had companies and bands of music in the line, which was made up of six divisions, including some eighteen companies and nearly as many bands and drum corps.

As a whole, it was one of the cleanest, neatest and most gentlemanly bodies of firemen ever seen in line. About one thousand equipped men paraded. Their uniforms, apparatus and style of marching were such as to excite most favorable comment all along the line. Governor Hoyt rode in an open barouche in the hook and ladder division and reviewed the parade in the square. The Lancaster boys marched admirably and presented a strikingly handsome appearance. Their truck was by all odds the finest machine in line; Clemmens's band carried off the honors of the day and the Empire was the favorite company. Clayt, Myers, John Copland, Paul Demuth and Abe Keller formed the advance file and created great excitement by the "solid front" they presented. One old fellow who came to town said, "I was much disappointed that de governor made no speech, aber I sees von sing I never sees—dem four Lancaster mens vat veighed a ton."

The line of march measured about four miles and after its end was reached the different companies made short street parades.

Last evening about twenty of the Lancaster boys with brooms, tin horns, whistles and toy drums, marshalled by "Budd" Metzger, on a white horse, made a burlesque procession over the town, to the great delight of its citizens.

This morning they visited the reservoir and water works, saw a trial of the Frederick company's steamer, and of the pressure of the local water works on the fire plugs, enabling the Chambersburg people to throw over their highest buildings without an engine.

Three or four of the local companies had elegant spreads last night in the public halls, to all of which the Empire were invited, and which they acknowledged by visiting first one then the other, in a body. The entertainment has been inexhaustible in its hospitality and all the citizens of Chambersburg feel themselves hosts of the occasion.

At 1 o'clock they left for home and will reach this city at 6:25, when they will be received in accordance with the programme previously published.

The alarm bell in the tower of the Empire fire company will be sounded this evening at half-past 5 o'clock as a notice to those who intend to participate in the reception of the Empire boys on their return from Chambersburg to "get ready."

Chief Marshall McMellen registers his aids to report to him at Cremer's Globe hotel, North Queen street, opposite the depot, at six o'clock for instructions. The companies intending to participate in the reception of the Empire will form in regular order at 6:15, on Chestnut street, right resting on North Queen.

LITITZ LOCALS.

Condensed from the Record. Martin S. Groff had a part of one of his fingers sawed off Wednesday by thoughtlessly placing it against a circular saw in the planing mill of Seaber & Grube.

Horace Eschbach was thrown from a wagon on Tuesday by the running away of his horse, and the wagon was badly wrecked.

There was a "screw loose" in the combination lock of the Litzitz national bank on Friday last, and the officers had to send to Philadelphia for a lock-maker before they could get it opened.

On Wednesday Abraham Hershey was severely bitten in the hand and leg by a vicious dog, which he kept chained on the farm of Henry Longenecker, near Litzitz. Mr. Hershey went up to the dog to pat it on the head and was fiercely attacked by it.

Walker Geitner has left Litzitz for the far West, his destination being Colorado. Harry C. Hall, will soon leave for Omaha, Neb., as a civil engineer on the line of the Union Pacific railroad.

On Monday evening as Harry Bentz and wife, of Brunnerville, were returning from Lancaster they were accosted near New Haven by two supposed highwaymen, who ordered them to "hold up," and attempted to seize the bride of their horse, but Mr. Bentz applied the whip and escaped.

William Rank, near Litzitz, fell under a four-horse team and one of the front wheels passed over his body, breaking three ribs on his right side and two on the left, dislocating his shoulder joint and inflicting severe internal injuries. He is now lying in a dangerous condition.

Order for a Re-survey. The following order was made by the court yesterday:

The width of South Christian street, from Church to Middle Christian street, and said part of South Christian street is ordered to remain of its present width of fourteen feet. South Duke street, from East King to Vine, is disapproved as to the alteration of its width, and it is ordered to be and remain of its present width.

Plum street is to extend southward, crossing East King until it intersects John, and is to be of the width of—feet, and the width of John, from East King to said intersection, is disapproved and it is to remain of its present width.

Woodward street, from East Strawberry to Christian, is disapproved as to its width, and it is to be and remain of its present width, as opened forty feet, and now, May 12, 1880, the court appoint, order and direct Allen A. Herr, of the city of Lancaster, to make a map and all surveys on the grounds which are made necessary by this order of court, changing the plan as presented for approval, and to mark on said plan all changes necessary by reason thereof and make report to this court on the third Monday of June, 1880.

SCENE IN COURT.

A Witness Becomes Unconscious. Yesterday afternoon during the trial of Julia Hoover, for murder, her step-mother, a principal witness for the commonwealth, while sitting near the defendant, suddenly lost consciousness and would have fallen to the floor had she not been caught and prevented from falling by the defendant.

Her limbs became rigid, she clenched her fists, the blood vessels and muscles became swollen, and then suddenly a laxation took place and she became limp and powerless. Drs. Carpenter and Muhlenberg, who were in court, hastened to her assistance and administered restoratives. She was carried first to one of the jury rooms and thence to the residence of Mr. C. F. Hoffman, with whom she has been stopping during the trial. Her sudden illness brought to the minds of many her former sudden illness when it was supposed she had been poisoned by Julia Hoover, the defendant. Mrs. Hoover is to-day quite recovered, and her husband states she is subject to such spells, which seem to be something like hysteria.

MANHEIM MATTERS.

Collated from the Sentinel. Wm. D. Weaver, esq., of Lancaster will lecture before the Y. M. C. A., of Manheim, on Tuesday evening. Subject, "Our Nation's Growth."

On Monday the blacksmith shop of Bear & Nauman was discovered to be on fire, and before the flames were extinguished the place was damaged to the extent of $150. The origin of the fire is unknown.

On Saturday last as Michael Witman and wife, residing a mile north of Manheim, were on their way to Lancaster market, the spindle of the hind axle of their wagon broke, causing the horse to take fright and run off. Both occupants were thrown out and Mrs. Witman had the bones of her elbow joint dislocated.

The Goetheans to-night. The anniversary of the Goethean literary society will be celebrated this evening by the usual entertainment at Fulton opera house. The names of the orators and officers have been published in the papers, and the floral decoration will be very extensive. The exercises will begin at 7 1/2 o'clock.

Appointments Completed. The West Chester Local News of yesterday states that Census Supervisor H. C. Snowden has completed the appointment of his enumerators, and has forwarded the names to Washington for approval or rejection.

The demand for St. Jacob's Oil is astonishing, but no wonder, for I have myself used it, and found it the most effective remedy in the market.

ASTRICH BROS' ADVERTISEMENT. We desire to call attention to our complete line of FLATWARE, SPOONS, FORKS, KNIVES, LADLES, &c., &c. In addition to a full stock of the celebrated Rogers Bros.' goods, we have the exclusive sale in this city of the electro-plated ware of the Gorham Manufacturing Company. These are the best finished and most durable in the market, and in recommending them to the trade this company (whose representations are always reliable) claim for them the following merits: "The base of the Gorham electro-plate is of nickel silver. The silver-plate was made upon this base combine all the excellence of the solid silver goods except the intrinsic value of the silver itself. One of the remarkable features of the process of electro-plating is perfect accuracy and delicacy with which the finest line of the engraving or chasing traced on the surface of the nickel base is reproduced on the surface of the silver coating. Thus all the excellence of workmanship which has earned for the company its reputation as makers of sterling silver goods is made tributary to the production of electro-plated ware. The quantity of pure silver deposited on the finely finished base exceeds that upon the best of foreign plate. This silver would be excellent and take a fine polish without a coating of silver, yet upon it is laid a silver surface which will if not abused last more than a generation. The object is to produce plated ware which shall have all the beauty of the solid wares. This high grade of ware is indistinguishable from work in sterling silver. Its pattern, ornaments and workmanship are made equal to those for which the Company's Sterling Silverware has been so highly commended. To these conditions is added the method of style which distinguishes the genuine in everything from the work of imitators and which naturally transfers itself from the Sterling to the plated ware." The price of these goods is only a trifle higher than some of the inferior productions.

MICROSCOPICAL SOCIETY. The Lancaster Society Visits West Chester. Last evening a delegation from the Lancaster Microscopical society visited West Chester on the occasion of the anniversary of the Philosophical society of that place. The party consisted of Messrs. J. P. McCaskey, W. F. Duncan, C. A. Locher, J. H. Rile, M. D., B. F. Saylor, E. W. McCaskey and the secretary, J. D. Pyott. There were present also delegations from Camden, and from the Microscopical society of West Chester. Our society, being the infant, was petted by everybody, and was happy. The guests were entertained at the Mansion house, and the exhibition itself was a grand success. Over sixty microscopes, some of them of the finest make and highest power, displayed objects of rare beauty and variety, of which a description here is impossible. The special object of interest on the Lancaster table was an old instrument belonging to Chas. A. Heinrich, esq., kindly loaned for the occasion, of which we may have something to say hereafter. Altogether, the occasion was a most enjoyable one, and our party want to go to West Chester again, and will have the societies from that place visit them, as soon as they are prepared to give a respectable exhibition of their own work.

Try Locher's Renowned Cough Syrup. The little ones love it, and often cry for more—what? "Dr. Locher's Cough Syrup," which cures them of coughs, colds, and whooping cough. STATISTICS prove that twenty-five per cent. of the deaths in our larger cities are caused by consumption, and when we reflect that this terrible disease in its worst stage will yield to a bottle of Locher's Renowned Cough Syrup, shall we condemn the sufferers for their negligence, or pity them for their ignorance? No 9 East King street.
