SUGAR VS. CORN.

Letter From Victor E. Pioliet. Worthy Grange Master Piollet writes the following to the editor of the Farmer's Friend:

word from me as to the cost of a sugar mill and evaporating pans, with a view to a trial of sugar making, I suppose. The entire cost is less than one hundred dollars for a mill and fixtures capable of working up say thirty acres of amber cane within the season. Wysauking grange will enter upon a trial this season—different members planting an acre of the cornfield with the Minnesota amber cane, purchased by the commissioner of the agricultural department to such a desire to make a trial of sugar

We poor farmers are all working for dear life to produce corn which we will have to sell in our export markets for less than 60 cents a bushel, after paying one-fourth of this sum for transportation. Every bushel of corn that farmers will produce this season will take from the soil in potash, nitrogen and phosphorus twenty per cent of this export market price. There is no home market for our corn. The only value there is attainable is the foreign demand. With this well-known fact we stick to the old rut and make corn year after year at the sacrifice of capital and labor.

While twenty per cent. of the market value of our corn will be required to make ourfields as good after the crop has been taken from them as before planting, we persist in producing corn to the exclusion of a system of farming that would pay us very much better. This country pays over one hundred million dollars annually to foreign countries for sugar. While the production of corn takes from the soil in nitrogen, phosphorus and potash twenty per cent. of its market value there is no perceptible trace of either nitrogen, phosphorus or potash in sugar.

This fact ought to influence our farmers. The entire value of the corn we market does not amount to as much as we pay out for sugar, and we can make sugar enough for home consumption at a far less cost than any production of our farms that we must dispose of to get money to pay for m11-6mdTu,Th&S] the sugar we purchase.

The corn fields of Pennsylvania that will produce forty bushels per acre will produce enough of the Minnesota amber cane to make one thousand five hundred pounds of sugar that refiners would purchase as readily as they do the foreign sugar.

Amber cane can be produced at the same cost that our corn can be raised. It will mature in from ninety to one hundred days, and will cost in our labor about three cents per pound to make. This is not speculation. Our worthy commissioner of agriculture, Gen Le Duc, has tested the whole process of sugar making by actual practical methods.

France, at no very distant perion of time, was depended upon foreign countries for her supply of sugar, now not only supplies her own country with the annual consumption of sugar, but makes one-fourth of all the sugar production in this world. France makes sugar from beets. Did she have our soil and climate in which to ERS grow all the varieties of cane that is natural to our country, that country would make sugar as we can. Your friend, V. E. PIOLLET.

Wysox, May 10, 1880.

Women Never Think!

STOP!! STOP!!! STOP! Stop making a drug store of your stomach. Stop putting bitters, pills, liver invigorators, blood purifiers, calomel, blue pill, quinine, morphine, and all other drugs and quack medicines into your stomach, they kill instead of curing the body. This is my advice, after acting the physician for 31 years. If you'll examine the histories of nearly all medicine venders for the last 50 years, you will find the venders of these worthless compounds have all died prematurely. Where is Schenck, Swayne (father and son), Brandreth, Ayers, Wishart, Jayne, Hobinsac, Mishler? All dead and buried as should be all such preparations. For 31 years I have cured all kinds of diseases when others fail, and I place my medicines (not poisons) on the outside of the body. To the sick who have tried one or twenty doctors, without any advantage, I would beg them to call and learn from scores of such persons who have been cured in a few days or weeks, at an expense of from $210 $5. 16 Page Pamphlet free, full of cures.
