For the Intelligencer.
Cataplexy has generally, but improperly been considered a disease, the descriptions given of it by medical writers do not vary materially, and when a person is "suddenly seized," as is usually the case, the senses and powers of voluntary motion are as suddenly suspended; so that the patient remains in a position in which he happens to be at the moment of seizure, and the limbs commonly retain any position into which they may be placed by external force, while the action of the heart, lungs and other vital functions continue to be performed with but little or no change, and after a duration which varies from a few minutes to hours, or in some cases even for days, the prostrated suddenly declines, and the patient awakes as from a sleep, with the restoration of all the functions of the body.
During the prostrated the patient neither feels, receives impressions from external objects, nor retains any recollection of what happened during the fit. These symptoms constitute what is called "a perfect prostrated," yet many of these symptoms vary in different individuals, and a want of knowledge in regard to its true nature, has led many physicians to suppose that there was a transposition of the senses to the pit of the stomach and other points. Many cases have been recorded by medical authors in which this transposition of the senses is said to have existed, but which really only appeared to do so, because the powers of the patient, to use them at any point, were not understood, and we ascribe all the seeming results which were exhibited in the experiments which were made to prove that the senses were transposed to the pit of the stomach, to the fact that the physicians who were engaged in them only directed the attention of the patient to that locality. Their patients could have answered the same questions, etc., just as well if they had directed their attention to any other part of their bodies, if the effort upon the part of the subject to do so had been made.
We have frequently witnessed the same apparent transposition effected by the will of those who were in a stultic or somnambulic condition, and if these were subject cataplexy were taught the true nature of the condition and their powers in it, they could convert a great annoyance into a blessing that would enable them to escape many of the ills that their want of knowledge is heir to. But to give the reader an idea of how the experiments upon cataplexy patients were conducted, we will state a case in point. The following is an extract of the case of Mademoiselle Malanie by Dr. Durand of Caen: "On October 12, a few days after her attack of somnambulism, I found the patient in a state of cataplexy. Having placed my hand on the epigastric region, I noticed that her countenance became expressive of pain. I then placed my lips on the pit of her stomach and asked her several questions. To my astonishment she answered correctly, for although I had read most of the histories of the kind recorded in different works, I did not believe one of them. During the first examination I made numerous experiments, which led me to believe that there was a transposition of the senses to the pit of the stomach. But further, he goes on to say: "During the cataplexy state the muscles presented three different conditions. Sometimes they were all relaxed, and the limbs could be placed in any position, which they retained, however fatiguing the position might be; at other times all the muscles were in a state of rigid contraction; at other times they were relaxed and the limb fell down when raised from the body."
These conditions of the muscles we have also frequently seen in persons who were in a stultic condition, and are natural to this state when the mind of the patient is not placed upon them, and can be assumed by them at pleasure, viz: If the arm be raised and they do not have their mind expressly upon it, it will remain in that position, since they do not know that they do not, by an express act of their will change the position, it will remain there for an indefinite period, no matter how awkward it may seem.
The doctor also stated "that there was no sensibility in any part of the body, except over the pit of the stomach, the palms of the hands, and the soles of the feet," simply because her mind was only directed to those parts—and it is also very evident that in these experiments the patient believes, or was made to believe, that certain results would follow the experiments, and if she had known her powers, she could have felt or not, heard or not, or seen or not, as she pleased, or have thrown herself out of the condition in an instant, independent of any one.
It is a great misfortune that the condition of cataplexy has not been heretofore more thoroughly investigated by the medical faculty, as much human misery might have been prevented if they had learned the true nature of the condition, and the natural powers of those who fell into it, for, instead of its being a disease, they would soon have found that it was the only true and natural remedy placed by the creator within the reach of every one—and that it is simply a phenomenon natural to the somnambulic, whether natural or artificially induced. Stulticence is in the same condition, induced by the will of the subject, and all those who enter this condition can produce the cataplexy or insensible condition in any part of the body at will—and by so doing render it free from irritation, inflammation pain or spasm as long as the body or any part of it is kept in the condition. The relief and good resulting from this power to the human family cannot be estimated—and as statu-volence is the only science that can develop this remedy it should be taught in establishments instituted by government for the benefit of the army and navy, and by individual means for the relief of suffering humanity. The field is as important as it is large. Who will aid the cause?

Amusement Notes.
Bret Harste is lecturing in London.
The Clipper does not have a very high opinion of Courtney the rower.
Sprague's Georgia minstrels will play an engagement in New York shortly.
The adjectives used in some of the circus advertisements are enough to make the reader crazy.
Cheevers and Kennedy, the dancers who for several years have been in Australia, are now in London.
The Broad street theatre, Philadelphia, where "Pinafore" made the great hit is for rent.
Annie Paxley commences her traveling season August 26th. She has just closed a tour of forty-three weeks.
Ben Maginley played "The Danites" for a short season, and after losing $1,000 stopped.
Barlow, Wilson, Primrose & West close their successful traveling season on June 12.
Little Rosebud, who was here with Tony Denier, is traveling with Hyde & Behman's variety troupe.
The country papers through the state are almost completely taken up with huge circus "ads." at present.
The circuses of Dr. Thayer, Adam Forey, and Welsh & Sands, are at present in this state.
Cooper & Bailey's show, which is probably the best one in this country, will likely visit Lancaster this season.
Mrs. John Drew gets $500 per week to play Mrs. Maltrapp to the Bob Acres of a tour for a part of next season.
Dave Reed, who worked the bone end with Bryant's minstrels when they last appeared here, is giving lessons in jig dancing in New York.
S. M. Hickey, one of the rising young managers of this country, will probably take Rev. Henry Ward Beecher on a lecturing tour through Europe.
With the thermometer at 90 the life of a woman who does acrobatic business, is not a happy one. Their faces remind one of a pair of newly shined boots.
Tony Denier's pantomime troupe will travel until the beginning of July and after their season closes Geo. H. Adams, the clown, will probably take a short trip to Europe, for pleasure.
Fred Zimmerman, of Philadelphia, who was formerly a partner of John T. Ford, will manage the Chestnut Street opera house (formerly Fox's) for George K. Goodwin, of the Walnut, who has leased it.
Harriet Beecher Stowe, who wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is now in Hartford, Conn. It is said that she and Mark Twain will write a new version of that old play, for the stage.
Atkins Lawrence, who traveled with Mary Anderson this season, was arrested in Philadelphia for larceny. It appears that he borrowed a shot gun and forgot to return it, and the opportunity of explaining matters in court.
The international exhibition of the millers to be held in Cincinnati opens on May 31st and closes June 26th. Bills announcing the features of the exhibition have been sent here, and have been posted throughout the city by Mr. Carson.
It is seldom that a circus appears under roof but the Republicans had a good one in Fulton opera house last Monday. The display of animals was fine and the clown (the president) was good, his acting being entirely new and original with himself. It is a pity that the show was compelled to close.
Miss Alicia Jordan, who had been a member of the "Bristol" party, died in Cincinnati a few days ago. Miss Jordan first appeared in this city with Sheridan, Mack and Day's combination several years ago. She was a sketch actress, and her partner was John Sheridan. Her last appearance here was when she was with Tony Pastor's troupe.
The New York Clipper, says that the season, which is now almost over, has been the best shown here known since 1865-1866. There were about one hundred and twenty combinations on the road, and with the exceptions everyone that started remained out for thirty to thirty-six weeks, while some are still out. Such attractions as Edwin Booth, Mary Anderson, Adelaide Neilson, Fanny Davenport, Lotta, Maggie Mitchell, Tony Denier, Buffalo Bill, Joe Emmet, Emma Abbott and Lawrence Barrett, almost doubled the business of the previous season. There have already been organized one hundred and thirty-five companies for next season, to which number at least twenty will be added by September.

Judge Patterson Protecting Rioters.
Philadelphia Times.
Judge Patterson seems to regard it as the duty of judges to protect "the best workers of the ward" when they get into trouble because of their lawlessness in the battles of faction in his own party. The Snyder prosecutions have stamped inefficacy upon the administration of justice in Lancaster, county and the pointed admonitions the court and the officers charged with the prosecution of criminals have received from the earnest expressions of honest journals and citizens in the past, have been stamped by unpunished violence and ruffianism, should have called a halt in the further mockery of justice in the name of the law.
Judge Patterson, however, views the case differently, and he seems to believe that multiplying wrongs in the very sanctuary of the law may make things right in the end. Mayor MacGonigle had previously testified in Judge Patterson's court that it was idle for him to attempt to maintain order and peace in Lancaster if officers could escape punishment by political influence, and he was yesterday again compelled to testify to Judge Patterson that the ruffianism that now runs riot in the political struggles of Lancaster can be suppressed only by enforcing the penalties of the law.
It is possible that Judge Patterson so deludes himself as to believe that he can escape the execration of an honest people for his apparently deliberate prostitution of justice to protect a gang of notorious ruffians who can command the favor of a few desperate politicians? If he is thus deluded, he must be sadly estranged from the chief attributes which should adorn the judge in holding the scales of justice between man and man. Was it not enough that the Snyder's blotted the Lancaster courts without Judge Patterson tramping down the law before admiring lawlessness to enable criminals to emerge from prison before their time, that they might bring fresh shame upon the community by disgracing another office? Thus will the

People of Lancaster reason with themselves and the hot breath of their resentment will be speedily and fearfully felt by the judge who seems to regard justice as the mere playing of political deperades.
"Distributive Justice."
New Era, Rep.
When Mayor MacGonigle testified in THE NEW ERA libel suits that he had said if cases were to be disposed of in the way the Snyder case had been settled, he could not preserve order in the city, he told a truth which was illustrated in a practical and forcible manner when Judge Patterson commuted the sentence of the rowdies arrested and imprisoned by the mayor from thirty to three days. The judge admitted that the offence had been proven by the testimony of the mayor and other eye-witnesses to the disgraceful proceedings, and we have no hesitation in saying that the release of the prisoners, or what is virtually equivalent to their release, was as much of a surprise to the learned counsel who appeared for them as it was to the community.
The judicial interference in this case is more to be regretted, because it will do more to shake public confidence in the "distributive justice" of the court than all the newspaper criticisms that have been made on the prostitution of the machinery of justice by the officers of the court. Whether just or unjust, the public will regard it as a vindication of the truth of those criticisms, and the court thereby has made itself responsible for any future lack of confidence in its disposition or ability to aid the mayor and the police in preserving order in the city when "the best workers" in ward politics are involved in unlawful and disgraceful proceedings.
We heard more than one respectable citizen say this morning that if this kind of "distributive justice" continues to be distributed by our court, to the paralyzation of the power of the chief magistrate of the city to suppress disorder, Mayor MacGonigle will be supported next time by a unanimous vote of the court than all the newspaper criticisms that have been made on the prostitution of the machinery of justice by the officers of the court. Whether just or unjust, the public will regard it as a vindication of the truth of those criticisms, and the court thereby has made itself responsible for any future lack of confidence in its disposition or ability to aid the mayor and the police in preserving order in the city when "the best workers" in ward politics are involved in unlawful and disgraceful proceedings.

A Ringing Indictment.
The Iron Rule of the Thieving Politicians.
Carroll Herald, Rep.
Governor Hoyt is a traitor to his oath and to the commonwealth he swore to serve. He has published his dependence upon powerful and wealthy criminals in full view of Pennsylvania and the whole Atlantic coast. A rebel ballot through his heart would have been preferable a thousand times to Kemble's golden hook within his jaw. The spectacle of the executive of the great state led captive by men sentenced to the penitentiary, will not be soon forgotten by the poorer classes of our population. The workingmen will remember that their comrades whom Mr. Gowen prosecuted were hung without remorse; they will also remember that the rich politicians whom Mr. Gowen prosecuted got off with four days in Dauphin county jail. The workingmen throughout this state who have been robbed of their little properties by the excessive taxation brought on them by this vile gang of legislative plunderers will not forget to whom they owe the loss of their property and the loss of all their savings. Unfortunately such rage is apt to go too far, and we need not wonder if under such an administration of the laws, the riots of '77 should find a repetition, the moment the country feels again the stress of financial difficulty; a possibility no means so remote as many just now dream. We trust Henry M. Hoyt in his present position we do not know, though we need not rack our brains overmuch to conjecture very nearly. Who created Matthew S. Quay and made him rich is equally beyond our knowledge. Their comrades in pardoning money are not much better, though Stone and Palmer did state some little service at the first. Dunkel, of course, is not of much account.

DRY GOODS.
A Tumble
in Linens.
Not many linens will be sold elsewhere till we have reduced our stock; for why should you pay a dollar when ninety cents will answer? We have been below the market all the year; and now are lower still. We point to a few samples:
TABLE-LINEN.
Half-bleached damask, $0.50, 56, 62, 70, 80, 90, 100;
each one is as good a linen as you can find elsewhere at the next higher price.
Bleached damask, 60, 68, 75, 85, 100, 110, 120, 135, 150, 175, 200, 225;
each one of these also is as good as you can find anywhere else at the next higher price; the last one, at $2.25, is now sold at wholesale, by one of the heaviest merchants in the country, at the same price.
German damask, $0.75
Napkins to match, 2.00
Belgian damask, 1.00
These last three are not to be found elsewhere at any price.
NAPKINS.
26 inches square, $1.50;
these cannot be matched anywhere else for a price less than $2.00.
24 inches square, $1.25;
these are German goods, and are put up in half dozens. We could not buy them by to sell below $2.00 at the very least.
24 inches square, $2.25;
these are German also; they have no creases; i. e., they look and feel the same as after washing. We have been selling at $2.50 and they are worth it. We have been offered our price for the whole lot, but have kept them for you.
TOWELS.
Damask, at 15 cents; both them at 20 cents if you can.
Damask, all white, 5 cents; and we cannot buy them now to sell at 21; but you should have them at 25.
German Damask, 31 cents; have been selling at 35 cents; we ought to put them up instead of 25; but, remember, we are reducing stock.
Bleached diaper towel, 50 cents.
The current price is 65 cents.
Huck, knotted fringe, 25 cents.
Turkish, from 15 cents.
SHEETING.
French, 21 inches, $0.50.
French, 22 inches, $0.50, 1.00, 1.50;
these ought to be compared with Irish linens at $2.00 to $2.50. They are equal in weight and strength, but not of quite so good a bleach. They are more like the Harnsey-bleach, but better than that.
PILOW LINES.
French, 45 inches, $0.50, 60, 70, 80;
French, 54 inches, $2.50, 1.00;
these are the same as the French sheetings above.
UNDERWEAR-LINEN
Old-fashioned Irish linen, yard wide, $0.25, 30, 35, 40, 45, 50, 55, 60, 65, 70, 75, 80, 85; they were begun on our order a year and a-half ago. The old process of bleaching is used, and the goods are to our liking every way.
FLOOR-LINENS.
Five yards wide, a single pattern only, $1.65; we ask you to notice it.
27 inches, for stairs, 12½ cents; it will pay you to get it elsewhere at 25 cents.
These are few out of many. Our stock was never nearly so large; and we were never more fortunate in buying, either as to choice or price. The rise in linens has carried everybody above us; we alone are anchored at low tide.
Linens are in the outer and next-outer-circle west from the Chestnut-street entrance.
