

THE DROWNING OF WM. C. SHENCK.

The Victim's Companions Discharged From Arrest.

Yesterday afternoon Edw. Toomer and James Pruitt, who were in company with W. C. Shenck when he fell or was pushed overboard and drowned at Ridgway park on Monday night, were before Magistrate Smith, Philadelphia. John H. Fox, 1602 Lawrence street, testified that he saw the men pushing one another around near the wharf. He did not see Toomer push Shenck into the water. The magistrate called other witnesses, but as they did not respond, he called the prisoners. Pruitt said he had nothing to say, except that it was an accident. He heard somebody say "Doc's overboard!" and Toomer went in after him.

Toomer said he did not know much about it. He heard somebody cry out, "Doc's in the water!" and he saw him fall and jumped in to rescue him. How Shenck got in he did not know. They had all been drinking a little. When asked about pushing Shenck into the water Toomer said he was a lively little fellow, and possibly got into the water himself.

Charles Rice, of 802 North Thirty seventh street, who said he was sitting on the end of the dock, observed Toomer and Shenck skylarking. The latter slipped and fell overboard and Toomer dived after him. The witness did not see Toomer push Shenck.

The magistrate said he could not see anything requiring him to hold the defendants, and therefore discharged them. It was a sad affair and an accidental one, he supposed. A party of printers immediately surrounded and congratulated their comrades. The discharge does not interfere with any steps the deputy coroner may take at the inquest.

The magistrate said he could not see anything requiring him to hold the defendants, and therefore discharged them.

Marriage Bells. Last evening, at St. Mary's church, in the presence of a large congregation, Mr. Wm. V. Connor and Miss Mary Quinn were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Father Hickey, pastor. The bride looked charming in a handsome blue silk, and was attended by her sister, Miss Rose Quinn, while the groom's brother, Mr. Andrew Connor, officiated as "best man."

After the ceremony the bridal party were driven to the residence of the bride's parents, where a reception was held and refreshments served. Many handsome gifts were presented to the happy couple, who left at 2:10 this morning on a wedding tour to New York and other points. They have the well wishes of friends in their voyage of life.

Mr. Frank Eshleman Bachman, of Strasburg, this county, was one of the graduates of Lafayette college, Easton, the subject of his thesis being "The Determination of Sulphur in Sulphides and in Coal."

This morning a committee of the Friendship association, which is composed of the Friendship fire company, No. 2, left this city for Ha'ton's island, in the Susquehanna. They took with them an entire camping outfit and they will make all arrangements for the remaining members of the association, who will leave to-night for the island. They expect to be gone until Saturday night and will spend the time fishing and otherwise enjoying themselves.

Breakdown. The front axle of one of Russell & Shulmyer's coal wagons broke on South Queen street near Vine last evening about 5 o'clock. The wagon had three tons of coal on it at the time, and it was transferred to another wagon and the broken wagon taken to the shop for repairs.

Good Luck. Yesterday Jacob L. Porter, Harry N. Howell, William Welchans and Harry H. Hensel, of this city, spent the day fishing at Columbia. They caught sixty-four rock fish, besides several bass and a number of catfish.

Class Continued. The cases arising from the fight which occurred at the City hotel on Saturday evening have been continued until Friday afternoon, when they will be heard by Alderman McCoomby.

A Novelty in Lamps. The Carcel Mechanical Lamp is no novelty, but is such a desirable as well as ingenious piece of mechanism that it never becomes old-fashioned. There is a revival in the demand for these lamps, and it has been responded to by Bailey, Banks & Biddle, in the importation of a large and tastefully finished lot. These lamps are very beautiful, some of their pillars being of richly ornamented porcelain, while others are of bronze and other materials. They make fitting ornaments for the library, parlor table or mantle in homes of taste and refinement, and are especially suited for wedding gifts to young persons beginning housekeeping. The light yielded by these lamps surpasses in mellowness and in steady freedom from flickering every other light. The cost of the lamps is not great and every one will be found marked in plain figures. To examine these lamps as well as the late novelties in decorated porcelains and bronzes, is well worth a visit to Twelfth and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia.

Early Campaign Music. "Gen. Winfield S. Hancock's Cincinnati Grand March" is the title of a stirring musical composition for the piano, by E. Mack, and just issued from the press of Messrs. Lee & Walker, 1113 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. The title page is illustrated with a portrait of Gen. Hancock, and the composition will doubtless achieve considerable popularity.
