chain ; two small children's gold chains At the time of the robbery Mr. Cochran was not home. His wife was in a back room down stairs, and a hired girl was at work on the third story. Neither the front door of the house nor the inside doors were locked, and the thief, who is presamed to have been acquainted with the premises had no difficulty in effecting the larceny. The drawers of the bureaus on which the casket was standing were unlocked, but were not in any way disturbed by the thief, nor was any other part of the house interfered with. The robbery was discovered by Mrs.

Cochran, who went to the room for some Irland, at 5:30 p. m., and Jersey City at 7 small article of jewelry with which to p. m. For further particulars see adverdeck her child. As soon as the fact of the tisements, bills and posters. robbery was fully established Detective Sprecher was notified, and the case was placed in his hands. It was thought best to keep the matter quiet, and hence not the slightest knowledge of it was communicated to reporters or others. This plan ters, and selling them at 65 cents per pair. of secreey, in such affairs, generally works to the advantage of the thief, whose operations are also of a secret character. In this case he has had the advantage of twenty-four hours or more to conceal or dispose of the plunder, and make good his escape. Had immediate publicity been given the matter the newspapers containing an account of the robbery and a description of the goods stolen would have accompanied him wherever he went, and a thousand detectives, instead of one, would have been placed on his track. Not the slightest clue has yet been had as to the thieves, though it is hoped Mr. Cochran's liberal reward of $100 offered for their detection and the recovery of the property, may lead to the arrest and punishment of lers' Liver Pills" are said to be. Corner Stone of a Church Broken Open Open and Robbed.

Our regular correspondent at Akron, Ephrata township, writes to inform us that gists. the corner stone of the Bergstrass Lutheran church, near that place, was broken open last night and robbed of the money that was put in it when it was laid in 1848. The amount was not large, there being only some silver coins of the of about two dollars. The books and papers that were in the stone were scattered around in all directions. To get at the contents of the stone Low's SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the the thieves were obliged to remove about eighty bricks from the wall, break off a corner of the stone and also a part of the not tell you at once that it will regulate the lid of the hermetically sealed box containing the money and papers. No clue has yet been had to the rascals who committed the dastardly act, though it is more than of the oldest and best female physicians and suspected that some tramps who were seen nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere loating about the church yesterday afternoon are the guilty parties.

SURPRISE PARTY.

Geo. B. Mowery Remembered. Yesterday was the 73d anniversary of the birth of George B. Mowery, an old and respected resident and late assessor of the Second ward. His son-in-law, Capt. Mahlon Mercer, determined to give the old gentleman a pleasant surprise; so he and his good wife and other members of the family quietly prepared a grand dinner at Capt. Mercer's, No. 335 East James street, to which all the relatives-including Mr. Mowery, wife, sons, daughters and grandchildren-were invited, and when the proper hour arrived a coach was sent for Mr. Mowery, and he too was taken to the feast. Imagine his astonishment when he arrived and met the congratulations of all his kin, whom he supposed to be scattered in a dozen different directions. The reunion was a very pleasant one.

ESTATE OF ELIZABETH GORRECHT, strange ——"

"Not at all," said the dramatic and variety agent. "A human hair is a tube nearly white and transparent. This coloring matter is inside. The coloring matter is easily bleached out. When the coloring matter is bleached out of red hair it leaves it a shade of white more nearly resembling the hair of a true Albino than in the case
