The Summer Vacation—Class Reunion Meeting of the Alumni—Large Attendance—Commencement Exer-

To-day the normal dons its annual holiday attire, the recitations for the school year of '79-'80 closing yesterday. The students, imbued with that sense of relief which generally follows a long seige of hard study, this morning were gathered in groups on the green sward of the campus, conversing with those who have been fellow students and classmates, and to whom they are about to say farewell for several months. Little knots were gathered here and there discussing their different plans for spending their vacation and what grand times they expect to have before returning to their labors next fall. The stately seniors can easily be discerned by their grave countenances, tinged with a feeling of regret, occasioned doubtless by the thought of the pleasant stay they have had at the normal, and of the stern realities of life as they catch a glimpse of their rising dimly before their imagination. The teachers are busy as bees, flitting hither and thither among the crowd, bidding farewell to those about departing, and welcoming faces that have been absent from that institution for many years, but who have come to-day, many for the first time since graduation, to visit their alma mater. The number of strangers attending the commencement this year is exceedingly large. Parents, friends and former students are here by the scores and each newly arriving car swells the number.

Contrary to the expectation, the class day exercises, a new feature at the Normal, were unavoidably postponed on account of conflicting with the meeting of the alumni. Both were to be held in the chapel this evening, but owing to the conflicting and partly to a want of time to prepare, the class exercises were taken from the programme greatly to the regret of many.

This afternoon the alumni association held their biennial meeting in the chapel. W. D. Weaver, esq., class of '68, of Lancaster, delivered the salutatory address. He was followed by Miss Elizabeth Dickey, class of '66, of Fairmount, W. Va., with an essay on "Perfect Woman hood," This evening several classes hold reunions. Tomorrow is commencement day proper, the exercises beginning at 9:39 o'clock in the morning. Two sessions will be occupied in delivering the orations and in the reading of essays. Of the class, numbering 37, but 14 are on the programme as taking part in the exercises. Seven of this number are ladies, and the remaining seven are gentlemen. A full The Trouble at Washington.

The trouble in Little Washington, which arose from the attempt of the borough authorities to set back the fences of of removing their fences. They were met, ground. however, by a strong force of men and did not attempt to do the work. This morning the constable and nine Columbia men | West Willow. again went to Washington for the purpose of assisting in the removal of the fences. Their coming was not un-expected, however, and when they went to the houses they found a large crawd of men assembled, who were armed with pistols, guns and clubs, and who were determined to resist them. The supervisor, constable and their men were again compelled to give up their plans. Word was sent to Squire Frank, of Columbia, who came to Lancester to take legal advice in the matter this afternoon. It is said that the men who resisted will be arr sted.

SUMMER LEISURE.

People Who Want to Keep Cool. Councilman Chas, E. Downey, of the Ninth ward, left this morning for the ally mountains of Fulton county. He has been in impaired health and will run up to Bedford to quaff the healing waters of the famous springs there.

J. W. F. Swift, esq. and wife, went to Cape May, where they will tarry at the Arctic house.

Mrs. Louisa Huber and Mrs. T. Dunham left yesterday for an extended trip. They will visit Watkins Glen, Niagara Falls, the White mountains and Saratoga, and will be gone until September.

Unfounded Report.

There was a widely circulated report on the streets that Wm. H. Koring, proprietor of the Mechanics' hotel, corner of Chestnut and Plum streets, died vesterday afternoon. Mr. Koring is not dead, though he is in very ill-health, having suffered for a year or more with a complication of diseases. The report of his death probably had its origin in the fact that his physician, directed that he should be kept very quiet, and that he might not be unnecessarily disturbed, the bar room attached to the hotel was closed.

Shot in the Foot.

Last evening George McAlpine, a young brother of Wild Harry, who has been attending the shooting gallery in Centre square, met with an accident. He had just loaded one of the small guns with a cartridge, and was standing talking to some friends, with the gun pointing downwards. In some manner the weapon was discharged, the ball from the cartridge struck young McAlpine in the fore part of the foot. The ball was removed by Dr. Bolenius, and the wound is not serious.

Runaway Accident Early this morning as Henry F. Trout, farmer, residing near Landisville, was crossing the railroad on his way to the Lancaster market, his horse took fright at a freight train that was backing on the railroad. The horse backed into a fence corner, turned suddenly around and ran off. Trout jumped out of the buggy and escaped unhurt. The horse ran for several miles, and when captured, had spilled out of the buggy a large basket full of butter and eggs, which have not yet been re- You'll fascinate and conquer still.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Ell McCardle Found Dead in a Field. Eli McCardle, a resident of Bethesda, Martic township, died very suddenly on Monday afternoon. He had been cutting oats with a cradle during the forenoon and at noon he went to dinner. After eating he fed the hogs and told a young man who had been working with him that he was going out to field, which is near the house, to go to work. Shortly afterward the boy went to the field and found Mr. McCardle lying dead. Jefferson Armstrong, deputy coroner of Providence township, and Dr. John F. Yost were sent for and an inquest was held. The jury empaneled was composed of Jesse Horner, Isaac H. Robinson, John account will appear in to-morrow's paper. Clark, William McLaughlin, Andrew J. Laird and John A. Spence.
