Lancaster Intelligencer.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 21, 1880. Garfield on the Civil Service.

It is reported from Washington that since the publication of Gen. Garfield experienced in getting the clerks in the departments to respond to the demand upon them by Secretary Edw. McPherson for a portion of their salaries to be field had been an advocate of civil service reform. He had been quite as advanced a theorist of that school as Geo. Wm. Curtis, or Carl Schurz, and had publicly advocated a complete separation of the influence of congressmen from the executive appointments. He had taken just as high ground as Hayes in "civil service order No. 1," or as Sherman, when he said to Arthur in dismissing him: "Persons have been regularly paid by you who have rendered little or no service; the expenses of your office have increased, while its receipts have diminished. Bribes, or gratuities in the shape of bribes, have been received by your subordinates in several branches of the stripe. custom house, and you have in no case supported the effort to correct these abuses." Against these abuses Garfield had protested with such earnestness, and for their reform he had advocated such practical measures that the Conklings, and Logans, and Camerons had no more incentive to enter with zeal into a campaign for him than the department clerks had to chip in to the hat as it passed around among them.

But with the appearance of Garfield's letter of acceptance, in view of the construction which the stalwarts put upon it, and the disgust with which it has been saluted by the New York Times, the Evening Post, the Nation, the Springfield Republican and the Cincinnati Commercial, the beef-eaters seem to have taken fresh courage. In this clause he makes complete surrender of his previous principles :

The executive should, therefore seek and receive the information and assistance of those whose knowledge of the communities in which the duties are to performed best qualifies them to aid in making the wisest choice.

By that he means that as president he proposes to surrender the appointing power to congressmen, to make the public patronage the spoil of the senatorial copies of important letters were frequenttunities they have heretofore had to disthat is the construction they have put may be sent to England or France." upon it and which he wanted them to put upon it. It was a bid for their surport. It restored Cameron's health and brought him to Washington to confer with Jewell, whom Grant had kicked out of the cabinet: it abbreviated Conkling's European tour to a fishing jaunt, and now it has swelled the clerks' contributions at Washington.

The whole performance is more valuable in illustrating Garfield's double-faced political and personal character than in indicating his real views on the subject under investigation. It was he who in 1876 in a public speech said:

Congressmen have become the dispensers, sometimes the brokers, of patronage, and civil office has become a vast corrupting power to be used in running the machine of party politics. Every man of the 102,000 feels that his only hope of staying is in toadying to those in power, so that the offices are an immense bribe, securing to the party in power an army of retainers who are the most servile of their sort in the world. Nothing less than the absolute direrce of the appointing function from Congress can remedy the evil. It should be done so completely that every member of Congress shall be able to make such a boast as Thomas Hughes, M. P., did on his visit to this country-that, although he was personally on good terms with every member of the cabinet, he could not influence the appointment of a clerk.

Whether his position then was sound or unsound, it is manifest that he now makes ignominious retreat from it to catch the support of the stalwart wing of his party. He is the same evasive, cowardly, time-serving position shifter that he has displayed himself to be on every trying occasion of critical public interest. Protectionist and free trader. stalwart and conciliator, radical and conservative, hard money and double-standard advocate, pretender to piety and the patron of political fraud, he changes his mask for every exigency and has a different uniform for every service. No such man can again be elected president of these United States.

MR. SCHURZ's speech at Indianapolis, last evening, was such a glowing defense he himself is a part—that it will not be a an administration as Hayes has given his collegiate career." his party. Nor will be arouse any more enthusiasm among them by his declarations that the war issues are all behind us, that Hancock as a man and a soldier the charges against his integrity which have been recorded by Judge Poland's committee and Judge Swayne's deliverance from the supreme bench. Mr. Schurz's speech is a mere apology in the theological seminary at Mercershe knows that there is such slight justifi- of ill health. cation.

adjusting the relative rights of the dif. | brother of the late Richard Brodhead ferent interests represented by the Phila- for many years representative in Congress delphia Democracy. To them belongs and United States senator from Pennsylall the credit that attaches to those who vania. He served several times in the yield rather than disturb the harmony of state Legislature and then moved to Pike the organization; and they act with like | county, and for many years devoted himulation of the wrongs complained of in a party, which in its present united nately foud. In 1866 he removed to condition may yet control the politics of and his many friends.

of which last amusement ne was mortal mother-in-law and then committee suicine, on Monday evening. The provocation for the tragedy seems to have been the exast perating disposition of his mother-in-law. away happy.

SECRETARY SCHURZ seems to feel that as the war issues are all behind us, differences affecting the parties, there is nothing to hold independent men to the Republican party except that Hancock ' is a professional soldier, who has never letter of acceptance less trouble has been been anything else but that, and who ion, weighing about 150 pounds, was from the very nature and necessities of his profession has always stood aloof from the management of political questions." If Secretary Schurz will read the doctors despairing of her life. Louder applied to the Republican campaign carefully Gen. Hancock's papers as milfund. It will be remembered that Gar- itary governor of Louisiana and Texas, he will discover that he was confronted with the greatest questions of political importance, requiring the highest sagacity of the statesman, and that he succeeded just where Schurz has condemned Grant for most signally failing.

> Appropriate Approp ation of Congressman Garfield's bribe- tion. Entire harmany prevailed. taking in the DeGolyer business, the Nor Era remarks that "only violent partisans, with special ends of their own in view, continue to hang on to the charge." If Judge Swayne is a " violent partisan," he is of the Ohio Republican

MINOR TOPICS.

Well done, Philadelphia Democrats Pittsburgh people do likewise.

It is not to the advantage of Nea Dow's candidacy for president that Dr. Leonard W. Bacon is at this time bringing the Maine liquor law to judgment in the columns of the Independent. Dr. Bacon, it is known, is himself a stalwart prohibitionist, who wishes to subserve an end, and not defeat it by caviling, and yet his conclusion is that the Maine law has proved the most miscrable failure. With him the question is one of morals, not of trade, and he shows notwithstanding the statutes in which he had a number of old barrel regard to the liquor traffic, drunkeness is fearfully on the increase in the Pine Tree

PROF. J. H. DUBBS, D. D., writing to the Messenger says: "In a Lancaster Chunk, yesterday, a large number being paper of 1787, which we have just examined, John Graff advertises that he is about to return to Germany; and offers to take letters with him to Europe 'at the low rate of two shillings and six pence for each letter.' In those days postal communication was so uncertain that several syndicate, and to give the Camerons, the ly sent by different channels, in the hope Conklings and Logans the same oppor- that one of them, at least, might reach its destination. At present our postal arpose machine rule upon the people and rangements with Europe may be said to their party in the great states. At least be almost perfect. For five cents a letter

> A CORRESPONDENT Writing from Columbus to an Eastern journal says: "The most significant fact in connection with national politics in Ohio at present is the wavering of the Germans, who have been voting the Republican ticket the past few years. The thread which has held them to the party has been slender, and it seems likely to break. Garfield is not popular with the Germans, while Hancock is, and a stampede to him seems imminent. The Wachter Am Erie, the most influential German paper in the northern part of the state, has deserted the Republicans and will support the Democratic national and state tickets. In the likely event of a further defection of Germans this influence on the state and congressional campaigns will be decidedly unfavorable to the Republicans, "

PERSONAL.

C. E. HOOKER has been renominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Fifth Mississippi district.

SAMUEL D. HASTINGS, a distinguished citizen of Wisconsin and for eight years treasurer of that state, will lecture in the Duke street M. E. church on Sunday evening on the subject of "Temperance."

By the wreck of an excursion train at Knox station, Ohio, about midway between Toledo and Indianapolis, WALTER II. RIVERS, esq., of Indianapolis, private secretary to Hon. Wm. H. English, the Democratic candidate for vice president, was probably fatally injured.

Count Louis Francois DE Pourtalis, has died in Beverly, Mass. The count was a native of Neufchatel, born March 4, 1823, was educated as an engineer, and came to this country about the same time as Agassiz, whose pupil and fellow worker he became. After the death of Agassiz he was appointed keeper of the museum of comparative zoology, which position he retained to the close of his life.

THE Lebanon Times says: "Mr. E. A. GERNANT, son of Adam Gernant, esq., of Leesport, Berks county, and student in the theological seminary of Lancaster, filled the pulpit of the Reformed church on Sunof the present administration—of which day evening. Mr. G. was formerly a student of Palatinate college and is well very convincing plea to the stalwart fac- known to most of our citizens. They tion of his party, to whom no weaker ar- were not disappointed in their expectagument could be advanced for Garfield's tions, as Mr. G.'s effort fell short, in no election than that he will continue such respect, of the bright promises made by

Fears are entertained of the death of S. S. RICKLEY, president of the Capital City bank, Columbus Ohio, who was shot through the forehead while standing at his is irreproachable, nor by his utter failure desk by Andrew Eichenberg, a German to defend the Republican candidate from dyer, who immediately shot himself, dying almost instantly. Mr. Rickley is known to a large number of the ministry and membership of the Reformed church. He graduated at Marshall college in 1843, and for his voting for the nominee of a party | burg this state, in 1845. He was subsewhich he feels has so little good left in it quently ordained to preach and quit the and for the further existence of which ministry for business pursuits on account

ALBERT GALLATIN BRODHEAD, formerly a Pennsylvanian of prominence. died in Bethlehem on Sunday, the 18th THE county committee Democrats of inst., in the 82d year of his age. He was Philadelphia the lightning singled out Philadelphia have acted wisely and hon- born at the Brodhead homestead in the house of Mr. Miller, Germantown, and orably in putting behind them whatever Delaware, Pike county, Pa., in August, of injustice or weakness marked the 1799. He was a son of Judge Richard action of the state peace commission in Brodhead, of Pike county, and an older winding up by setting the house on tree wisdom in only deferring a better reg- self to his books, his farm and the chase,

STATE ITEMS.

A twelve-year-old girl, name unknown, the money question settled, and no great was struck by a passenger locomotive on differences affecting the parties there is near White Haven, Luzerne county, and instantly killed

An unknown man, about twenty-tour years of age, smooth face, light complexfound dead on the Reading railroad, two miles east of Pottstown.

In Mifflin Lucien Louder brutally beat his wife and she now lying uncon-

Francis Hummer, an inmate of the Lebanon county almshouse, committed suicide on Sunday by cutting a gash two inches long in each of his arms above the elbow, severing the main arteries and bleeding to death.

James Mosgrove was nominated for Congress on the first ballot in Harry White's district by the Democratic conference. The Greenbackers met at the same hour and also nominated Mosgrove by acclama

The Cumberland county Greenback convention met Saturday and put the following ticket in nomination: For Congress, Prof. C. J. Little, of Dickinson college Legislature, A. Line and H. S. Mohler Director of the Poor, Daniel Kauffman.

Albert Eckley, a boy of twelve years, while at work in the Pennypack print works, was caught in machinery and whirled around the shafting several times before assistance could arrive. One arm was torn off, several ribs were crushed, his face was much disfigured and he has

Ralph, the son of Theodore H. Newhard, of the American hotel, Allentown, died from lock jaw, the result of a wound in his hand received July 5th while firing off a toy pistol. The frequency of these events in all parts of the state leads to the belief that there is something poisonous in the composition of these toy pistol cart-

While Christ. Rapp, an old stone mason, aged about sixty years, was driving across the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne and Chicago railroad track at the Excelsior oil works crossing in a one-horse buckboard, upon staves piled, the vehicle was struck by the Eric express. Both man and horse were instantly killed.

A reunion of the veterans of the 28th and 147th Pennsylvania volunteers and Knapp's battery, took place in Mauch present. In the afternoon a business meeting was held after which the visitors were taken over the Switchback. Last evening a procession was formed and they marched through the principal streets which were brilliantly illuminated. Later a banquet was held at the Mansion house.

The third case of attempted suicide within four days among the "women of the town" of Bradford occurred there Monday night. Jennie Davis, grieved at her lover's refusal to speak to her, took a dose of poison, but some of the young woman's frail sisters promptly caused powerful emetic to be administered, which speedily recalled Jennie from the shadowy vale in a repentant condition.

Sometime since Christian Schugart, 80 years old, and weak-minded, strayed in he greatly annoyed by his foolish capers. 264 95 for the year ending with June, 1879. When ordered to leave he refused, and as is stated, was knocked down and kicked. then placed upon a wheelbarrow and hauled off to a manure pile in the rear of a stable where he was deposited. He was not discovered until the following day, and has since lain in an unconscious condition. He is expected to die from the ill-treatment he received.

LATEST NEWS BY MAIL. The village of Remus, in the Engadine, rance has been burned down. eight houses were destroyed.

Frederick Shaefer, a wealthy lager beer brewer, who intentionally shot himself on Staten Island, ten days ago, has died from the effects of his injuries.

In Tossfield, Mass., Lewis, the ten-yearold son of Albert Simonds, while bathing, got beyond his depth. His father went to his rescue, but both were drowned. John F. Richmond and Simeon M. Yea.

ton broke out of the Cumberland county jail at Portland, Me., escaping by making four false keys. No traces of them have While a farmer named Charles A. Bentley was driving across the railroad track on a load of hay, at Hamburg, N. Y., he was caught by the telegraph wires and thrown to the ground, fracturing his skull Soon after the steamer Old Colony left

New York last night, an unknown man jumped overboard. The steamer was stopped, a boat lowered and the man resened in two minutes after the alarm was

Edward Short of Hartland, Vt., went to Niagara Falls for the purpose of committing suicide, but lost courage at the sight of the great cataract and chose death from a revolver as a more expeditious and easy form of suicide.

Dr. Abbie M. Cleaves, of Davenport, one of the brightest of Iowa women and best of Iowa doctors, has just been appointed principal physician of the female department of the Pennsylvania state lunatic asylum at Harrisburg, and has accepted the position at a salary of $2,500 a

The census returns give Utah a population in round numbers of 144,000, an increase of 65 per cent. in ten years. At their last conference the Mormous reported that Mormon population was 112,000 leaving 32,000 non-Mormons. In 1870 the non-Mormons were less than 10,000, an increase of 200 per cent. Increase of Mormon population 45 per cent.

THE STORM.

A General Prevalence of Heavy Rains. The rain and storm of yesterday seem to have been very general and disastrous all over the eastern part of the country. The floods in Virginia on Monday night and yesterday were very heavy. The thunder and lightning were terrific, the rain came in sluices, and the wind in a tornado. The crops were greatly injured. In Baltimore early yesterday morning it was so severe that many houses were flooded and the people much terrified. Through the Cumberland valley, in Pennsylvania, the streams were greatly swollen, houses flooded, and killed cattle lightning. In Luzerne county the storm was very heavy and destructive. Nesco. peck township a brick church was de molished, two barns blown down, crop destroyed, roads blocked and railroan stopped for hours. after playing around the chimney, it darted are now running successfully and satisfacinto the house by way of the gas pipe, struck the chandelier and lighted the gas, Fortunately no particular damage was done The storm was quite severe in various parts of the city, especially in the suburbs, and the wind, at times, was very strong. The Exasperating Mother-in-Law. Solomon H. Easterly, aged 45 years, a temperate man, in easy circumstances, living near Lyons, N. Y., murdered his mother-in-law and then committed suicide, DEMOCRATIC HARMONY.

The Union of all Factions in Philadelphia The chasm between the Philadelphia city and county Democratic committees was bridged last night in order that all the voters of the party may work as one man for the election of Hancock and English. It was decided by the county committee that no second local ticket shall pe put in the field by them, nor anything else done to prevent the national ticket from getting all the votes obtainable, and that the entire party there will act in harmony for the common good. The county people adopted the report of their committee to meet the state commission which includes the following articles: First. To postpone the revision of the rules and other questions effecting the permanent organization of the party in Philadelphia till the next and final meeting of the peace commission.

Second. To direct the president of this committee to appoint seven of its members who, with the president, are directed to represent it in the campaign committee for city, state and federal canvass. Third. To notify the peace commission of this action of the county committee, with the earnest request that the peace commission will understand that the temporary arrangement for this campaign is accepted till the peace commission shall meet, as it has declared it will, after the election, to complete its duty, which it has vet failed to do. Fourth. That the organization of the county committee be maintained until the final action of the peace commission. In conclusion the committee said : "The undersigned are induced thus to report because they believe that nothing will be lost to the county committee by this noble sacrifice of its opinion and conviction for the triumph of the principles and caudidates of the party. Let it not be said that in Hancock's own state, the great old Keystone commonwealth, there are Democrats who are incapable of subordinating their just grievances to the unity and harmony, the success and triumph of the Democratic party. Our party-yes, our countrycalls on us for all our jewels save our honor and we lay them on the altar in hope and faith that in the coming triumph they will glow in brilliancy."

The eight county committeemen will be the leading men of that interest, and Lewis C. Cassidy will likely be chairman of the joint committee.

PENNSYLVANIA'S TOBACCO YIELD. A Striking Increase in Lancaster and York

Dispatch to the Press. One of the most noticeable changes agriculture in Pennsylvania during the last few years is the great increase in the growth of tobacco, especially in Lancaster York and Berks counties. This is strikingly illustrated in the report which Thomas A. Wiley, collector of the Ninth internal revenue district, has just made to Commisioner Raum in answer to his circular letter of inquiry to collectors as to the condition of their of fices. The Ninth district consists of Laneaster and York counties, and Collector Wiley reports that the total amount of internal revenue collected within its limits has increased over 38 per cent. within the last four years, the total having grown from $770,603.59 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1876, to $797,325.84 for the year ending with June, 1877; $803,806.93 for and $1,064,642.47 for the year which closed with last month. A portion of this increase is attributable to greater diligence and faithfulness in the force employed to collect the taxes, but most of it is due to the great increase in the tobacco crop and in the number of manufactories employed in preparing it for the market. Five years ago the tobacco crop of Lancaster county did not probably exceed $250,000 in

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

value, and those of York $100,000; now

the value of the crop in each county rises

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

The Tragic Death of Stehman Dietrich. Yesterday afternoon Emanuel Levergood, Charles Dietrich and his brother, Stehman Dietrich, aged 19, both the latter sons of Adam S. Dietrich, farmer, residing in Manor township, near Hess's tavern on the Columbia pike, went gunning. They were caught in the heavy thunder and rain storm which occurred about p. m. Levergood and Chas. Dietrich found shelter in some stacks on the farm of Jacob C. Kready and the younger Dietrich took refuge under a gum tree about 15 yards from the edge of Kready's woods on the Ironstone ridge. After the storm had ceased the former went home expecting that Stehman had also gone thither, but he had not arrived and did not come at supper time. His father and mother became alarmed. The bell was rung repeatedly, but he did not appear. and his brother and others started in search of him. To his horror he found the dead body of Stehman about 9 p. m. under the gum tree. It was manifest that it had been struck by lightning near the top, the bolt passed down the butt to within about six inches of where his head must have been, then glanced from the tree to the young man's temple and a blue streak running thence down to his waist traced its fatal course. He was no doubt killed instantly. The body was removed to his father's house at about 11 p. m. An inquest has been held by Deputy Coroner Wm. Roberts and Dr. A. K. Rohrer, with J. C. Kready, Abr. Mumma, Geo. Fisher, Daniel Imhoff, Jacob Denlinger and Harry C. Baker as iurymen. They rendered a verdict of death from lightning. The body will be interred on Friday, funeral services at his parents' home at 9 a. m., and at the meeting house on the Millersville turnpike at 10 a. m. The calamity has aroused general sorrow in the community where young Dietrich was widely known and much esteemed for his many manly qualities and where his parents are highly respected. His bereaved mother is almost distracted with grief, and many sorrowing friends and relatives deeply mourn his untimely death.

The Rohrerstown Mills, Mr. Emanuel McShane, of the Rohrerstown rolling mills, tells us that Andrew Lee, of the Kensington strikers, lied when he told a Times reporter that McShane had been down there trying to get forty men to go to work at his mill at 84.25. Mr. McShane further says he never saw Lee to his knowledge"wouldn't know him from a salt herring, " has no need to go to Kensington for good hands, and that his works Released on Bail. Dr. Lewin, who was arrested for slander yesterday, at the instance of Al. Rosenstein, was released from jail this morning, having furnished bail, the amount of which was reduced to $500.

Mayor's Court.

This morning Emma Archey, a colored [Garfield's] character I should be decid-his son Victor, recently made a trip to Eudame from Middle street, was sent to jail edly inclined to believe that he was de-

THE CAMPAIGN.

Republican and Democratic Demonstratio The Democracy of New Holland met in the dining rooms of the Styer house last evening for the preliminary work of organizing a Hancock and English club. There was a very good attendance notwithstanding the threatening weather of the early evening. On the nomination of Capt. Isaac Holl the meeting was temporarily organized with Hon. Wm. Ellmaker as president and Geo. H. Townsley, secretary. W. U. Hensel and John A. Coyle, esqs., of this city, made brief addeesses on the issues of the campaign and the importance of efficient organization, and George Pontz, the campaign bard of this city, sang a couple of songs composed especially for the occasion. About fifty persons enrolled themselves as active members, and the following permanent organization was effeeted:

President-Levi Bair. Secretary—Geo. H. Townsley. Assistant Secretary—Dr. S. A. Zell. Corresponding Secretary-W. S. Yundt. Treasurer-E. C. Diller.

The Democracy of the three Earls, and ndeed of the entire eastern end of the county, in a minority as they are, are alive and active and a good report may be expected in November from the Welsh nountains to the Furnace hills.

The City Campaign Committee. A meeting of the city campaign con nittee-composed of the county and city committees, and the conference committees of the several ward clubs in this city will be held at H. Zaepfel's saloon in Cenre square at 8 o'clock this evening. As the meeting is called to consider the question of establishing a central headquarters, reading rooms, &c., and the uniform equipment of the Hancock clubs, it is highly important that there be a complete representation of the different organizations. In such wards as the committees of conference have not yet been appointed, the president, secretary and treasurer of the respective ward clubs will be expected to represent the same.

The Republican Keturn Judges. The meeting of the Republican return judges to be held in Grant hall next Saturday at 11 a. m. under the call of President John II. Fry, "to the end that whatever fraud and unfairness may have been practiced at the late primary election of our party may be corrected," promises to be well attended and lively affair. Tom Davis's friends laugh at the idea of his being thrown overboard and 'Squire Snader's backers feel entirely screne. They say they can safely appeal to the dire need of entire harmony in the party at this time, and that the return judges will not countenance the New-Era-Examiner-Sensenig-Johnson combination to count Davis out by calculating the frauds on one side and ignoring them on the other. A very general feeling in the party is expressed by a correspondent of the New Era, who writes to it : Standing without and looking on at the restless struggle of the desperate men who rule Lancaster county politics and their entertain sufficient respect for the Republican party to vote its ticket. Then the writer goes on to appeal to Sam Matt Fridy, John M. Stehman, Steve Grissinger, John High, Jake Kready and Ben Longenecker, as men of aspirations and influence, to interfere and vindicate some of the wrongs committed, to control "their" return judges to secure investigation and redress, and finally they are threatened: The people will not hold those guiltless who assume to be the leaders in their political battles; if you are quiet now they think you approve of these methods and expect to be nominated in the very same way."

"IMMENSE DEMONSTRATION."

Republican Walk-around-DeGolyer to Front-Music, Speeches and Fire-works, But No Lunch.

Last night the Central Republican club accompanied by the City cornet band, had a walk-around, for the purpose of serenading the officers of the club. It was intended to make the demonstration a crushing one, and it was given out that among other attractions there would be a grand display of fireworks all along the line, that speeches would be made by the officers serenaded, and that a grand set-out would be furnished by Col. W. L. Peiper and other officers of the club. Pyrotechnics and good living are great persuaders with the boys, and on this occasion had the effect of gathering together at Grant Hall about two hundred stalwarts, men and boys. After making a short street parade they moved down to Centre Square, march ed around the soldiers' monument, and nassed in front of the postoffice, where the band played a lively tune. Wm. D. Weaver, esq., was called for and received with loud applause as he mounted the steps to speak. He eulogized Garfield, saying that what he especially liked about him was that in his early days he had navigated the raging canal, and is therefore now well calculated to lead the Republican party through the shoals and breakers of Salt river, for which the party is now inevitably steering. While Hancock, mere soldier, was butchering rebels at Spottsylvania and Gettysburg, Garfield was displaying his great talent as a statesman by writing dispatches at a safe distance from the field of battle, and took the earliest opportunity to resign even that somewhat exposed position to take a seat in Congress, where his great statesmanship soon attracted the attention of the most distinguished lobbyists, and he became a shining light among the magnates of the Credit Mobilier and the DeGolyer pavement interests. Even that old Copperhead, Jerry Black, bestows a meed of praise on our illustrious candidate, by saying that he does not know any really good nan who has done and assisted in doing so many bad things in politics as General Garfield. Justice Swayne, of the United States supreme court, also comes to the rescue of our candidate and declares that Garfield received a $5,000 fee from the DeGolyer pavement managers, an act that no counsellor-at-law has a right to do while holding a position in Congress and being chairman of the committee through whom the appropriation asked for could alone be obtained. To use Judge Swayne's own words, Garfield's act "was a sale of official influence which no veil can cover, against the plainest principles of public policy." [Applause by Harry Schroyer.] And what says the Lutheran church is picnicking at the same are a number of people on the grounds ai-Hou. Henry B. Payue, of Ohio, in behalf place, and to-morrow the Presbyterians go ready, from Lancaster, Reading and other of our candidate? I quote his there for a similar purpose. remarks as they appear in to-day's Examiner: "From my knowledge of his

to blame for any error." [Immense applause by Harry Schroyer.] Mr. Weaver concluded his oration in a blaze of glory produced by five roman candles and a blue light, referring eloquently to Garfield's membership in the Cobden Free Trade club and Arthur's ignominious dismissal from the New York custom house as additional evidence of their fitness for the presidency and vice presidency of the United States. [Yells by Harry Schroyer, who carried the same club that was used with such good effect by John H. Fry at the neeting of the board of Republican return udges.]

Postmaster Marshall was next called on and mounted the steps of the castle he has controlled for so many years. His fine figure showed to great advantage, arrayed, as it was in faultless attire, the vest being of spotless white, cut very low in the waist, and somewhat after the pattern in vogue in the days of the immortal Washington. He remarked that after having listened to the grand oration just concluded he didn't know what to say nor how to say it. He was glad to see such a fine turn-out of young men; they would all vote for Garfield and thus prevent the Democrats from getting possession of the postoffice. He thanked the club for the serenade the had given him. [Harry Schroyer thinking it was his club to which the speaker alluded pounded vigorously on the wooden step]. He hoped the banner of the bloody shirt which had led them to victory during may a hard-fought compaign would never be lowered. [Applause by H. S. and two more roman candles exploded].

The band played another tune, the line was reformed and marched up East King treet. It had greatly dwindled in numpers and all present might have been comortably quartered under Jimmy Marshall's Sixth ward tent. On reaching the residence of Col. W. L. Peiper, Sammy Groff and some other good livers were found on the front step, it being understood by them that the colonel was going to give a grand set-out, and they of course wanted to be on hand in time to see the beginning. Imagine their disappointment, not to say disgust, on being informed that the bighearted colonel was not at home—in fact was not in town.

Sadly the club marched to their head quarters at Grant hall, when some one, more thirsty than the rest, suggested that may be Boss Demuth would "do something" if they gave him a racket. The suggestion was at once acted on and the club marched to the snuff mill. A tune was played by the band, and three cheers were proposed by Nick Goodman for De-Golyer, Garfield and Snuffy Demuth. The boss," however, did not put in an appearance, and to break the awkwardness of the situation, Maj. R. W. Shenk, who appened to be passing, mounted the curb, and in behalf of Mr. Demuth thanked the sure Mr. Demuth would be re-elected. The worm, but seem determined to meet heroic manner in which he had stood by him at short swords, and can be Don Cameron in the past had endeared seen walking up and down, down Era faction could easily be whipped into methods, I feel as if I never again could his support. Maj. Shenk said he had been for that worm that he had never been in the harness for thirty years and knew how the machine ought to be run. "Old men for select council, young men for war" nen must bear aloft the banner, do the marching, fire off the shooting crackers, and keep up a perpetual yell, while the old veterans will grease and guide the machine. An irreverent stalwart here yelled out that the major better go and soak his head.] Without noticing the unmannerly interruption the major gave some reminiscences of his services in select council, and with pardonable pride referred to his skill in negotiating "loaps" and all of which are finely arranged and grow laying pavements. [Applause by Harry | ing nicely. Schroyer.] These loans were not small affairs like the $329 loan made by Garfield from the illustrious Oakes Ames, but were good substantial permanent loans for the on Spring street. increase of the city debt, the interest on which can be paid by our children and children's children for generations yet unborn. As to the "pavements" in which he had taken so deep an interest, they were much better, the major thought, than the $5,000 DeGolyer pavements in which the illustrious Garfield took so im portant a part. The major said he asked no reward for himself for what he had done, but called upon his friends to remember the services of Gartield. In conclusion he proposed three cheers for the Credit Mobilier, the DeGolyer pavements, civil service reform and the city debt. Applause by Harry Schroyer.]

It being now evident there would be no set-out, the boys dispersed to the neighboring saloons and bought their own beer.

JAW BONES. A Pair Discovered in a Strange Place. This morning while workmen were engaged in making alterations in ently purchased by Isaac Diller, they found the lower jaw-bones of a horse or ass, securely sealed up between the floor and ceiling, just at the first landing of the stairway. The house was built about the beginning of the present century by Joseph Montgomery, and afterwards occupied for many years by Dr. F. A. Muhlenberg. From the position in which the bones were found it is evident they were placed there at the time the house was built. Can anyone tell why they were placed there. Is there any superstition that they are calculated to bring luck to the house as does the horseshoe, or ward off evil spirits as some other charms are supposed to do.

Cruelty to Animals

Henry Smith had a hearing before Alderman Spurrier last evening to answer a charge of cruelty to animals preferred against him by S. H. Zahm, local agent of the S. P. C. A. Several witnesses testified that they had seen him beating his cart horse with a key-stick (a club about three and a half feet long by an inch and a half thick). The accused stoutly denied the charge. The alderman inflicted the usual penalty-$10 and costs.

Sunday School Pienies. Yesterday St. Paul's M. E. church Sunday school held a picnic at What Glen and

To-day the Sunday school of Grace be held in the tabernacle on Sunday. There Coming Home.

Mr. B. Yecker, who, accompanied by ceived rather than guilty—that his igno- rope, has arrived in New York, and a telrance of business affairs and methods was egram received from him announces that land Valley railroad and was going to the blame for any error." [Immense 20].

LITITZ

A Pleasant Place of Resort Why Fly to the Mountains or

Our correspondent at Lititz writes: Lititz our local summer resort, again looks fresh and beautiful in her summer garment; and it would be well for those who are now contemplating a short vacation with their families, for once to give no countenance to the popular cry of "off to the seashore and mountain," but come here and "it will do them good." Year after year this place is place is gaining fresh hold on the affections of our pleasure seekers, and why should it not? We cannot offer you mountain air and mount scenery, but we can give you cooling water, pleasant walks and delightful drives. No mineral qualities are claimed to adulterate our water, but it is as clear and wholesome as that found anywhere. We have no Stockton nor Grand Union but we have a hostelry of which we need not be ashamed.

Many of the most prominent citizens of this county, together with those of our sister cities and towns, have sent their families to this delightful place for a summer's vacation. The grounds attached to the spring are filled nightly with promenaders, while the more reserved play croquet upon the large lawns in front of the Springs hotel, enjoy its cool piazzas, or trip the light fantastic toe to merry music.

There has been a change in the managenent of the Springs hotel, Mr. Ammon having retired and Mr. John H. Landis has taken charge of it and has refurnished and fixed up the entire building.

Among the many visitors here at present we note Mrs. Capt. E. McMellen and children, and Miss Umble, of Lancaster; Mrs. J. H. Soule, her two children and friend, of Washington, D. C.; her husband, a Washington attorney, will soon follow; Mr. Luchenb.c. wife and daughters of Bethlehem, who, by the way, came here last Thursday, and celebrated their golden wedding at the Springs hotel by a grand supper to his nu merous friends here, and gotten up in Mr. Landis's best style.

Mrs. A. J. Kauffman and children, Mrs. Young and family and Mrs. Slinger and child, all of Columbia, will arrive to-day. There are quite a number of others, most ly from Bethlehem and Philadelphia. Mr. Landis has applications for rooms daily.

Warwick's Tobacco Crop. The tobacco around here looks very time The majority of it will be very early. The late rains have caused it to make rapid progress and in many fields the growers were compelled to begin topping. Mr. John Yeager has two acres out which he found necessary to commence topping the beginning of this week. Many leaves in his field can be found that will measure 20 to 24 inches long. The growers here are club for the serenade given him. He was beginning to complain of the tobacco him to all machine politicians, and the New and up, back now looking for him, and if perchance one is to be seen, it were better born. They find but few ants on the plants the stalks being to large for them to "tackle." In many places where there s the old and good motto. The young are a number of small plants, the grower has hit upon a plan to make them grow, the philosophy of which we will not argue. A solution of manure is made, the stalk is lifted aside, phosphate is put around the roots, and the fluid manure is poured around its base.

Dr. Roebuck has the finest garden in town. He has just added hundreds of rare and beautiful plants to his floral display,

Several Philadelphians are here, engaged in putting in new vaults for the Lititz national bank, in its handsome new building

Dr. Shenk and Jacob Buch have moved into their new residences above the springs. Both are frame, two and a-half stories high, and built on the cottage plan and loook very cozy and neat.

Mr. A. W. Shober will also erect a handsome brick residence adjoining the two above named. The foundation is up and Mr. S. expects to occupy it in the fall.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH.

Sketch of the Interior Decorations. We have been shown a sketch of the proposed interior decoration of St. Stephen's Lutheran church. The designs are by Reingruber, and the work will be done by him. The pulpit recess will be painted in a series of pointed arches, admirably proportioned, elaborately ornamented and brilliantly colored. In the upper section of the middle arch is a medallion in which is painted a portrait of the Saviour in the act of blessing the bread and wine on the occasion of the last supper. On either side, in smaller the stairway of the Muhlenberg medallions, are figures of angels with foldproperty on South Queen street, re- ed arms and bowed heads. On the wall to the right of the pulpit is painted a cross and crown, and to the left an anchor on which is resting an open Bible. All these figures are elaborately ornamented. On the centre panel of the ceiling, immediately above the pulpit, is a dove with outspread wings, surrounded by a glory typical of the Holy Spirit, and nearer the centre of the ceiling is an angel, with outspread wings, bearing a scroll on which is inscribed in German, "Glory to God in the highest." The ceiling is laid out in several well-proportioned oblong panels, the centre one being blue and the others of neutral tint. The borders of all of them are frescoed in new and beautiful designs of softly blended colors. From the sketch before us we should judge that when the work is finished St. Stephen's will be one of the most attractive places of worship in this city.

> Barns Burned. In the storms of Monday night and Tuesday morning, Henry L. Zimmerman's barn in Codorus township, York county, was struck by lightning and burned, loss $2,000; Levi Gaul's barn, two miles west of Wernersville, Berks county, was destroyed in the same manner, loss $4,000; and Henry West's in Robeson township, > Berks county, loss $800. The Landisville Campu The campmeeting begins at Landisville places, and the attendance will undoubtedly be large this year.

Two Sections. There were two sections of the Pacific express east this afternoon. The second one was an excursion from the Cumber-