TUESDAY EVENING, AUGUST 10, 1880.

San Francisco Sensation. The San Francisco papers devote much space to the publication of the testimony in the examining trial of Edward S. Shroeder, a bank teller, in that city, for the killing of Dr. Lefevre, a prominent dentist of Oakland, Cal., whom he charged with the seduction of his wife, who is the daughter of the Rev. Dr. Stebbins, a distinguished minister in San Francisco of the Unitarian church. Shroeder and Dr. Stebbins were both on the stand, the former testifiying that his suspicions were first aroused on returning to his home on the evening of the 11th of June, when some one hurriedly passed out of his back door. His wife was much agitated, and he pressed her to know who the visitor was; she denied and equivocated for some time, and then confessed her visitor was Dr. Lefevre, and that their relations had been criminal for some time.

A Novel Proposition.

He also testified to having accused Lefevre of the crime, and that the latter got down on his knees and begged for pardon. Stebbins testified to his daughter's confession.

The testimony of the prosecution seemed to be to discredit Mrs. Shroeder's character before her marriage. After argument Shroeder was committed for trial without

A fashionable Boston tailor has hit upon a novel plan of gratifying his customers with as many suits of clothes as they may feel inclined to wear at a very large reduction from fashionable prices. He offers to supply three suits a year for $117, four suits for $142, five suits for $162, while for $200 per annum he will agree to let them have as many suits of clothes as they may choose to wear, the old suits to be returned and the customer to have the privilege of two suits at a time. Under the three first propositions the cost of each suit would be $39, $35.50 and $32.50, respectively, the customer retaining the clothes. Under the last proposition the customer may have ten or more suits a year at a cost of $20 or less for each suit, on the simple condition of exchanging the suits that have been worn for new ones.

No Good Preaching.

No man can do a good job of work, preach a good sermon, try a law suit well, doctor a pa-tient, or write a good article when he feels miserable and dutl, with sluggish brain and ansteady nerves, and none should make the attempt in such a condition when it can be so easily and cheaply removed by a little Hop Bitters. Indigestion and Dyspepsia. BRANDY AS A MEDICINE. This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulan was never intended as a beverage, but to be

was never interacted as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims. With a purely philanthropic motive we pre-sent to the favorable notice of invalids—espe-cially those afflicted with that miserable dis-onse Dyanowin a specific remody which is ease Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which nothing more or less than Brandy.

The aged, with feeble appetite and more or ess debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly, A Sovereign Remedy or all their ills and aches. Be it, however strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is

REIGART'S OLD BRANDY, Sold by our enterprising young triend, H E SLAYMAKER. This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our experience extends, and we therefore as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandles, no matter with how many jaw-breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifies would sufflee to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case or cases. In proof of the curative powers of Reigart's Old Brandy, In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon num A hard-working farmer had been afflicted with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour cructations constantly—uo appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet to crackers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now, preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed carnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try Reigart's Old Brandy, In his case, he looked up with astonishment, but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken he was a round man with the second was taken he was a sound man, wit a stomach capable of digesting anything which he chose to cat. He still keeps it and uses a lit-tle occasionally; and since he has this medi-cine he has been of very little pecuniary bene-fit to the doctor.—A Paacrising Physician.
