OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE.

Meeting of the Borough Council and School Board—Personal Paragraphs.

A special meeting of the members all present except Mr. Kistler, to consider the question of renewing the fire insurance policies expiring the coming month. It was ordered that all the policies now held, expiring in September, with the exception of the Surgen, be renewed, and by the recommendation of the property committee, policies with the following amounts are taken out: [It appears that the resolution to drop the Surgen policy was reconsidered as it had been renewed with the rest.—REP.]

Commercial Union of London..... 2,500
Royal of Liverpool..... 2,500
London, Liverpool and Lancashire..... 2,500
Fire Association of Philadelphia..... 2,500
London and Lancashire (English)..... 2,500
Guarantee..... 2,500
Total insurance..... $17,500
It was ordered that a policy for $800 be taken from the Fire Association, of Philadelphia, to cover property valued at $1,050 not yet insured. The property committee reported having leased the store-room in the opera house on South Third Street to Joseph Yinger at the rate of $150 per annum for seven months, less the school. Council sanctioned the committee's works. The finance committee having been authorized by council to act in the case of the Lycoming (Mutual) fire insurance assessment, asked for an order covering the amount assessed for the year ending at the close of the Lebanon Mutual fire insurance company—amount $15. The order was granted and the meeting adjourned.

A special meeting of the school board was held last evening in the office of the president, J. A. Meyers. The members were all present, with the exception of Messrs. Wike and Sourber. President Meyers stated that the meeting had been called to consider the adoption of some text books and the approval of the tax collector's security. The text book committee having recommended the adoption of Barnes's United States history to take the place of Reedy's, now in use, and Hutcheson's physiology, it was decided that the board do now adopt Barnes's history and Hutcheson's physiology to be used in our schools.

The finance committee reported that Thomas B. Dunlap, tax collector elect for 1880, offered the names of Isaac Yerkes, F. S. Bletz and James Crowther as security for the collection of duplicate of 1880.

The security above presented was approved by the board and the secretary was instructed to draw up a bond, the amount of the bond to be $5,000. Adjourned.

At about three o'clock this morning the train of empty cars brought here from Philadelphia by engine No. 25 was dropped into one of the sidings at the east end. The train struck the rear end of another train on the siding with force sufficient to drive it forward. The second train ran down the track and struck another train going down the main track "sideways." Five cars were wrecked.

Shortly after one o'clock yesterday afternoon a colored boy named Cash Randall, aged about twelve years, in attempting to cross a moving freight car drawn by shifting engine No. 364, fell to the track at the street crossing on the Pennsylvania railroad near H. F. Bruner's coal yard, the ear wheel passing over the left leg below the knee and rendering amputation necessary, which operation was performed by Dr. Alex. Craig, the railroad company's physician at this place.

Personal Paragraphs.

Mr. S. B. McCorkle returned last evening from a visit of about ten days to Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia.

Miss Mattie Reese left this morning, in company with her brother-in-law, Mr. B. G. Galbraith, of Wrightsville, on a visit to Philadelphia.

Mr. Will Reese and sister, of Pittsburgh, Pa., are visiting in Columbia, the guests of Miss Annie and Mr. Jos. Fendrich.

Mr. Joseph Yinger, lato of Harrisburg, will occupy the vacant store room on Third street side of the opera house, as a sewing machine agency.

Paul McManis, baggage master at the Pennsylvania railroad depot, is confined to his residence with fever and ague. George Mason, of the freight depot, runs the baggage room.

Miss Georgie Bennett, the well known soprano of the choir of the M. B. Church, is lying very seriously ill at her residence.

A "tobacco mow" was killed in A. D. Reese's billiard hall last evening. It was about the size of a humming bird.

To-day promises to be as disagreeably inclement as yesterday, the inclemency consisting in a drizzle with no "let up" to it. However it is doing the tobacco yet without any amount of good and is welcome for what it is worth by the farmers.

Columbians who take kindly to baseball are perfectly satisfied to have the Ironsides of Lancaster and the Blue Jays of Philadelphia play the championship game of the season at five o'clock to-day at his residence, Household goods were also sold at auction on Walnut street below Third yesterday afternoon.

Captain Frank Magee, commander of the Wrightsville guards, was in town to-day.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

Investigating the Death of John E. Francis.

Yesterday afternoon Coroner Miesher convened a jury to hold an inquest on the remains of John E. Francis, whose sudden death while chloroform was being administered to him by Dr. Warren was noted in yesterday's INTELLIGENCER. Following are the names of the jurors: John Ochs, C. E. Eichmann, Edw. H. Abram, Miller, Jr., Noah Reine and Edwin Bookmyer. The jury viewed the remains, and the testimony of the father and mother was taken relative to the health of deceased for some prior to his death, but nothing was elicited that was of any value in the INTELLIGENCER yesterday. Dr. Wm. Compton, the coroner's physician, was examined as to the effect of chloroform on one suffering from heart disease. He testified in substance that a person affected seriously with heart disease was liable to die almost instantly from great excitement, fright, anger, or other strong emotion. The administration of chloroform to a person suffering from heart disease was regarded as dangerous and should only be administered with the greatest caution.

Dr. Warren who administered the chloroform to Mr. Francis, and Mr. Bell told the druggist who assisted, were called but as they did not appear, the inquest was postponed until this afternoon at half-past one o'clock.

The jury, assembled at the coroner's office at the hour above named. Dr. Warren was not present.

The coroner stated that he had called several times at Dr. Warren's office to notify him to appear before the jury, but that he had been unable to see him. He had also sent a subpoena by a constable demanding his attendance, but the officer had also failed to see him.

Thus B. Dechtold, the druggist, who had assisted in the administration of the chloroform, was sworn, and testified that Dr. Warren had taken a bottle of amoniac from his room and asked him to accompany him to Francis's to assist him. Witness went along with the doctor and found Mr. Francis in his room in good spirits, and he said he was so tired waiting for the doctor that he was just about dressing himself and going down stairs. The chloroform was then administered, a portion of it being dropped upon a sponge and the sponge placed in the patient's mouth, and the doctor's face. In a minute or two the doctor said he had enough, and the sponge was removed from his face. The patient suddenly stopped breathing just as the doctor was about commencing the surgical operation. In a minute or two more the doctor said he was dead. Witness was greatly shocked, and thinking he might not be dead ran to his drug store just across the street and got a bottle of amoniac, which was applied to his nostrils, but without effect, as he was dead.

Witness suggested Dr. Warren and he at once drove up to the coroner's and notified him of Mr. Francis's death. Dr. Warren told the coroner that the inquest ought to be held, but on reaching the house of Mr. Francis he objected to having an inquest held, and said there was no use in it, as he had given enough chloroform to administer to cause death. [He produced the bottle from which only a few thimbles-full had been taken, and said that that was all that was put upon the sponge.] Witness believes Dr. Warren was quite sober at the time the chloroform was administered. He took three drunks of liquor afterwards, one or two of them before they went for the coroner. Don't think the doctor was under the influence of liquor when he went for the coroner, but was intoxicated when he accompanied the coroner to Francis's. He was about 2 1/2 o'clock in the afternoon after Francis's death. The amoniac used was solid chloroform, unmixed with ether. There was no truth in the street reports that Dr. Warren said he administered the chloroform to extract a tooth, or for a pain in the side.

Dr. Compton, the coroner's physician, said it seemed clear to him that death resulted from heart disease; that the chloroform had suddenly stopped the action of the heart and death was almost instant. He mentioned a case that happened in York, where a young girl died instantly under the influence of chloroform while having a tooth pulled. Mr. Francis was a full-blooded man, a good liver, and no doubt took his beer occasionally. Beer is apt to induce heart disease, and it is a wonder more beer drinkers don't die used in our schools.

The finance committee reported that Thomas B. Dunlap, tax collector elect for 1880, offered the names of Isaac Yerkes, F. S. Bletz and James Crowther as security for the collection of duplicate of 1880.

The security above presented was approved by the board and the secretary was instructed to draw up a bond, the amount of the bond to be $5,000. Adjourned.

The wine is said to have the most wonderful effect in giving strength, vigor and tone to the whole system. It is extensively used by ladies nursing, or about to nurse infants. This wine is not a manufactured article—no liquor is added to it. It is no patent medicine of any kind, but is a natural product of the vine of the Porto grape. It is pure, old, unadulterated wine, nothing more or less.
