

Lancaster Intelligencer.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 8, 1880.

Resist Cross in Wax. C. S. J., a correspondent of the German town Telegraph, writing from Monroe county, Mo., gives the following detailed instructions for making beautiful wax work at small expense:

The beautiful waxen ornaments exhibited under glass shades and sold in the stores and bazaars for fabulous prices, may easily be made by any lady willing to use care and neatness in the work.

The materials required are a light wood cross, which are sold in all sizes for most grade sums, or may be made at home; one pound of white cake wax, one spoon of white covered wire, a bunch of delicate white stamens, two sizes of convolvulus leaf-moulds, and a wooden mould for shaping the flowers; also, three sizes of English ivy leaf-moulds, a little Canada balsam, and one ounce of Chinese white oil-paint, and a quantity of raisin stems, tree buds, or spruce pine twigs, with a paper of No. 4 tacks and several sheets of "pound fly" wax.

Is Strongly Endorsed! We have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative power from many persons of high character, intelligence and respectability. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this discovery, is a record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it. Dr. J. B. GUILMETTE'S FRENCH KIDNEY PAD, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price: Regular, $2; Special, $3; Extra Large, $4; Long Standing, $5; Children's, $1.50. Address, Toledo, Ohio.

Day Kidney Pad Company, TOLEDO, OHIO. CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless imitations, we have had to resort to a special precaution, and when entirely coated set the cross aside in some safe place and proceed to form the leaves and flowers, and dipping the stem of the convolvulus, cut a half-dozen pieces of wax from a circular paper pattern one inch in diameter, removing one-fourth in triangular shape, using very keen-edged scissors; then dipping the wooden mould in water and slightly warming a piece of the sheet-wax, place it upon the surface and unite the cut edges, rolling them together with the porcelain hand of a steel moulding-pin; also press the outer edge and carefully shape the flower, the tube of which made of a strip of wax, placed round a circular stem that diminishes to a point at one end, pressing the edges together and then fastening the upper wide end round the corolla, and flattening the same carefully. Next take a piece of wire three inches in length, and cover with a narrow strip of wax, folded lengthwise and twisted between the finger and thumb; fasten a pistil and five stamens round the end, and slipping it through the tube draw the stem down and press the end of the flower nearly round it; then flush with a calyx formed of five narrow sepals placed round the stem and surrounding the base of the flower-tube. Form several such flowers, also some half-buds and a few of the beautiful spirally-wound buds. Arrange the flowers, buds and heart-shaped leaves upon long strands of covered wire, dipping the leaf-moulds in water and covering the under side with wax, then placing on the stem down the centre and the upper covering of wax again, cutting the edges off neatly by pressing round the edge of the mould. The ivy leaves are made in the same manner; also, from clusters of ivy berries and tendrils for the convolvulus sprays.

Place the cross upon a wax-covered base of three steps, or faster against a dark velvet-covered recess, using tacks driven in through the back. Form full clusters of flowers and leaves round the base, then taking a long length of wire covered with ivy leaves, arrange it to twine around the body of the cross, all clustering upon one arm, falling in graceful curves below; also, fasten the convolvulus vine to clamber up and veil the body and opposite arm, arranging a cluster of ivy leaves and convolvulus sprays upon the head piece. When finished satisfactorily, hold in a warm position until the surface is slightly warmed, when sprinkle with fine diamond dust or "frosting."

If desired, various flowers may be grouped round the base of the cross, and we have made one of the most admired with colored flowers, the cross covered with colored granite-sand, and a vine of pink will roses running up the body and arms, and purple violets and white snow-drops clustered about the base. Or, in imitation of white marble, miniature callilies grouped at the base, with an ivy vine draping body and arms is very pretty. Many changes may be made, however, to suit the taste of the artist, the suggestions offered merely serving to give some idea of the course to be pursued, in order to form these popular and beautiful ornaments.

A GOOD ACCOUNT. "To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by one bottle of Her Vegetable Compound, which has done her own housework for a year, since without the loss of a day, and I want every body to know it for their benefit." —JAMES WALKER, Butler, N. Y.

How Happiness is Secured. Happiness is the absence of pain or annoyance, and wherever there is pain there is disease. A pain in the lower portion of the back indicates a disorder of some kind. If there is any color or redness in the urine, it denotes disease and requires attention at once. We have heard many of our friends speak of the remarkable power of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure and are convinced there is nothing so certain and valuable for all disorders of the urinary system, both male and female.

KIDNEY PAD.

DAY'S WORTHY PAD!

A DISCOVERY BY ACCIDENT.

which devotes a want men of eminent ability have devoted years of study and experiment to find a specific for Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System, and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, gaining the approval and confidence of medical men, and those who have used it; it has become a favorite with all classes, and wherever introduced, it has succeeded all other treatments. In short, such is its intrinsic merit and superiority, that it is now the only recognized reliable remedy.
