HABEAS CORPUS CASE.

Contest for Possession of a Child. There was great excitement in the or phans' court room and the corridors of the court house this morning, between 9 and 10 o'clock, growing out of a family difficulty, of a year's standing, ' between Frederick Wolf and his wife, and their mutual friends. The case was heard by his honor Judge Livingston, on a writ of habeas corpus, granted on application of Mrs. Wolf, for the recovery of her little son, aged about 10 years, whom she al-leged was improperly restrained by her husband.

The case was partially heard before Judge Livingston yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock and was resumed this morning. From the testimony offered it appeared that Mr. and Mrs. Wolf had lived rather unhappily together for some time, and that about a year ago, after hacking the furniture with a hatchet and otherwise behaving badly, he left the house. The reason he gave for his violent conduct was illuminated with a large transparency. that his wife had transferred her affections to another man. On leaving the house Mr. Wolf took boarding at the Exchange hotel and continued to board there until a few days ago-his wife, two children and the "other man" continuing to occupy the house he left. On Tuesday Mr. Wolf says his little boy Charlie came to the barter shop barefooted, poorly clad and crying, and told his father that his mother had driven him from the house and told him never to come back. He then bought the boy new shoes and a new suit of clothes and took him to his brother Henry's, where he was properly cared for, and Mr. Wolf thereupon gave up his room at the Exchange and took boarding at his brother Henry's, so as to be near and take care of him. In answer to a question by the court, Mr. Wolf said he was willing to go back to his home and provide for his wife and children on condition that the obnoxious man now quartered there was turned out of the premises. To a question pat to Mrs. Wolf as to whether she was willing to accept these conditions she said "never," and there was a lively time among the friends of the respective parties, Mrs. Wolf and her mother being terribly excited by the charge be pleasing to the sight. that she had ever been other than a loyal wife. The court decided to allow the child to remain in custody of the father, where he has a good home and where he prefers to be; but ordered that the mother should have the privilege of visiting him on all reasonable occasions. At the conclusion of the case there was

His sister, who has been attending to him devotedly for some time past, accompanied him to Philadelphia.

FIRE IN MARIETTA.

Klumpp's Tannery Burned

Part of the extensive steam tannery of at first thought. John C. Klumpp on Locust street, Marietta, was destroyed by fire yesterday after-noon. A large brick building used as a dying house, stable and general storage, was totally burned with most of the contents, consisting of a lot of tobacco in the upper story, belonging to Mr. Philip Hafner, a new buggy, a wagon, hay, straw, &c., belonging to Mr. Klumpp. A horse and a lot of leather in the building when the fire broke out were saved. The fire next communicated with a large frame bark house, burning off the greater portion of the roof and part of the contents. A frame stable belonging to Michael Gable, near by, was partially burned. A number of dwellings in the vicinity were on fire, but were not damaged. Through the noble efforts of the firemen the rest of the buildings and other very valuable property belonging to the tannery, as well as much other property in the immediate vicinity, were saved. The loss, estimated at $1,000 or $1,500, is partly covered by insurance. It is not known whether the fire originated from a spark from the smoke stack of the works, or from being accidentally set on fire by some children who were playing near by with matches.

LOWER END FATALITIES.

A Man Killed While Hanging Tobacco. A terrible accident occurred yesterday afternoon at the farm of Mr. Penn Moore, in Colerain township. One of the men who was assisting in hanging tobacco in the barn fell from a scaffold, had his skull crushed and died instantly. A later dispatch from Quarryville to the INTELLIGENCER says that the victim of the accident was A. T. McNeal, a man of about forty years of age with a large family. The fall was occasioned by a break in the scaffolding, and though not as high as persons have often fallen with slight injuries, he fell very hard and striking on his head the skull was fractured and death was almost instantaneous. The frightful affair has occasioned much sorrow.

Isaac Wilson, a well-known citizen, as well as one of the oldest men in the lower end, living in Little Britain township, is lying at the point of death.

The Pleasures of Hope. When the body is bowed with pain an intense longing for relief brings hope. This may brighten the suffering but it does not cure. At a time like this how welcome is such a friend as Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, bringing hope, health and happiness and the joys of a renewed life. s4-7,9&10&11w

Try Locher's Renowned Cough Syrup.

Warm Weather and its Effects. Many people, especially ladies, complain at this season of the year of a general weakness or debility. The use of Speer's Port Grape Wine prevents this. The wine is said to have a most wonderful effect in giving strength, vigor and tone to the whole system. It is excensively used by ladies nursing, or about to nurse infants. This wine is not a manufactured article-no liquor is added to it. It is no patent medicine or cordial humbug, but is a superior wine of the Oporto grape. It is pure, old, unadulterated wine, nothing more or less. Mr. Speer has been supplying hospitals with his wine for many years past. It is said to be unsurpassed for summer complaints, and for weakly persons. The price is low for so excellent a wine, and no family need be without if. This wine is endorsed by Drs. Atlee and Davis, and sold by H. E. Slaymaker. aul6-2wd&w
