KIDNEY PADS.

DAY'S KIDNEY PAD!

A DISCOVERY BY ACCIDENT, which supplies a want men of eminent ability have devoted years of study and experiment to find—a Specific for Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Primary Organs and Nervous System and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, gaining the approval and confidence of medical men and those who have used it. It has become a favorite with all classes, and wherever introduced has superseded all other treatments. In short, such is its intrinsic merit and superiority, that it is now the only recognized reliable remedy.

Is Strongly Endorsed!

We have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative powers from many persons of high character, intelligence and respectability. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this discovery, and a list of records of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it.
DAY'S KIDNEY PADS are sold by all druggists, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price: Regular, $2; Special, for obstinate cases of long standing, $3; Children's, $1.50. Address.

Day Kidney Pad Company,

Correspondence of the INTELLIGENCER.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 9, 1880.

We left old Lancaster on Monday at 11 a. m. It is not necessary to say anything to you readers about the trip from there to Pittsburgh. The magnificent scenery along the line of the Pennsylvania road, crossing the mountains, and down the western slope through Cresson and Johnstown to the Smoky City, before we reach which night overtakes us, having been so often described in your columns that we do not feel as though we could add interest to what has already been said.

After a good supper at Pittsburgh we continue our journey over the Pittsburgh & Port Wayne road towards Chicago.

Soon we are all safe in our sleeping berth, and while listening to the rumbling train are wrapped in the arms of Morpheus, to be awakened by the porter about five o'clock, when we find ourselves approaching the town of Valparaiso, in Indiana, where we are to take breakfast. All along the line of the road the land is almost a dead level which, in its primitive state, was an unbroken plain, where the "noble red man" once roamed at his own sweet will, but who has been pushed westward to make room for his more enterprising white brother, who has reduced the land to a state of cultivation. Large farms, with countless herds of cattle, and thriving towns and villages greet the eye of the traveler, as he is whirled along towards the great emporium of the West, which we reach about 10 a. m.

We got to see very little of the city of Chicago in passing through on a railroad train, but sufficient to realize the wonderful changes which have taken place since we last saw it in 1850. Ourselves and baggage were soon transferred to the depot of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, when we boarded one of Pullman's magnificent palace cars and are soon on our way to this, the rising metropolis of the great Northwest.

The railroad from Chicago to Milwaukee passes through a magnificent farming country, which for fertility is unsurpassed in the country. The Lancaster county people miss our large barns and fine farm houses, comparatively small fields and tobacco patches, our hills and rich valleys with occasional patches of heavy timber and chestnut. Instead of which, we have before us, on either side, an unbounded expanse of level country, skirted here and there with groves of small timber. We noticed how nice and clean these patches of timber are kept, no underbrush, which groves short and green. We find, upon inquiry, that these groves have been planted to serve as wind breaks, and are generally planted on the north and west sides of the dwellings.

We were rather disappointed in the corn crop in this country. The land is certainly very rich and yet the corn is no comparison to that in our country. It may be owing to the season, but I am inclined to the opinion that in a large measure owing to the attempt to grow two crops on the same ground, i. e., a crop of corn and one of weeds.

Judging from the number of cattle seen in the fields and the large amount of hay stacked in the fields and now being made, cattle-raising would appear to be the great business of this part of the state. The farm houses are all small and the out-buildings the same; I have not yet seen a Pennsylvania barn.

We reach Milwaukee in time for dinner.
This is a large city situated immediately on Lake Michigan; with its railroad connections it is rapidly growing as a grain-shipping point. It contains some very large grain elevators and manufacturing establishments, prominent among which is that of Milwaukee beer, which is becoming famous all over the country.

The country from Milwaukee until we reach the Wisconsin river, which is crossed at Kilbourn City, is of the same general character as already described. From here to the Mississippi, which we cross at La Crosse, the country is more broken and barren.

Night overtakes us before we reach the "Father of Waters," and we miss all the fine scenery along the river. We are awake and anxious for a view of the town of Hastings, 20 miles below St. Paul, which we have not seen since 1857. It has not attained the position which was then claimed for its future, but has improved very much.

We reach St. Paul at 6 a. m. where Gen.
Brislin and family and other officers of the regular army stop off on their way to Montana, where they are stationed. Attorney General Devens, of the Hayes cabinet, continued with us to this place where he speaks to-night.

cars drawn by dogs. The fall is sixty feet wide and two hundred and forty-five feet deep and may be best seen from below.

I have mentioned only some of the oldest and most attractive points of interest about Quebec. To describe or even refer to all of them would make this article too long. Let the visitor turn when he will he will find something to interest him. Let him stroll along the Terrace enjoying the magnificent views, or through the steep, narrow streets looking at the quaint stores, signs and people, and his experience must be very different from ours if he does not long trot back with pleasure to the day spent in the "Gibraltar of America." C. A. L.
